Inauguration.

The ceremony of Inauguration took place on the [illegible] December A.D. 1855, in the Representative Chamber of the Capitol.

The Governor and Governor elect together with the President of the Senate, and the Lieutenant-Governor elect, attended by the Committee to arrange with the Legislature and a fine Band of Music entered the Hall of the House of Representatives at 11 o'clock AM and occupied seats prepared for them on the speakers stand and surrounded by distinguished officers of the Army and Navy from other states.

The retiring Governor having concluded his valedictory address which contained the Constitution was administered by the Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Hon. Elisha Peck Governor elect in the presence of the members of the Legislature and a large and delighted audience of Ladies and Gentlemen. Immediately his Excellency delivered the following Inaugural Address.

Inaugural Address of Governor E. M. Pease.

Delivered in the Representative Hall of the New Capitol Dec. 21. 1853.

Fellow Citizens

and Gentlemen of the Senate

and House of Representatives.

In appearing before you to assume the duties of the office to which I have been called by the suffrages of my fellow citizens, I feel sensibly the magnitude and importance of the trust that has been committed to my charge and a sincere diffidence of my ability to acquit myself of it in a manner that will meet their just expectations.

In discharging the varied functions of the government over which I have been elected to preside, I shall rely with confidence on the cordial support and co-operation of the Legislature without which my efforts can be productive of but little benefit.

Our country is of peculiar interest; ours is the only state that has come into the union by voluntary annexation, our introduction led the way to an extension of its limits over New Mexico, Utah and California, embracing a window nearly equal to the entire area of the Union at its formation. Although some years were, for a time, entertained, of the effect that such a large and sudden acquisition might have upon the peace and perpetuity of the union, yet experience has demonstrated the fact that no danger is to be apprehended from its expansion, so long as the exercise of its powers is confined to those objects contemplated by the Constitution.

Our present attitude before the world is not less interesting; with a territory containing more square miles than many of the governments of Europe; possessing by nature nearly every element necessary to constitute a great and powerful state, with a large public domain unequalled for diversity and fertility of soil, and a climate adapted to the production of all the necessaries and most of the luxuries of life, with a vast mineral wealth and great capabilities for manufacturing purposes, we have it in our power by a proper use of all these advantages, and a judicious application of our means to lay the foundation for those public improvements and institutions which will hereafter rank Texas as the first state in the American Union.

While we have so many causes for congratulation in the contemplation of our past and present situation, it becomes us as a people to remember with reverence that Being who has hitherto watched over and assisted our progress through scenes of difficulty and trial to our present state of prosperity, and humbly solicit that He will continue to us his beneficent care and protection.

The example of my predecessors will not justify me in detaining you on this occasion to give you my views upon those measures of public policy which I think should receive your attention during the present session. I have availed myself of an early opportunity to do this, so soon that your patriotism, and enlightened judgement will give to them that consideration and reflection which their importance demands.

Governor's Message.

Gentlemen of the Senate
And of the House of Representatives:

Governor's Message to Senate & House of Representatives of the State of Iowa.

The constitution makes it the duty of the Governor to give you information, in writing, of the State of the government, and recommend to your consideration such measures as he may deem expedient. It cannot, however, be expected that I shall be able, so soon after my installation, to give you much information upon these subjects; I shall, therefore, for the present content myself with a reference to the very full and satisfactory communication of my predecessor, delivered to you at the commencement of your session, with the assurance that I shall hereafter communicate whatever information I may obtain in relation to the condition and operation of the government, that will be interesting to you, or useful in the prosecution of your labors.

In recommending measures for your consideration, I shall mainly confine myself to a few of those important and leading ones, that seem to have been designated by public opinion for the action of the present Legislature, the early adoption of which, will tend rapidly to develope the resources of the State, and to promote the happiness of its citizens.

Of these measures, one of the most important is, to make to make a suitable and permanent provision for the support of public schools. The highest and most sacred duty of a free government is, to provide the means for educating its citizens in a manner that will enable them to understand their duties and their obligations; this, too, is a measure that is enjoined upon the Legislature by the constitution.

The want of available means has heretofore furnished a ready excuse for the neglect of this duty. But this no longer exists. The State now has ample means at its command, and an opportunity is offered to establish a system of public schools that will extend its benefits to every child within its limits; if we fail to embrace it, we shall be faithless to our duties and the trust that has been reposed in us by our fellow citizens.

It is respectfully recommended, that two millions of dollars of the United States five per cent bonds, now in the treasury, shall be appropriated and set apart as a permanent fund for the support of public schools. That the income of this fund shall be annually apportioned to the several Counties of the State, according to the number of free children in each between the ages of five and sixteen years, to be ascertained in such manner as may be considered most convenient; and that the amount due to each County shall be paid over to the County treasurer semi-annually, to be disbursed under the orders of the County Courts, to such teachers as the parents or guardians of the children may choose to employ for their education.

I do not pretend to recommend this as a perfect system; but its operation will be simple and cheap; it may be commenced without delay, and it seems to be better adapted to our situation than any other system that has come under my notice. A plan very similar to this has succeeded well in some of the neighboring States, where the population is sparse, like our own. Time and experience will point out the defects of the system proposed, and enable us by future legislation to perfect and adapt it to the situation and wants of our population.

I would also recommend that the amount which has already accumulated by the appropriation of the one-tenth of the annual revenue of the State derivable from taxation, be added to the principal of this fund, and that for the future, this tenth be apportioned in the same manner as the income of the fund.

Under the present provisions of the constitution, the lands, that have been donated to the several counties for public schools, cannot be alienated in fee, nor disposed otherwise than by lease, for a term not exceeding twenty years. In a State where land is so cheap as it is here, and where so large a quantity is in market, it cannot be expected that under these provisions any benefit will be derived from these school lands during the present generation. Much of it is located in large bodies, in sections of the State where it would be improved if subject to sale. The policy of reserving from sale, and consequently from cultivation, such large bodies of land, may well be questioned, and I recommend to your consideration the propriety of an amendment of the constitution, by which these lands may be alienated under the direction of the legislature, upon the petition of a majority of the citizens of the County owning the lands.

If such an amendment were adopted, these lands might be subdivided into small and convenient tracts, and each alternate tract might be sold upon a long credit at not less than a minimum price; the purchaser to pay an interest of six per cent, on the amount of his purchase, to be annually expended in the same manner as the school money distributed by the State. By adopting this policy, most of the Counties would derive some immediate benefit from their school lands, and the alternate tracts reserved from sale would much more rapidly increase in value.

The want of a good University in the State, where a liberal education can be obtained, is a serious inconvenience. It should be our policy to furnish, within our own limits all the means for obtaining an education, that can be had in any part of the Union, so as to remove the necessity of having to send our youth abroad to be educated among those who are hostile to the policy and institutions of the State.

The present seems to be a favorable time to lay the foundation for such an institution, and I respectfully recommend that the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the United States bonds now in the treasury be appropriated and set apart as a perpetual fund, the interest of which shall be applied to the erection and support of a State University. The income of such a fund, with the amount that may hereafter be received from the lands that have been set apart by an act of the late Republic, will, at no distant period, enable us to build up a University fully adequate to all the wants of our State. I am aware that these lands were appropriated for the establishment and endowment of two Universities, but I suggest for your consideration, that it would be better to have one well endowed institution of the kind, than to apportion our funds for the erection of two, neither of which could afford the advantages which are furnished by similar institutions in other States of the Union.

Should such an appropriation be made, it will be necessary to fix land for the location of the proposed University at some central point, convenient to the entire State, as well as for the erection of the necessary buildings and for the organization and government of the institution.

The establishment and endowment of an Asylum for lunatics, and an institution for the education of the deaf and dumb are measures that should commend themselves to your consideration. Our census tables show that we have in our midst, many of both of these unfortunate classes, who have a claim upon our sympathy and bounty, and who now have to be sent away from their friends to distant parts of the Union, in order to obtain the means of alleviating and improving their condition.

Institutions of this character cannot be established in a State so new as ours, except under the care and patronage of the government, and I recommend that the sum of five hundred thousand dollars of the United States bonds be appropriated and set apart as a perpetual fund, one-half for each of these institutions, the income of which shall be applied to their erection and support. Should you concur in this recommendation, you will of course pass the necessary laws for their creation, establishment and government.

These appropriations will absorb a large portion of the United States bonds now in the Treasury, but the objects, for which it is proposed to use them, are of great practical utility, and will be productive of benefits as lasting as the institutions under which we live.

The improvement of our navigable water-courses, and the construction of railroads are measures of great interest to our citizens, and have deeply engaged public attention. Our past legislation has frequently been directed to these objects, but has been productive of little if any benefit.

The rejection, at the late election, of the river bill of the last session, cannot be fairly considered as an expression of the people against the policy of attempting to improve our navigable rivers. That bill was defective in its details, and made insufficient appropriations for those streams that are susceptible of being improved, while it contained many appropriations for objects of questionable utility. It should be borne in mind that our large rivers have, without any improvement, hitherto furnished the means of transporting most of our productions to a market, and we must continue to rely upon them to a great extent for many years, even if the construction of railroads shall proceed as rapidly as is anticipated by the most sanguine friends. It is believed that a moderate expenditure of money by the government, would greatly increase their usefulness, and add largely to the value of the taxable property of the State. If such be the case, it certainly is an object worthy of our encouragement and patronage.

The advantages to be derived to our State from the construction of railroads, are too obvious to require demonstration; the necessity for them is felt and acknowledged by all, and it is a question of great interest to our citizens to devise and adopt some policy, by which we can secure their construction at the earliest period.

The limitations imposed by the Constitution, upon the power of the Legislature, preclude the State from undertaking these improvements or becoming a part owner of the Stock of any corporation created for that purpose. The active capital in the hands of our citizens is insufficient to secure their construction, but, for the attainment of this object, we may hold out sufficient inducements for the introduction of capital from abroad. It cannot be disguised that the population and business of the State are not such, at this time, as to promise the return of an immediate profit on the amount that may be invested in such enterprises. Indeed, it may well be doubted whether a railroad in any section of the State would, for the next five years, pay an interest of five per cent, on the amount invested, in addition to the cost of repairs and other expenses necessary to keep the road in operation. If, therefore, we would invite the employment of capital from abroad, in railroads in this State, we must hold out such inducements of ultimate profit as will compensate the holders of it, for the small interest they will receive during the first years of its investment. Fortunately, the large extent of our public domain will enable us to do this, without imposing any onerous burden on our citizens.

I had intended on this occasion to present you my opinions in relation to the best mode of securing the passage across our State of the proposed railroad to the Pacific Ocean; but this is now rendered unnecessary by the bill which you have already passed, to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Rail Road. While the principal provisions of this law are unobjectionable, I think it might have been improved in some of its details, particularly in that provision which authorizes the company to receive patents for the lands selected previous to the completion of the entire road.

It is to be hoped that this law will accomplish for the State all that is anticipated by its framers.

The duties and responsibilities imposed upon the Governor under the provisions of this law will be cheerfully undertaken, and I shall endeavor to execute them in a manner calculated to effect the objects intended by the Legislature. In adopting any general system for aiding other companies in the construction of railroads, we find ourselves embarrassed by the numerous charters that have heretofore been granted to individuals, without any specific designation of the routes they were to pursue, who still hold and rely on them, although not a dollar of capital stock has ever been paid. It is much to be regretted that instead of granting charters indiscriminately to all who applied, without any assurance that the applicants were possessed of the necessary means to comply with their provisions, the State did not first locate and survey such routes as the wants of commerce and the business of the country seemed to require, and then grant charters for those routes to companies who should organize after a subscription of stock, with an amount actually paid at the time of subscribing, sufficient to show an intention of prosecuting the work in good faith. Had this course been pursued, our statute books would not have been encumbered with railroad charters, many of them commencing nearly at the same point, and conflicting with each other in the routes they propose to pursue, nearly all of which have expired, or are about to expire without having accomplished anything beneficial to the public.

In regard to such charters as have been heretofore granted, I respectfully recommend that no extension of time shall be granted to any company, unless satisfactory evidence is presented, that it has actually commenced the construction of its road, and that a sufficient amount of stock has been paid to give a reasonable certainty that the road will be completed. I would also suggest that in all such cases, the route and termination of the road shall be designated, when this has not been done in the original charter, and if any further donations of land are made to such companies, they should receive the patents only on the final completion of their roads.

In extending aid to future railroad enterprises, we ought to avoid the evils that have attended our past legislation on the subject.

I would suggest that all charters hereafter granted to railroad companies, should specifically designate the route to be pursued as well as the commencement and termination of the road. That they should appoint commissioners to receive subscriptions for stock, a portion of which should be paid at the time of subscribing and whenever a reasonable amount of stock has been subscribed on these terms, the stock holders should be permitted to hold an election and organize the company. That the charter should also limit the time within which the companies shall commence their roads, and prescribe the number of miles to be constructed from year to year, until their final completion. The State should grant bounties of land sufficient to induce capitalists to become stockholders in companies thus organized, the land to be selected from time to time, as the road progresses, but no title to be issued until the road shall be completed according to the terms of the charter. These companies should be required to alienate the lands thus acquired within a limited time after the completion of their roads. Should this course be adopted, the State would secure the construction of valuable works of internal improvements, before she parted with her lands, instead of being liable to have the works abandoned after those portions have been constructed which promise an immediate profit.

I would also suggest that the alternate sections upon the line of the Mississippi and Pacific road be granted to other roads connecting this with our Gulf ports, with the Vicksburg road, and the New Orleans and Opelousas road, at such points as will best accommodate the different sections of the State.— Such a disposition of these sections is but just, since the portions of the State through which these branch roads are to be built, will receive no immediate benefit from the Pacific road unless they are thus connected with it.

In addition to the aid proposed to be extended to railroads in the manner heretofore indicated, I think it would be good policy to authorize the School fund, the University fund, and any other funds that may be set apart by the State, for charitable and benevolent uses, to be loaned out, from time to time, to railroad companies, in this State, as they may progress with the construction of their roads. I entertain no doubt in relation to the power of the legislature to make this disposition of these funds. The period is not very remote, when the United States bonds will be redeemable, and necessity will then force us, if we would derive an income from their proceeds, to make some investment of them. If they can be securely loaned out, so as to be used in the prosecution of works of improvement calculated to develope the resources of the State, and contribute to the wealth and convenience of our citizens, it is our duty to make this disposition of them.

Should these views meet with your approbation, I recommend that a Board of Commissioners be established to consist of the Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State, who shall be authorized, with the concurrence of the Governor, to loan these funds at six per cent. interest per annum, payable semiannually, for a period not exceeding twenty years, to companies chartered by this State, for the construction of railroads and other works of internal improvement. The amount loaned to any company, in no case, to exceed the one-third of the actual cost of the works that have been constructed, and to be well secured by a lien on the property of the company, subject to be enforced without a suit, by a sale after sixty days public notice.

The condition of the Indian tribes within the limits of our State calls for some action on the part of the Legislature. Our situation in relation to this class of population is different from that of any of the frontier States of the Union. In these the General Government has the sole and exclusive control of the public domain over which the Indians formerly roamed, and under the power given by the Constitution, to Congress, to regulate commerce with the Indian tribes, that department has assigned to them certain limits which they are to occupy, and regulates all intercourse between them and the whites, and also between the different tribes. Under this policy, Indian depredations have ceased for many years. The General Government has the same power to regulate intercourse with the tribes within our limits, but it cannot be efficiently exercised, because, having no right in the public domain, it cannot set apart any particular district for their occupation, and without this their movements cannot be controlled. I respectfully suggest that a portion of our vacant domain, remote from the settled parts of the State, shall be appropriated for the temporary occupation of those remnants of tribes that properly belong to this State; that all locations within the limits thus be prohibited, and that a qualified jurisdiction for Indian purposes be ceded to the General Government for a term of years, provided she will engage to remove them within those limits and keep them there subject to her laws regulating intercourse with the Indian tribes.

The business before the Supreme Court is increasing so rapidly, that it will soon be impossible, with the present number of Judges, to dispose of the docket during each term; indeed, the number of cases now taken to that Court is so great, that many important ones are continued over from term to term for want of sufficient time to give them that thorough investigation which the vast interests involved require at the hands of the Judges. Much of their time is consumed in preparing the written opinions which they are required to give in each case. By increasing the number of the Judges, this labor will be divided, and more time given to the examination and decision of causes. I therefore recommend an amendment of the Constitution, so as to give the Legislature the power to increase the number of the Judges to five. Should you concur in this recommendation, I suggest that you, at the same time, propose an amendment giving to the Governor power to fill all vacancies that may occur in the Supreme and District Courts, and the Offices of Attorney-General, District-Attorney, Comptroller, Treasurer and Commissioner of the General Land Office, by appointment, to continue in force until the vacancy can be filled by the people at the next regular election for State or County Officers. Under the present provisions of the Constitution, should any of these officers die or resign, the office must continue vacant until an election can be held, which will take several months. Such an amendment would obviate the necessity that now exists for frequent elections at different periods in the year, and subserve the public interest by having these offices temporarily filled, immediately on the happening of a vacancy.

In connection with this subject, I feel it my duty to call your attention to the inadequate salaries now paid to the Judges of both the Supreme and District Courts. The duties of these offices are very laborious, and they should be filled only by men of stern integrity, and of superior legal attainments. It would seem needless to argue that, in order to secure men of qualifications adequate to the important and laborious duties which they have to perform, a just compensation should be paid for their services. It must be obvious to all, that the present incumbents of these offices have never received salaries commensurate with their labors and merits. I trust that this subject will not fail to receive your early attention and efficient action.

Your attention is invited to the law regulating appeals to the Supreme Court in Criminal cases, under the provisions of which, in all cases, not capital,

The prisoner, after conviction, by taking an appeal, is permitted to be released on bail. For several offences persons may be confined to hard labor in the Penitentiary for fifteen years; for others they may be confined in like manner for life; still, by this law, they, by taking an appeal, are entitled to bail after they have been convicted by a jury and thus in all cases, except Treason, and murder in the first degree, convicts have it in their power to purchase exemption from the penalties of our criminal laws. It is hoped that this evil will be remedied without delay.

It is believed that an examination of our criminal laws, will show, that there are some offences, for which free persons may be subjected to the barbarous punishment of whipping. These provisions are inconsistent with the general spirit of our criminal laws, and ought not longer to be retained.

Our laws, both civil and criminal, in my judgment, require a careful revision. We have adopted, it is true, the best portions of two different systems, but this was not done at the same time, and it was usually effected by crude and hasty legislation; as a necessary consequence, these different parts have never been brought to combine into one harmonious system. Our rules of pleading and of practice in the Courts are meagre and exceedingly defective. Our Statutes concerning crimes and punishments were often passed without reflection, many of their provisions conflict with each other, and these, more than any other portions of our laws, require to be carefully revised and amended. These are defects which hasty legislation cannot cure.

I would recommend that you make a suitable provision for the appointment of a commission of three gentlemen learned in the law, whose duty it shall be to prepare a code of civil and one of criminal procedure; and also a code of general laws or rules of decision, and that all these be reported for the action of the next Legislature.

Should this be done with ability and care, our system of procedure might be better adapted to the attainment of the ends of justice than any other which has been devised, and the whole of the rules and principles of the general laws, which are now diffused in an almost endless number of text books and reports, could then be contained in a single volume. This would be accessible to all, and should be adapted, as near as possible, to every comprehension.

For the reasons mentioned above, it is evidbut that time is a stronger necessity for a revision and modification of our laws, than those of any other State in the Union. Besides, we should receive aid from the lights furnished by the successful experiments of several of our sister States. I feel entire confidence in recommending this measure to your attention as one calculated to be productive of vast advantage to the State.

Our Territory is so extensive and so sparsely settled, that but little is yet known of its agricultural and mineral capacities. This must continue to be the case, if we wait for the slow process of settlement to develope them. It is believed that an accurate and scientific geological survey of the State, will disclose sources of wealth and prosperity that would otherwise remain unknown for years; besides giving an accurate knowledge of our mineral wealth and its localities, it will doubtless show the capacity of our soil for the production of many profitable articles for export, the cultivation of which is now entirely neglected. By diffusing this information abroad, we shall make known, the great inducements that our State offers to emigrants, and insure a large increase of population. I recommend this measure to your serious consideration.

I think it important that provision should be made for running and marking the boundary between Texas and the Territories of the United States, from the point where it leaves Red River to where it intersects the Rio Grande. This duty might be imposed upon those who are selected to make the geological survey, without incurring much additional expense. The execution of any law that may be passed on this subject, would of course, be dependent upon a law being passed by the congress of the United States, or the appointment of commissioners on her part, to join in the work. It is believed that our Senators and representatives in Congress would have no difficulty in procuring the passage of such a law, if the initiatory step be taken on our part.

The Penitentiary as at present conducted, is a heavy expense to the State. It is believed that if the buildings were completed and enclosed with a wall, according to the original plan, and suitable work shops erected, the labor of the convicts might be let out to the highest bidder, for a term of years, for an amount more than sufficient to re-imburse the expense of their maintenance. Under such an arrangement, the contractors should be required to employ the convicts, either in manufacturing or at such trades as would be least calculated to interfere with the mechanical industry of the State. It is hoped that this subject will receive that attention from you which its importance demands.

The laws granting pre-emption rights to actual settlers upon the public domain are somewhat obscure and conflicting in their provisions. I think it advisable that they be revised and so changed as to grant to each settler only two hundred acres of land. This is the quantity protected by the Constitution, as a homestead to each head of a family, and is sufficient for farming purposes.

In connection with this subject, I call your attention to the law in relation to the right of aliens to hold lands. We are daily receiving large accessions to our population, by immigration from foreign countries. The first wish of these immigrants, on their arrival here, is to secure a home and an interest in the soil; but they are now denied this privilege until they have resided here five years, the period required for their naturalization. In many of the States of the Union, laws have been passed authorizing aliens to hold lands immediately on their arrival, provided they make a declaration under oath of their intention to become citizens. Some of them have gone so far as to incorporate a provision in their Constitution, giving to aliens all the rights of citizens of the State at a period much earlier than they can be obtained under the naturalization laws of the United States. This policy has secured to these States a large portion of the foreign immigration for the last few years, and has added much to their productions and wealth. If the same liberal policy were here adopted, similar advantages could not fail to result to our State.

The State has heretofore made ample provision for a just and equitable settlement and payment of her revolutionary debt, and a portion of our creditors have acceded to the settlement of their claims, and received payment therefor; others refuse to acknowledge the right of the State to ascertain and fix the amount of her indebtedness to them, and insist upon receiving the face value of their claims, although they were issued by the government at rates varying from twenty to seventy cents on the dollar. In consequence of this refusal, five millions of the five per cent. stock that were to have been issued under the provisions of the act of Congress approved the 9th. day of September, 1850, providing to the State of Texas the establishment of her northern and western boundaries, &c., are still unavailable to the State. A reasonable time has already been allowed for these creditors to accept of the terms proposed, and receive payment of the amount due them. I therefore respectfully suggest that a law shall be passed designating a time, within which, all holders of recognized claims against the State of Texas, shall present them to the Treasurer, accompanied with releases of all claim against the United States for or on account thereof, in the form that has been prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and approved by the President of the United States, or that such claims shall be forever barred and the holders no longer recognized as creditors.

The late period of your session at which I have an opportunity to make this communication, reminds me of the inappropriate time that the Governor enters upon the discharge of his duties. While the Legislature and the Governor are elected at the same time, about seven weeks intervene, between the commencement of the labors of these different departments of government. It is believed that if they entered upon their duties simultaneously, the sessions of the Legislature would be less protracted, and a large amount of expenditure saved to the State. I therefore recommend that the constitution be so altered, as to require the Governor to be installed at the commencement of the regular sessions of the Legislature.

Many other subjects of legislation, both of general and local interest, which have not been noticed, will doubtless suggest themselves to you.

The situation of Texas at this time demands practical legislation.

I trust that all sectional feelings and prejudices will be discarded from your councils, and that every measure will be examined and acted upon solely with reference to its merits, and the effect it may have upon the interest of the State at large.

Our present condition is a most prosperous one, immigration and wealth are pouring into the State more rapidly than at any former period. A spirit of enterprise and improvement is now abroad among ~~the~~ our people, which if judiciously fostered and encouraged, will at no distant period enable Texas to occupy that position among her Sister States to which she is entitled from her extent of territory and great natural resources.

It is my sincere desire that you may be able hereafter to reflect that your labors have contributed much to elevate the moral, social, and political condition of the State.

Executive Office,

31st Decr. 1853.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and of the House of Representatives:

I transmit for your consideration, a memorial that has been presented to this Department by Leslie Combs, a citizen of the State of Kentucky from which it appears that he is the holder of certain liabilities of the late Republic of Texas, amounting, at their ostensible value, to the sum of sixty-nine thousand and two hundred dollars besides interest, which have never been filed with the Auditor and Comptroller under the provisions of "an act to provide for ascertaining the debt of the late Republic of Texas," approved 9th March 1848, and "an act to extend the provisions of said act, approved 8th February 1850."

I am unwilling to depart from the rule that has been adopted by previous legislation for ascertaining and paying the debt of the late Republic, and cannot therefore recommend the payment of the claims of Mr Combs in the manner that he desires, but I am impressed with the necessity for allowing a further time within which ~~which~~ Mr Combs and all other persons holding claims against the Republic of Texas, who neglected to file them with the Auditor and Comptroller under the provisions of the acts of the 9th March 1848, and 8th February 1850, may yet file them and have them placed on the same footing as those which have been filed.

It will be recollected that when the time expired for filing claims with the Auditor and Comptroller under the provisions of the act referred to, then were claims which had not been filed amounting to about the sum of one million, nine hundred and eighty two thousand, one hundred and seventy five dollars at their ostensible value, equal to about the sum of one million, one hundred and seventy five thousand, four hundred and eleven dollars at the value fixed upon other similar claims by the Auditor and Comptroller.

The last Legislature at its extra session in February 1853, passed an act allowing a further time of eighteen months from the 7th day of February 1853, to present to the Auditor and Comptroller all claims for personal services, civil or military, and for supplies, but made no provision for any other description of claims. This act made provision for about the sum of four hundred and eighty six thousand, five hundred and forty dollars of the claims which had not been filed, at their ostensible value, equal to about four hundred and fifty thousand dollars at their real value, leaving unprovided for, about the sum of one million, five hundred and ninety five thousand, six hundred and thirty five dollars at their ostensible value, equal to about seven hundred and twenty five thousand, four hundred and eleven dollars at their real value.

No good reason can be adduced, why this preference should have been given to a portion of our creditors over the others; all should have been allowed the same privilege - our own records prove the existence of these claims, and justice requires that the holders of them should have the same time for their presentation and authenticatement as has been granted to claims for personal services and supplies.

I submit this matter to your consideration, with full confidence that you will do justice to every class of our creditors.

Austin 2nd Jany 1854.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and of the House of Representatives.

I herewith transmit for your consideration a letter, from the Secretary of State of the United States, with a copy of the Consular convention concluded between the United States and France on the 23rd of February 1853, which was received at this Office some time since.

It appears that, by the Seventh article of this Convention, the President engages to recommend the passage of such laws as may be necessary to authorize aliens to hold real estate, in these States where this right is not already enjoyed by the existing laws.

I deem it unnecessary to do more, at this time, than to call your attention to this communication, as the subject has already been adverted to by me, in a message heretofore submitted to the Legislature.

Whereas representations have been made to this Department by the Commissioners of Pilots for the Port of Brazos Santiago, and sundry other persons, that William Leitch one of the Branch Pilots at said Port of Brazos Santiago, is incompetent and unworthy of said trust, and that the public interest will be subserved by his summary removal from office.

Now therefore Be it known that, I, E M Pease, Governor of the State of Texas, by virtue of the authority conferred on me by the provisions of, "an act for the regulation of Pilots," approved the 17th day of April 1846, have and by these presents do hereby remove the said William Leitch from the Office of Branch Pilot for the Port of Brazos Santiago now held by him.

In Testimony whereof I have hereunto Set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at the City of Austin, this the fifth day of January A.D. 1854, and of the Independence of the United States the 78th, and of Texas the 18th. year.

Message of Governor Pease vetoing Galveston Houston and Henderson Railroad Company

I feel constrained to withhold my approval from, "an act supplementary to an act to establish the Galveston, Houston and Henderson Railroad Company" which originated in your Honorable body, and I therefore return it to you, in accordance with the provisions of the 17th Section of the 5th Article of the Constitution.

This act grants eight Sections of land, of six hundred and forty acres each, for every mile of railroad that the company may construct, without naming any period of time within which said road shall be constructed. Under the provisions of this and the original act, if the company shall commence this road within twelve months from the first day of March 1853, and complete forty miles within three years from its commencement, they may construct the remaining portion of the main trunk, its extension from Henderson, and its branches, at any time during the existence of the charter, which is ninety years from its passage, so that said company will be entitled to receive eight sections of land for each mile of said main trunk, beyond the first forty miles, and for each mile of its extension beyond Henderson, and each mile of any of its branches that may be constructed at any time during the next ninety years.

Now while I am willing that the State shall grant large bounties of land for railroads that may be constructed within the next five or eight years, I am not willing that these bounties shall be continued for twenty, thirty or forty years, because our past history fully justifies the belief that long before that period, the population and business of the State will induce capitalists to construct all such railroads as may be needed, without any bounties of land from the State.

This act also authorizes and empowers said company to extend said railroad from the town of Henderson in Rusk County by such course and in such direction as the company may deem proper, in order to connect with the Pacific or any other railway. No time is named within which this extension shall be commenced, prosecuted or completed.

If an extension of this road is desired by the citizens of that section of the State, so as to connect with the Pacific Road, the Vicksburg Road, or the New Orleans and Opelousas Road, or even with all of said roads, I have no objection to the grantage of land to effect these objects, if they designate the routes to be pursued, the points where such connections are to be formed, and a reasonable time within which such extensions shall be commenced and completed, but I am unwilling to grant to any railroad company the indefinite power of extension which is given by this act.

Under the provisions of this act, the company may by survey, reconnoisance or otherwise, fix or designate their tracks from Galveston to Henderson; the tracks for an extension from Henderson to any section of the State where it will connect with another railroad, and also the tracks for an indefinite number of branches, and in all cases where said tracks pass through any public lands, all such lands for a width of six miles along said tracks are reserved from location, during the pleasure of said company, provided they shall commence their main trunk within twelve months from the 1st day of March 1853, and complete forty miles of it within three years from its commencement, for it will be observed that these reserved lands are only to be divided into sections as fast as the road is continued.

In all cases where such reservations are made, I think they should be required to be surveyed within a reasonable period, and they ought not to be continued for the benefit of any company a longer time than will be necessary to select its lands, after the completion of its road, which should be done within six or eight years.

I have briefly stated the main objections which I have to this act, others might be named to the original act, the correction of which may be demanded by the Legislature as the condition upon which bounties of land shall be granted to the company, such for instance, as depriving the company of its power to construct an indefinite number of branches, and the insertion of a provision requiring a certain number of miles of road to be constructed from year to year until its final completion.

This is the first act, in relation to railroads, that has been presented to me for my approval, and I have felt it to be my duty to make an effort to correct what I deem to be some of the most material errors of our previous legislation on the subject.

Gentlemen of the Senate
And of the House of Representatives.

I transmit herewith the report of James B. Shaw Comptroller and James H Raymond Treasurer, as commissioners for the erection of a fire-proof building for a Treasury Department and Comptroller's Office of the State of Texas, together with a copy of the contract made by them with Michael De Chaumes for the construction of said building, and other papers relating to the subject, all of which are named particularly in said report.

It will be seen from an examination of this report that the contractor Mr De Chaumes, made some alterations in the building which add much to its appearance, and give it greater strength and durability as well as more room, these alterations were made with the permission of the Commissioners but without any liability on their part to remunerate the contractor.

Accompanying said report you will also find a letter from Mr Dr. Chaumes setting forth the extra labor and expense incurred by him in making said alterations.

The Commissioners request that a joint Committee of the two Houses of the Legislature may be appointed to examine said report and accompanying papers and their acts as Commissioners, with power also to examine the building which is now nearly completed and report whether Mr Dr Chaumes shall be compensated for the extra labor and expenses incurred by him in making the alterations in said building.

The Commissioners speak in the highest terms of the manner in which Mr Dr Chaumes has executed his contract, and their well known integrity and business habits are a sure guaranty that this opinion is not given without examination.

I trust therefore that the Legislature will grant them a joint Committee with the powers they request.

Gentlemen.

On the 5th of February 1852, a Joint Resolution was passed by the Legislature directing "That application in behalf of this State be immediately made to the Congress of the United States, through our Senators and Representatives in Congress, requesting that Honorable body to make an appropriation of twenty six thousand and seventy five dollars, the same being due to this State as a balance of the claim liquidated and established between the two governments prior to annexation, in the case of the recapture of goods by citizens of the United States, introduced into Texas in contravention of her revenue laws, and seized by her collector of customs at Bryarly's landing on Red River in the Spring of eighteen hundred and forty three.

The same Resolution also directed that copies of the Governors message and the documents referred to therein, applicable to said claim, and the report of the committee of the Legislature to which said message and documents were referred, should be furnished to our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

I understand that copies of the Resolution and of the accompanying documents were not furnished to our Senators and Representatives in Congress by my predecessor because the report of the attorney General, which was one of said documents, and contained a detailed history of the origin and liquidation of said claim, was mislaid and could not be found.

This report has recently been found, and I now forward you a copy of said Resolution and the accompanying documents, and respectfully request that you will cause them to be laid before the Congress, and endeavor to procure the appropriation desired by the Legislature.

A schedule of said documents will be found contained in the certificate of the Secretary of State accompanying them.

Dear Sir.

I take the liberty of sending you enclosed a copy of an extract from a communication addressed by the Miniuthin Governor of New Mexico, to the Commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington City containing a narrative of the capture, by the Comanche Indians, within the limits of this State, of Mrs Jane Wilson of Hunt County, and two boys, the aged twelve years and the other seven, and also of the sufferings and escape of Mrs W.

This extract was received at this Office last Evening in a letter from Governor Meriwether dated 13th of Decr 1855. It appears that Mrs Wilson, after almost incredible sufferings, arrived at Santa Fe on the 3rd Decr 1855, when she was hospitably received and kindly entertained, but the two boys were still with the Indians when the Governor wrote, although he had taken measures to effect their recovery an account of which will be found in his communication.

Humanity requires that every effort should be made to liberate these boys from their cruel captivity and restore them to their friends.

This outrage having occurred within the limits of your agency, I feel it to be my duty to call your attention to the facts, and to request that you will promptly cause such measures to be adopted as will insure their early release and restoration to their home.

Governor Meriwether suggests that his intention to send the traders back to the Indians with a view to the rescue of the two boys, as well as all other portions of his communication to the Commissioner, except the narrative of Mrs Wilson, be considered as confidential, as a different course might defeat his object, and endanger the lives of the traders, but I have thought it best that you should be put in possession of all the facts, trusting to your discretion not to make public those parts of his communication that he suggests should be regarded as confidential.

A letter was received at this office, last evening from the Governor of New Mexico, dated 15th Decr 1853, and including a copy of an extract from a communication addressed by him to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Washington City, relative to the captivity and rescue of Mrs Jane Wilson of Hunt County in this State.

This extract contains the narrative of Mrs Wilson, of the particulars of the capture of herself and two boys, one twelve years of age, and the other seven, by the Comanche Indians, and of her escape.

It appears that Mrs Wilson is now at Santa Fe, where she has been kindly treated, and that Governor Meriwether proposes to send her to her friends in Texas as soon as her condition will enable her to travel in the stage.

Governor Meriwether informs me that he has taken measures to rescue the two boys who are still with the Indians

I have forwarded a copy of this extract to Major R. S. Neighbors and requested him to endeavor to obtain these two boys from the Indians as early as possible, and have also addressed a letter to the Commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington City, requesting him to also take measures to effect their immediate release.

Whereas, "an act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad," was passed by the Legislature of the State of Texas, and approved the 21st of December, 1853, which act appropriates to any company who may construct a railroad from some point on the eastern line of the state not north of the town of Fulton in Arkansas, to a suitable point on the Rio Grande at or near the town of El Paso, crossing the rivers Trinity, Brazos and Colorado as near the 32d° of north latitude as practicable, and put the same in complete operation, 20 sections of land of 640 acres to the section, for each mile of said road, and also a right of way, not exceeding 300 feet in width, along the entire length of said road through the public lands of the State, and also all the material of every description, on the public lands in the vicinity of said road, while they remain the property of the State, for the uses and purposes of said road, in its construction and in supplying it with the necessary furniture and machinery, but no timber on the alternate sections reserved to the State to be used after the completion of the road, except upon the three hundred feet granted as the right of way. All of the unappropriated public lands of the State, between the 31st and 32nd degrees of north latitude and east of the 105 degree of longitude west from Greenwich, and between the parallels of 30 degrees and 30 minutes and 32 degrees of north latitude, and west of said 105d degree of longitude, are reserved from location until the track of said road is selected, after which all of said unappropriated land within 30 miles on each side of said road is reserved, and so soon as said track is located, the company contracting for said road is to cause said reservation to be surveyed into sections of 640 acres each, said sections to be in a square, and those adjoining the road to front one mile thereon and no more, unless prevented by surveys made previous to the passage of said act; and when said company shall have completed 50 miles of said road, they may designate 20 sections of land for each mile so completed, to be taken in alternate sections, so that no two sections shall join each other except at one corner, which shall be patented to said company or their assigns, free of cost, and in like manner for each section until the road is completed; and in case there is not sufficient vacant land in said reservation to give said company the land to which they may be entitled, they shall receive the residue in certificates of 640 acres each, which they may locate on any other vacant land of the State, at the cost of the company, so that no two sections shall join, except at one corner; said lands to be alienated by the company, one-fourth in six, one-fourth in eight, one-fourth in ten and one-fourth in twelve years after their selection. The said act requires the said road to be of the first class, and constructed in the most substantial manner, with all the necessary appurtenances, locomotives, passenger and freight cars adapted to the business to be done, the rails to be of the best quality, weighing not less than 64 pounds to the yard; 50 miles to be finished and put in complete operation within eighteen months after the contract for building the road is entered into, and at least 100 miles to be finished and put in complete operation in like manner every year thereafter until the whole is completed. When the company commence receiving toll on any section of 50 miles, they are to have the same, at all times, in good repair, and sufficient suitable carriages and vehicles for the transportation of persons and property.

The company who contract to build said road, their associates and successors, and those who may become stockholders in said company, are declared by said act to be a corporation for the term of 99 years, by the style of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad company, with the rights, powers and privileges necessary for the purposes of said act, and not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States and this State. And for the purpose of constructing a continuous railway from the Mississippi river to the Pacific Ocean, said company are authorized to form connections and make agreements with other companies, and when such companies are so united by agreements recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, they shall be regarded as one corporation, with all the rights and privileges necessary to the accomplishment of the object not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the U. S. or any State through which said road may be constructed. The Capital Stock of said corporation to be twenty millions of dollars, which may be increased to any sum not exceeding the entire amount expended on said road, to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, which shall be deemed personal property, and may be subscribed for, issued and transferred as may be prescribed by the by-laws of said company. The said company are required within 60 days after entering into a contract for the construction of said road, to deposit with the Treasurer of this State, at least 300.000 in gold or silver, or evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good paper securities, as a guarantee that 50 miles shall be constructed and in complete order for business within eighteen months from the date of the contract, to be forfeited in case of failure, and to be returned to the company in case said 50 miles is completed according to the terms of the contract. In case the company fail to make this deposit, the contract to be null and void. If the company fail to finish the road as specified in the contract, then the contract with the powers, privileges and immunities, together with such parts of the road as may have been constructed, with all its machinery and appurtenances, to be forfeited to the State, reserving however, to the Company the right to prosecute and defend all suits and rights or liabilities which may have accrued or been incurred prior to said forfeiture. Said act authorizes the road to be constructed through the lands of individuals or corporations, and provides the mode of making compensation for the same, not exceeding 300 feet in width.

And whereas, the said act makes it the duty of the Governor to invite proposals from companies or individuals, for the construction of said road, to be filed in the Office of the Secretary of State at such time as he may direct, not later than the first of August 1854, and also makes it his duty to select from the proposals, that one which, in his judgement, under all the circumstances of the case, shall offer the strongest assurances and guarantees that the road will be promptly and satisfactorily built according to the provisions of said act, all of which will appear by reference to said act, copies of which may be seen at the offices where this advertisement is published.

Now, therefore, in obedience to the provisions of said act, notice is hereby given, that proposals for the construction of said road in accordance with the provisions of said act, and the laws of this State, will be received at the office of the Secretary of State until the first day of May 1854. Said proposals must specify the time at which the work shall commence, the number of miles to be finished and placed in running order within the first eighteen months after the contract is entered into, and each year thereafter, and at what time the entire road shall be completed, together with the amount proposed to be deposited in the Treasury of this State according to the terms of said act, to be forfeited in case 20 miles of the road shall not be completed within eighteen months from the time of entering into the contract. Said proposals must be sealed and directed to the Secretary of State, Austin, Texas, and indorsed, "Proposals for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad." — A selection from said proposals will be made as early as practicable after the first of May 1854, and the company or individuals whose proposals may be selected, will be required to enter into a contract in accordance with the provisions of said act, and the laws of this State previous to the first of June 1854.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Austin, this 18th day of January A.D. 1854.

Gentlemen of the Senate:
and of the House of Representatives.

I have examined "An act relinquishing to the counties the State tax for the years 1854 and 1855," and find that there are provisions in it to which I cannot give my assent.

The first section provides, "That nine-tenths of the State tax hereafter to be collected, under existing laws, on the assessment to be made for the years 1854 and 1855, are hereby relinquished to the respective counties where said tax is assessed to be disbursed for the benefit of said counties &c." If this relinquishment had been made to the counties in which the property is situated, upon which the taxes are assessed, I should have no objection to the bill, and would have approved it.

You are aware that under our assessment law, each individual has the privilege of assessing all of his property in the state, in the county where he resides, although portions of it may be situated in every other county of the State, and this is the usual mode in which the property of residents in the State is assessed, consequently the effect of this law will be, that the taxes collected upon property situated in one county, will, in many instances, be expended in and for the benefit of another county.

I understand the object of this law is, to enable the counties to pay their debts, erect Court Houses and jails and make such other improvements as will tend to the convenience of the people. all of these objects are proper charges upon the persons and property of the citizens of the county in which they are to be effected and I do not consider it just to tax property situated in one county to be expended for these objects in another county.

This provision is particularly unjust to the citizens of the frontier counties of the state, where most of the land is owned by non-residents of the county. Court Houses and Jails have to be erected and other improvements made, all of which tend to enhance the value of all the real estate in the county, that of non-residents as well as residents, while the expense of making these improvements falls upon the property of residents of the county, except so far as the county tax contributes towards making them, which in most of the counties is insufficient to pay the ordinary county expenses.

I am aware that the 8th section of this law, provides that the taxes of non-residents which are paid to the comptroller shall be paid over to those counties where the property is situated, upon which such taxes are paid, but it will be found, on examination, that only a very small portion of the taxes of non-residents are paid to the comptroller and that much the largest portion are paid to the assessors and collectors of the counties than those in which the property is situated.

These considerations have induced me to withhold my approval from the bill in question and I therefore return it to you in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution.

Executive Office

Austin 23rd January 1852.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and of the House of Representatives.

In the first communication that I made to the legislature, I suggested the importance of running and marking the boundary between Texas and the territories of the United States, since that time I have received reliable information that a collision has taken place between about one hundred citizens of New Mexico on one side, and the Sheriff of El Paso County with a posse composed of citizens of said County on the other side, in which the former fired upon the Sheriff and his posse, who returned their fire with a twelve pound howitzer.

It seems that this affair grew out of an attempt on the part of certain citizens of New Mexico to take salt from a salt lake to the north of El Passo and claimed to be within the limits of this State, which is in the possession of one of our citizens under a grant from the State.

I have not learned whether any lives were lost, but we may reasonably expect other, and perhaps, fatal collisions to grow out of this affair.

The remote and exposed situation of the citizens of El Passo county will render it impossible for them to receive any aid from their fellow-citizens in other sections of the State, in time to prevent an invasion of their rights should further difficulties of the kind occur. It is important therefore that we should immediately adopt measures to remove all cause for such difficulties between them and their neighbors of New Mexico, and I know of no means by which this can be done so effectually as by causing the boundary between them to be run and marked as early as practicable.

I am assured by one of our Senators in Congress, that he anticipates no difficulty in obtaining the passage of a law by the Congress of the United States to join in the work. I trust therefore that you will concur with me in the pressing necessity that exists for immediate action on this subject, and that it will receive your attention before the close of the session

I transmit herewith a communication from the Hon. J. F. Crosby, Representative from El Passo County, giving a more detailed account of the affair herein referred to.

Gentlemen of the Senate
And of the House of Representatives.

I beg leave to call your attention to the fact that the law of the 19th December 1849, providing the mode by which the United States may purchase and acquire jurisdiction over such lands as they may wish to occupy as sites for light houses, forts, garrisons &c. fails to make any provision by which the United States may purchase and acquire jurisdiction over such lands, in cases where they are owned by the State of Texas. My attention has been called to this matter by a communication from the Secretary of the Light House board of the United States which is herewith transmitted for your information.

If when the sites are selected for the light houses that have been authorized to be erected at Aransas Pass and at the mouth of the Sabine River, it should be found that said sites are on public land of the State, there is no mode provided by our laws by which the United States can acquire the property and jurisdiction of the same, consequently the appropriation which has been made for these light houses will revert to the United States Treasury. I trust therefore that you will perceive the necessity for remedying this defect in said law at the present session.

and of the House of Representatives.

I return herewith to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, "an act to incorporate Tyler University."

My objections to this act are based upon the 9th section thereof which is in these words.

"Section 9th. All the lands, public buildings, and other property belonging to said University are hereby declared free from any kind of State, County or Corporation Tax."

Without discussing the policy of exempting all the property of such institutions from taxation, I am clearly of the opinion that whatever amount of this property is exempted from taxation, should be exempted by a general law, that should apply to all institutions in the State of a similar character.

The 27th Section of the 7th article of our Constitution declares that, "taxation shall be equal and uniform throughout the State. All property in this State shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as directed by law, except such property as two-thirds of both Houses of the Legislature may think proper to exempt from taxation." I think a reasonable construction of this Section requires that when any property is exempted from taxation it should be done by a general law applying to all property similarly situated in the State. Such seems to have been the opinion of the early Legislatures, for the second Legislature passed two general laws on this subject, the first exempted from taxation, all buildings with their furniture and library designed and used solely for purposes of education or public worship, together with the land owned by said institutions of learning or churches, upon which the same may be situated, not exceeding ten acres, the second shall a similar exemption in favor of all charitable and literary associations.

Upon referring to our statutes it will be found that previous to annexation fourteen colleges and literary institutions were incorporated, seven of them with a provision similar to the one objected to in this act, five of them with a provision exempting their property from taxation for ten years, and two without any exemption. The section of our State Constitution before referred to, abrogated all these exemptions and subjected all the property of such institutions to taxation, and thus the law remained until the passage of the general law on the subject by the Second Legislature. Since that time and previous to the present session, thirty four colleges and literary institutions have been incorporated. Thirty of them have no provision exempting any of their property from taxation, one exempts the same property that is exempted by the general laws, and three have a provision similar to the one contained in this act. Three institutions of the kind have been incorporated at the present session, neither of which contain any such provision. It appears that while we have in the State, fifty one chartered colleges and literary institutions, forty eight of them are subject to our general laws, which exempt from taxation only their buildings, furniture, library and the land on which their buildings are situated, not exceeding ten acres, and only three of them viz; The Galveston College, The Gonzales College and The Texanna Academy are incorporated with provisions similar to the one objected to in this act, these three, I have no doubt, were passed inadvertently and without this provision being noticed.

Were there no other objection to this provision but the fact that it grants a privilege which is denied to forty eight other institutions of a similar character in the State, it would be sufficient to induce me to withhold my approval from it. But I think it will probably be held by the Courts that this provision conflicts with that section of our Constitution, which directs that no law shall embrace but one object and that shall be expressed in its title. The title of this law is, "an act to incorporate Tyler University" This provision exempting its property from taxation, seeks to attain an object which is not expressed in the title and which is entirely foreign to the object that is expressed in the title. No one will contend for a moment that this provision is necessary for the incorporation of the University or for its establishment or government.

I, E. M. Pease, Governor of the State of Texas, one of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority in me vested by the constitution and laws, hereby certify, make known and declare, to all to whom

Gent.

When the petition for the remission of the judgement against James Nations and Edward Bellinger was first presented to me, I was very much disposed to grant the prayer as it was signed by so large a number of respectable citizens of Gonzales County, and I believe I so expressed myself to one of you, but since that time so large a number of similar petitions from other counties have been presented that I was induced to give the subject a more thorough examination than I was able to give it when first presented, and I have come to the conclusion that the power of remitting such judgements ought not to be exercised, except when the parties had a defence which they were unable to present to the Court or when the enforcement of the judgement would subject the family of the defendants to distrip and want, or when the prisoner for whose appearance the parties have become security has subsequently been brought to trial. These causes I think would justify the Executive in interfering and probably there may be others which do not now occur to me. In this case, aside from the number and respectability of the petitioners, there seems to be no circumstances presented that could not be urged in favor of any petition that has thus far been brought to my notice. If I am to consult only my own feelings and sympathies, I should find it difficult to refuse any application of this kind, but my position requires me to act in these matters without reference to them.

To all and singular the Sheriffs, Constables and other Civil Officers of said State - Greeting -

Whereas it has been represented and made known to me by P.C. Hébert the Governor of the State of Louisiana, that Samuel White late of said State of Louisiana, stands charged by indictment found in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of said State in and for the Parish of Vaucheriaeus in said State, with the crime of robbery and that the said Samuel White has fled from Justice in said State and taken refuge in the State of Texas.

And whereas the said Governor of the State of Louisiana, in pursuance of the Constitution and laws of the United States, has demanded of me that I cause the said Samuel White to be arrested and delivered to S.H. Howard the duly authorized agent appointed by said Governor of the State of Louisiana to receive the said White into custody and convey him to the State of Louisiana - and whereas the said representation and demand are accompanied by a copy of indictment duly certified as authentic by said Governor of the State of Louisiana.

And whereas I, E. M. Pease, Governor of the State of Texas, did heretofore, to wit, on the twenty second day of February 1854, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of this State and of the United States, issue a warrant commanding the Sheriffs, Constables and other Civil Officers of this State, to arrest, and to aid and assist in arresting, the said Samuel White and to deliver him, when arrested, to the said S.H. Howard agent of said State of Louisiana, in order that he may be taken back to said State of Louisiana to be dealt with for said crime of robbery according to law.

And whereas it has been made known to me since the said warrant was issued, that there is an indictment for murder pending against said S.H. Howard in the County of Bell in this State, and that the said White has been recognized to appear as a witness against said Howard in the prosecution of said indictment, which state of facts makes said Howard an improper agent to receive said

White under the requisition of said Governor of Louisiana and convey him to said State.

Now therefore, I do hereby revoke and countermand the said warrant issued by me on the twenty second day of February 1854, and upon this my warrant in lieu thereof, commanding all sheriffs, constables and other civil officers of this State, to arrest, and to aid and assist in arresting, the said Samuel White and keeping him securely until notice of said arrest can be given to the said Governor of the State of Louisiana, and a suitable agent shall be sent by said Governor to receive said White and take him back to Louisiana, in order that he may be there dealt with for said crime of Robbery according to law.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at the City of Austin, this the twenty fifth day of February A.D. 1854, and in the year of the American Independence of the United States the Seventy Eighth, and of Texas the Eighteenth.

Executive Office,
Austin Texas February 25th. 1854.

To His Excellency
P. O. Hébert Gov. of Louisiana

Sir,

A requisition was presented to this office a few days since from your Excellency for the arrest of Samuel White, on a charge for the crime of Robbery committed in the Parish of Natchitoches, and for his delivery to Mr S. H. Howard to be carried back to your State. a warrant was immediately issued for the arrest of said White, and he is now in custody and will be detained until a suitable agent can be sent by your Excellency to receive him. The relation in which White and Howard, the agent heretofore appointed by you, stand toward each other, I think, makes Howard an improper agent to be entrusted with the charge of carrying him to your State. Howard has been indicted for murder in the County of Bell in this State, and White is under recognizance to appear as a witness against Howard in the prosecution of this indictment. You will readily admit that, under these circumstances, Howard ought not to be entrusted with his custody. I think therefore that you will, as early as convenient, appoint some other person as the agent to receive White from the officer who now has him in charge here, and take him back to your State.

Very respectfully,
Your obt Servt
Ed Rice

Since writing the above it has been suggested to me that in case White applies for a Habeas Corpus it may be decided by our Courts that your requisition is not in proper form. Our Supreme Court has heretofore released one prisoner arrested under a warrant issued by my predecessor, on the ground that the warrant was not explicit enough, and on the trial of that cause, an intimation is thrown out that the requisition was also insufficient.

I think therefore it will perhaps be better for you to issue a new requisition with the new appointment of the agent.

In making out the new requisition, it will be well to append a certificate to the copy of the indictment certifying that it is authentic, and then let the requisition state it is issued on the copy of the indictment which is certified to be authentic. A compliance with these suggestions will leave no excuse to any Judicial Officer of this State who may be disposed to be captious about such matters.

Respectfully
Your obt Servt.

Gent.

Representations have been made to me by Captains of vessels and Merchants in Galveston, showing that there is much dissatisfaction with the manner in which the business of piloting is now conducted at your port, and that there is frequently unnecessary delay in bringing in vessels. These representations have induced me to appoint another Branch Pilot for your port with the hope that a competition in the business will induce all engaged in it to be more prompt in attending to the public interest.

I have given an appointment and commission to Captain Luke A Sabret which he takes down with him. I have advised him that previous to entering on his duties, it will be necessary for him to give a bond in accordance with the law regulating Pilots, which he must submit to the approval of your Board. When such a bond is presented by him as meets with your approval you will please forward it to this office. Very Respectfully your ob't Servt

Whereas at the November Term 1852. of the District Court of Bastrop County in said State, a judgement was rendered in favor of the State of Texas, against C. K. Perry and John R. And the Clerk of the District Court of Bastrop County is hereby directed to make such entries of said Court, under the direction of the Judge thereof as will give full effect to this remission, whenever the said Perry and Slocomb, or either of them, shall have paid to said clerk, for the use of the persons entitled thereto, all the costs laxed upon said judgment and the affirmance thereof, and the legal commissions of the District attorney and attorney General.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at the City of Austin, this the second day of March A.D. 1854, and of the Independence of Texas the Nineteenth Year.

Dear Sir

Your letter of the 28th Feb. asking my opinion when your official term will expire, was received by the last mail.

I regret that the Attorney General is now absent from the seat of Government so that I cannot, without some delay, obtain his opinion on the question.

From the best examination I have been able to give the subject, I am clearly of opinion that each District attorney elected by the people is entitled to hold the office for two years, so that if your election took place on the 1st of August 1853, no election will be ordered for your district until the regular election in 1855, unlis a vacancy sooner occurs.

Yours with respect.

Sir,

I have recently been informed that the archives of the jurisdiction of Goliad in this State, are now in Matamoros, subject to the control of your Excellency.

These archives were removed from Goliad, for safe keeping, when that place was abandoned during the war between Texas and Mexico. They contain the evidence of title to most of the lands granted by the State, in that jurisdiction, previous to our revolution, and are of great interest to many of the old citizens of Texas. Many suits are now pending in our Courts in relation to the titles of some of these lands, in which evidence may be found among these archives that will materially assist our Courts in forming correct judgments upon the rights of the parties.

My object in addressing you this communication, is to ascertain whether my information on this subject is correct, and to learn whether you are willing to deliver these archives to the authorities of this State, so that they can be properly arranged and deposited in those offices designated by law for the keeping of such records. Will your Excellency be kind enough to favor me with an early answer to this, and inform me in what manner these archives can be obtained, if they are subject to your control.

Sir,

I have the honor to enclose you a copy of, "An act relating to the Indians of Texas," that was passed by the Legislature of this State at its late Session.

This law was drawn and passed in accordance with the recommendations and suggestions of the United States Indian Agents for this State, and with the expectation that the General Government would avail itself of its provisions at an early day.

If this law meets the approbation of the Executive of the United States, I would respectfully suggest that he should cause to be selected, as early as possible, the twelve leagues of land, which by its provisions are authorized to be taken by the United States for Indian purposes, otherwise it may be impossible to obtain desirable locations, unless by purchase, as our public domain is being rapidly located by individuals.

Sir,

I beg leave to call your attention to the situation of the Rio Grande frontier. It seems from the proceedings of a public meeting of the citizens of Webb County held on the 11 th. inst. of which I send you a copy, that within the last two months, seven of this citizens have been murdered, and a large amount of property has been destroyed and stolen by the Indians, who have in every instance escaped with impunity. If this state of things is truly distressing and if allowed to continue must result in breaking up all the settlements on that river except in the Towns.

I have also learned from other sources entitled to credit, that thefts and murders have recently been committed by the Indians, at places below Webb County in the vicinity of the Rio Grande.

The large force of Infantry now stationed on that frontier does not appear to be any check upon the Indians. I therefore respectfully request, if you have under your command, any mounted men that can be spared from other service, that you will order a portion of them to Laredo and such other points on the Rio Grande as will enable them to give protection to the lives and property of the citizens of that section of the State.

Hon Jefferson Davis
Secretary of War
Sir,

I beg leave to call your attention to the robberies and murders that have lately been committed by the Indians on the frontier of this State. The enclosed copy of the proceedings of a public meeting held at the Town of Laredo on the Rio Grande on the 11th. Inst. shows that within the last two months seven citizens of that County have been murdered by the Indians and that a large amount of property has been stolen and destroyed by them. These depredations have been committed in the immediate vicinity of Fort McIntosh which I learn is garrisoned by several companies of U.S. Infantry, and yet the perpetrators of them have, in every instance, escaped with impunity. This fact is not mentioned for the purpose of casting any reflection upon the character of the troops stationed at that point, but to show that Infantry are entirely inadequate to restrain the Indians and give protection to the frontier of this State. The Indians themselves know this and presume upon it, and they will never be kept in check, except by a force that has the means of promptly pursuing and chastizing them in every instance.

In addition to the depredations detailed by this meeting, a large number of horses have been recently stolen from the vicinity of Eagle Pass above Laredo. Several persons have also been killed and property stolen, on the road leading from the Nueces to Brownsville, and in the neighborhood of Fort Merrill. Indeed almost every mail from the Rio Grande brings news of some recent outrages committed by the Indians in that section of the State, and unless some means can be resorted to by the Government to put an end to them, the entire settlement on that River, except in the Towns will have to be abandoned.

Our citizens feel that they have a right to be protected in their lives and property, and that while experience daily proves that the discipline of troops now used by the Government on that frontier are insufficient to cope with the Indians, they ought not longer to be relied on, but that a force of mounted men should be substituted.

I respectfully urge this matter upon your consideration, and trust that some effectual measures may be taken to give protection to our citizens.

Dear Sir,

I take the liberty of sending you a copy of the proceedings of a public meeting of the Citizens of Webb County, held at Laredo on the 11th Inst. on the subject of the robberies and murders recently committed in that vicinity by the Indians, from which you will perceive that they ascribe these outrages to the Lipans, of which tribe I believe you are the agent. The evidence on which their opinion is based seems to be satisfactory, and irrestably leads to the conclusion, that some members of that tribe are connected with these depredations.

I respectfully request that you will endeavor to ascertain the truth of these charges, and also that you will take measures to restrain the excursions of this tribe from their present location.

Yours with respect.

Dear Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt, by mail, on the 23rd Inst. of the proceedings of a public meeting of the citizens of Webb County, of which you was the chairman, held at the Town of Laredo on the 11th Inst. on the subject of the robberies and murders lately committed in that county by the Indians.

I deeply sympathize with your citizens in their distress, and am disposed to use all the means at my command for their relief. I immediately addressed a letter to the Secretary of War at Washington City, enclosing a copy of the proceedings of your citizens and calling his attention to the Indian depredations therein detailed. I also urgently requested to have a force of mounted men stationed at such points on the Rio Grande as will enable them to give adequate protection to the lives and property of our citizens and allow them to prosecute their ordinary avocations in security.

I also wrote to Genl Smith requesting him, if there are any mounted men under his command, that can be spared from other service, to have a portion of them stationed in the vicinity of your town.

The inquiry the meeting asks to be made, respecting the guilt or innocence of the Lipans, properly belongs to the Judicial officers of the State, and this inquiry can only be instituted by them, upon information, under oath, charging the commission of the offence and the person supposed to have committed it.

I have no doubt that the Lipan Indians, as well as any other residents of the State, may be tried and punished by our Courts for robbery and murder, and if upon proper proceedings before our Judicial tribunals, warrants should be issued for the arrest of any of them, and the civil power should prove insufficient for that purpose, I would most cheerfully call out the militia to aid in their arrest.

I have also written to Maj. R. S. Neighbors, who I believe is the agent for the Lipans, advising him that these depredations have been charged upon that tribe and requesting him to endeavor to ascertain the truth of the charges, and to take measures to have their excursions from their present location restrained for the future.

Dear Sir,

Upon the recommendation of many gentlemen in your section of the State, in whose judgement I confide, I have appointed you one of the commissioners under, "An act to provide for the investigation of land titles in certain Counties therein mentioned," approved 11th February 1854. Your associate will be Mr Charles S. Taylor of Nacogdoches County who has notified me of his acceptance.

The Salary of the office is fifteen hundred dollars a year, to commence on the 15th of April 1854 and end on the 1st of November 1855, payable quarterly.

You will oblige me by writing immediately on the receipt of this whether you accept the appointment. Should you do so, it would be well for you to address Mr Taylor at once, informing him what time you can meet him at this place, to start for the Counties where your duties are to be performed as it may prevent some loss of time to him, in case he has not already left home for this place. I presume however that he will be here about the 15th of April, and it is therefore desirable that you should come here as early as practicable after your acceptance.

The commissioners are required, severally, to execute a bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, with two good sureties, payable to the State of Texas, to be approved by either of the District Judges," conditioned to render a correct return of, and to pay into the Treasury all the monies received by them in accordance with the fifteenth section of said act," which is entitled, "An act to provide for the investigation of land titles in certain counties therein mentioned," approved 11th Feb 1852.

This bond it will be well for you to execute and have approved by the Judge of your District, before you leave home, as he will be better acquainted with the persons you may wish to offer as sureties than any other Judge in the State. The condition prescribed by the law, for the bond, is correctly stated above, to enable you to draw the bond properly.

Dear Sir,

A petition has been presented to me for the pardon of Casimero Aco, who was convicted of murder in the 2nd degree, for which he is now in confinement in the Penitentiary, and has been for about four years. It has been represented to me that the instigators and principal actors in the commission of the murder, for which Aco was convicted, escaped from custody and fled to Mexico, and that Aco was led into the affair through their influence, and acted in the transaction through fear and restraint. These representations come from a source that leaves me no reason to doubt their truth, and I feel disposed to grant him a pardon, provided his conduct has been good since his confinement.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt, on yesterday, of your letter of the 26th inst. with the accompanying papers.

The subject of your communication is one of great interest, involving as it does, important constitutional question; I regret that the absence of the Attorney General from the Capitol, prevents me from availing myself of his counsel on this occasion, but I have given the matter such examination and reflection as the shortness of the time, and the few authorities at my Commo and have permitted.

While I am disposed at all times to give full effect to the constitution and laws of the United States within the limits of this State, I think that, in the case of Dr Steiner, the jurisdiction of the State Courts was rightfully exercised in the first instance, although there was some irregularity in the manner of taking him from the custody of the military officer who arrested him, after the State Court had taken cognizance of the offence with which he was charged.

Unless the offence of Dr Steiner be one over which the authorities of the United States have exclusive jurisdiction, it is certainly cognizable in the Courts of this State, for the utmost that can be claimed for the authorities of the United States, in the absence of exclusive jurisdiction, is concurrent jurisdiction with the Courts of this State, and it is a well established rule of law, that when two Courts have concurrent jurisdiction over the same matter, the Court that first takes jurisdiction retains it. In this case I understand there is no doubt about the fact, that the first prosecution against Dr Steiner, was commenced by the State Court, and Lieut Anderson in his report states that, "the Deputy Sheriff had, or claimed to have custody of his person," at the time of his arrest by the Military.

The claim of exclusive jurisdiction in the United States, I do not think warranted by the facts of the case. Had the site on which Fort Graham is situated, been purchased by the United States government with the consent of the Legislature of this State, and jurisdiction over it had been ceded to the United States, I freely admit that Congress would have been vested with exclusive legislation, and the Courts of this State could have exercised no lawful authority over the offence of Dr Steiner. But I cannot assent to the proposition, that, because Fort Graham was occupied by United States troops, when the offence was committed, the authorities of the United States have exclusive jurisdiction over it; nor is such a position sustained by the decisions of the United States Courts.

The clause of the Constitution to which you refer, vests in Congress exclusive legislation over places occupied as Forts &c. only in cases where they have been purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which they are situated; and the act of the Legislature of this State to which you refer, after authorizing the United States to make such purchases, only allows jurisdiction to be ceded by the Governor upon proper evidence that the purchase has been made.

This office is in possession of no evidence, that the United States has ever purchased the site on which Fort Graham is erected, and must therefore presume that offences committed there are subject to indictment and trial in our Courts in the same manner as those committed in any other section of the State.

Being fully satisfied that the opinions here expressed are supported by authority, and it appearing from the report of Lieut Anderson, that Dr Steiner is now in the custody of the Sheriff of the County in which the offence was committed, I do not think that I have any power to interfere to prevent his trial in the mode prescribed by the laws of this State.

The manner in which Dr Steiner was taken from the custody of Lieut Anderson was objectionable. It would have been ~~better~~ more regular, and much more respectful, if he had appeared before the Court Martial and pleaded to its jurisdiction, or applied to a Judge and obtained a writ of Habeas Corpus. Either course would have resulted in his return to the Courts of this State for trial, and prevented any collision between the civil and military authorities, an event at all times, much to be deplored.

Dear Sir,

Your letter of the 20th March was handed to me by Major Scurry some time since. Being much engaged at the time, it was laid aside to be answered when at leisure, and has been overlooked until now.

This State has hitherto received no arms from the General government but the common musket in use in the United States army, which, I presume, is not the discription of arms that would be desired by a volunteer military company in this State, as most of our citizens prefer the use of the rifle — But we have no law that would authorize me to loan even these to the militia of the State; and I would be unwilling to take the responsibility of making this use of them without a law authorizing me to do so, except in case of an insurrection or actual invasion. I called the attention of several members of the Legislature to this subject at the last session, and urged the propriety of passing a law authorizing the Governor to take the value of the arms due this State, in such discription of arms as would be suited to the habits of our citizens, instead of taking the common musket, and also to place all state arms in the hands of volunteer companies until they should be needed by the state, but nothing was done in the matter.

Dear Sir,

Your letter of the 24th - April was received this morning, and in reply I have to state, that perhaps I ought to have written you before this that Col Young had declined the appointment, and that R H Lane of Harrison County has been appointed to fill the vacancy. The necessity for this did not occur to me, although I took such steps as were in my power to save you any unnecessary trouble.

In my letter to Mr Lane advising him of his appointment, I requested him, in case he accepted, to inform you, at once, what time he would meet you at this place, to start for the Counties where the duties of the office are to be performed, as it might prevent some loss of time to you, in case you had not already left home for this place. There was much delay in my getting Col Youngs letter declining the office, and Mr Lane was not appointed until the 13th - of April. I have every reason to believe that he will accept, and presume before you get this, you will have received a letter from him, in accordance with my suggestion to him.

I believe it is the general wish of the citizens on the Rio Grande, that you should visit first, the counties from Eagle Pass down, and defer your visit to Presidio and El Paso Counties until the last.

Yours with respect,
E M Pease

Austin Texas, 5th - May. 1854.

Sir,

You are correct in supposing that when I wrote you on the 28th - Ultimo, I was under the impression, that the Courts of this State had taken cognizance of the offence of Dr Steiner, previous to the time when the Military authorities of the United States arrested him. It was that impression which induced me to confine my argument mainly to the ground on which you asked my interference to restore Doctor Steiner to your custody, which was, that the Constitution of the United States vested in Congress exclusive legislation, in all cases whatever, over Forts, Arsenals, Dock yards, and other needful military works, though within the limits of State boundaries. You will recollect, I stated, that unless the offence of Doctor Steiner was one, over which, the Authorities of the United States had exclusive jurisdiction, it was certainly cognizable in the State Courts.

I did not deem it necessary to examine the question, whether the military authorities of the United States had concurrent jurisdiction with the Courts of this State, because no such principle was then asserted by you. It occurred to me however, that such a claim might be advanced and not having time to examine it as I desired, I referred to the well known rule of law, that in such cases, the Court which first took jurisdiction retained it, and added, that I understood there was no doubt about the fact, that the first prosecution against Doctor Steiner was commenced by the State Court.

In your letter of the first instant, you no longer claim exclusive jurisdiction for the authorities of the United States over the offence of Doctor Steiner, but you ask me to interpose my authority, to restore him to your custody, on the ground, that the Military authorities of the United States first took cognizance of the offence, and have a right to continue to exercise it, until all the requirements of the military law are fully complied with. This has imposed upon me the necessity of examining into the power of the military authorities of the United States, over offences against the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States, committed by officers and Soldiers of the army, within the limits of a State, in places, over which, exclusive legislation has not been ceded to Congress, in cases where the facts and circumstances that constitute the offence against these rules and articles, also constitute a high crime against the laws of the State.. That a Court Martial has jurisdiction to try and punish such offences I entertain no doubt, and it is equally clear that the State Courts have jurisdiction also, but I have found some difficulty in arriving at a conclusion entirely satisfactory to myself, whether their jurisdiction is concurrent, or whether that of the State Court is paramount. The best examination I have been able to give the subject has however, led me to the conclusion, that in all such cases, if the State asserts its jurisdiction, the offence against the laws of the State must be first tried. I lay down the position, that the jurisdiction of a State is co-extensive with its territory, and its legislative power. a necessary consequence of this position is, that every person within its jurisdiction, who commits an offence against its laws, is liable to be arrested, tried and punished by its Courts. The fact that under the Constitution and laws of the United States, certain offences committed within the territorial limits of a State, are exclusively cognizable by the civil and Military Courts of the Union, does not constitute an exception to this rule, for in all such cases, it will be found, that they are not offences against the State laws, or that the State has parted with its legislative power over the offences, or the places where they are committed, by a cession to the United States. I know of no provision of the Constitution or laws of the United States, or this State, that exempts officers and soldiers of the army, on service, within the acknowledged jurisdiction of this State, from the penalties attending a violation of its laws. The offence of which Sturor is accused, being a high crime against the laws of this State, and he being in the custody of the civil Magistrates, who have complete jurisdiction of the matter, paramount to all other authority, I know of no power that has the right to take him from them, until he is discharged by due course of law.

The conclusion to which I have arrived seems to be sustained by the 33rd article of the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States, which provides that, "When any commissioned officer or Soldier, shall be accused of a Capital Crime, or of having used violence, or committed any offence against the person or property of any citizen of any of the United States, such as is punishable by the known laws of the land, the commanding officer, and officer of every regiment, Troop or Company to which the person, or persons, so accused shall belong, are hereby required, upon application duly made by, or in behalf of the party or parties injured, to use their utmost endeavors to deliver over such accused person, or persons, to the civil Magistrate, and likewise to be aiding and assisting to the officers of justice in apprehending and securing the person or persons so accused, in order to bring him or them to trial." This article, it seems to me, would require you to deliver Dr Steiner to the Courts of this State for Trial, upon application duly made by them, even if he was now in your custody. I am aware you state in your letter of the 26th of April that, "The Crimes and offences contemplated by this law, are such as officers and Soldiers commit outside the Military works. But with due deference, I do not think the language of the article justifies such a construction, nor am I aware that such a construction has been judicially given to it. The section itself contains no such limitation, but applies to offences of the character named, whenever committed by officers or soldiers of the army. I have heard it contended, that this article applies only, to officers and soldiers accused of the offences named, when committed against the persons or property, of citizens who do not belong to the army. This seems to be a forced construction, not authorized by the plain import of the words used, and I cannot find that any court has ever given such a construction to it.

I think I am also sustained in my conclusions by the letter from the adjutant General to Brt. Maj. Gen. P. F. Smith, of the 30th September 1853, a copy of which accompanied your letter to me, of the 26th ultimo. The adjutant Genl. says to Gen. Smith," Dr Steiner therefore, will not be delivered over to the civil authorities unless they demand him." And in another part of the same letter, after directing what course should be pursued, if the Doctor should be taken before a civil tribunal on a writ of Habeas Corpus, he says, "Should the civil authorities not remand or deliver him to you, you will arrest him, as soon as he is released from their custody." These instructions, it will be recollected, were given after Lt. Anderson had reported the facts in relation to the death of Maj. Arnold, and that he had caused Dr Steiner to be arrested — Again, the letter to you, of the 5th April 1864, from Asst. Adjt. Genl. Bull, a copy of which accompanies your letter of the 26th ult. refers to the above named letter from the Adjut. Genl to Genl. Smith, as containing the views and intentions of the Secretary of war in relation to this subject, and states, that the General, (Smith,) desires the same shall be fully carried into effect.

These letters, I think, clearly recognize the right of the Courts of this State to demand Dr Steiner for trial, even if he was in your custody — The authorities of this State have never shown any want of respect for the Constitution and laws of the United States, and it should be supposed, that there is in the present case, any intention to interfere with or obstruct the administration of the military laws of the Union. This controversy in regard to jurisdiction over the offence of Dr Steiner has not been the result of any legislation of this State — a law has long since passed authorizing the United States to purchase and obtain exclusive jurisdiction over the site occupied by Port Graham, and all other places in the State necessary to be occupied for Ports, Magazines, Arsenals, Dock yards &c — If that government had availed itself of the provisions of said law, this controversy could not have arisen.

I have the honor to enclose to you the petition of Antonio Manchaca, supported by his affidavit, shewing that Carlos Rios i Martinez, a citizen of this State has been forcibly pressed into the military service of Mexico, where he is now retained against his will, at Monclova in the State of Coahuila. Austin 8th May 1854.

Gentlemen,

I have received your Petition asking that a company of Rangers shall be raised and sent to the frontier for your protection against the depredations of the Indians — I am well aware of the exposed situation of your settlements and deeply sympathize with you in the sufferings you have to encounter. I have heretofore brought this matter to the notice of the Secretary of war and earnestly entreated him to have such measures adopted as shall effect the removal of the Indians of this State, entirely beyond the reach of the settlements and place them under the control of a military force sufficient to prevent them from ever returning, and I am not without hope that such measures will be adopted at early day.

I do not much the propriety of calling out Rangers, for short periods, after the Indians have retired from committing their depredations, for they cannot be mustered in time to pursue and punish the offenders, and their terms of service expire before the Indians have acquired sufficient confidence to return to the scene of their former operations. If however I had the authority to call into service a few companies of Rangers, permanently, or for several years, I feel very certain, that they would give perfect security to our frontier settlements. But no such authority is vested in the Executive, and the Legislature has failed to place at his disposal any means to pay or subsist a force for the protection of the frontier even for a short period.

The depredations lately committed east of the Colorado, it is now pretty well ascertained were done by the Tonkawa Tribe, and those near San Antonio by Lipans, as you will see from the letter of Maj R. S. Neighbors, United States Indian agent, of which I send you a copy with this.

These Tribes, under the belief that they were entirely friendly, have been permitted, for some time past, to reside below the line of Posts, and have been fed by the bounty of the United States government in the neighborhood of Fort Inge. If on that this true character and conduct is known, it is presumed, that they will no longer be permitted to reside in the neighborhood of our settlements, where they can so conveniently depredate upon our citizens, but it is not doubted that they will be placed under restraint where their movements can be continually watched by the United States Troops.

This course I am inclined to believe will be pursued, from the fact, that prompt means were taken for the arrest of a portion of those Tribes, upon my representations to the United States agents, that they were the perpetrators of the late outrages.

Should these Savages again be turned loose below the line of Posts, and no measures be taken by the United States authorities to give some adequate protection to the frontier, I may then deem it necessary to call out a sufficient number of our brave citizens to perform this duty, and rely upon the justice of the Legislature hereafter to compensate them.

In the mean time, should a pressing necessity arise for defence against any sudden attack of the Indians, I advise the citizens promptly to turn out and punish them without waiting for a requisition for the execution. Should such a crisis become necessary, the officers should make a full report to the Adjutant General of their operations, with the number of volunteer and the expenses thereof, and I shall cheerfully recommend that the Legislature make a sufficient appropriation to compensate them for their time and expenses.

I will receive from the letter of Mr. Neighbors that the Comanches are in confinement at Fort Inge awaiting to be turned over to the civil authorities for trial and punishment, and that they will be turned over on my requisition. Should it be thought that evidence can be procured to induce their conviction for any of their late depredations in some of your Counties, and warrants be issued for the proper officers for their arrest, I shall have no hesitation in issuing a requisition for their delivery.

Very respectfully,
Your ob't Serv't.

Maj R S Neighbors.

Dear Sir.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt on the 6th Inst of your letter of the 2nd giving an account of your proceedings in relation to the depredations lately committed by the Toukawa Indians.

I have communicated to the citizens of the counties in which these depredations were committed, the fact, that the perpetrators are now in close custody at Fort Inge, ready to be delivered to the civil authorities upon my requisition, and advised them that I am prepared to give the requisition whenever proper measures are taken and warrants are issued for their arrest by the officers of the County in which the offences were committed. Unless this is done, I do not think that I have any authority to issue a requisition.

I have not much expectation, if they are delivered to the civil authorities, that any of them will be convicted, for it will be nearly impossible to identify them as the Indians who committed the offences, and I presume that the admissions they have made, will be held by the Courts, to have been made under duress, and excluded in the trial. Neither have I much expectation that any proceedings will be taken against them in any of those Counties; but I would suggest that even if no demand is made for them, they shall be retained by the Military, for some time, and that the remainder of the Tribe, as well as the Lipans still remaining be detained in the neighborhood of Fort Inge, and not allowed to go into the vicinity of the Settlements.

The State of Texas.

Whereas at the Spring Term 1858 of the District Court in and for the County of Nueces in said State, one Cassimero Aco was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to hard labor in the State Penitentiary for the term of fifteen years where he has been confined since his conviction.

And whereas it has been represented to me that said Aco, was prevailed upon to engage in the commission of said crime by the evil counsel and influence of another who was really the principal in the affair, and who escaped punishment.

And whereas it has been made known to me that said Aco since his confinement, has been very industrious and submissive to the rules and regulations of the Penitentiary.

Now therefore - Be it known that F. E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the power vested in me by the Constitution and laws of this State, do hereby pardon the said Aco for said crime, and direct the Keeper of the State Penitentiary and all other officers having the custody of said Aco under said sentence, to release him from all future confinement.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at the City of Austin, this, the 17th day of June 1858, and of the Independence of Texas the 19th - Year.

Executive Office
Austin Texas, 24th June 1854.

John C. McLeod, J. W. Carolan,
Russell Howard & W. L. Paschal Esqrs
Gent.

On my return to this place a few days since, I received your letter of the 24th ult. with a copy of the proceedings of a public meeting of the citizens of Bexar County, held on the 23rd, "to take into consideration the continued depredations of the Indians, and to devise means of protection from further outrages."

I regret that my absence from this place prevented an interchange of opinions with you on these subjects, as it would have enabled me to learn more fully than can be ascertained from the proceedings of the meeting, or from your letter, what steps it is desired shall be taken by the Executive.

I have given much consideration to these subjects, and have heretofore urged upon the Officers of the General Government, the necessity that exists for a more efficient force to be placed upon the frontiers of this State to give security to the lives and property of our citizens, but thus far my representations have been overlooked or disregarded.

It must be admitted by all that the General Government has hitherto failed to give that protection to this State against Indian depredations to which it is entitled. I have entertained hopes that the present administration would abandon the policy that has heretofore proved so expensive and inefficient, and adopt one that will compel the savages upon our frontier to pay some respect to treaty stipulations. Should these hopes prove delusive, and no better protection be afforded to our citizens, by those to whom this duty belongs, than has been for several years past, it will become necessary for the State itself to adopt some measures to attain this object, but while there is any hope remaining that the General Government will perform this duty I am averse to taking any steps that may seem to be an interference with their measures.

For a few weeks past, no new outrages have come to my knowledge, which leads me to suppose that the disposition of the troops upon our frontier which has recently been made by Genl. Smith, has had some effect in deterring the Indians from prosecuting their predatory incursions.

For the present, and until some further steps shall be taken, either by the General or State Government, to give adequate protection to the frontier counties of this State, I would advise, in case of any sudden attacks by the Indians, that the citizens of those counties should rally a force, and pursue and, if possible, overtake and punish them without waiting for a call from the Executive, which would necessarily cause such a delay as to enable the Indians to escape pursuit. In such an emergency their acts will be recognized by the Executive and, if necessary, a larger force will be called out to sustain and relieve them.

Lacy, George Hancock, John Hancock, James H. Raymond, H. P. Bee, James B. Shaw, W. H. Bourland, John W. Harris, Nat Ward, Leonard Randall, T. Pinckney Henderson and E. B. Nichols, as the one, which in my judgement, under all the circumstances of the case, offers the strongest assurances and guaranties that the road will be promptly and substantially built in its whole length, according to the provisions of the act to provide for the Construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad.

The said parties are required, previous to the first day of September 1854, to enter into a contract for the construction of said road, which shall contain a provision that they shall, within sixty days after said contract is signed, deposit with the Treasurer of this State, Three Hundred Thousand Dollars, in gold or silver, or evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks, to be forfeited to and become the property of the State of Texas, in case fifty miles of said road shall not be constructed and in complete order for business within eighteen months from the date of said contract, and that in case said deposit is not made within the time specified the said contract shall be null and void.

The said contract shall also contain a provision, requiring said parties within two and a half years from the date of said contract, to have the track of said road, selected and surveyed as far West as the one hundredth degree of longitude West from Greenwich, and a map thereof filed in the General Land Office of this State, showing said track so plainly that it can be identified and found upon the ground — and also that said track shall be selected and surveyed, and a map thereof be filed in the like manner, as far West as the crossing of the River Pecos, within three and half years from the date of said contract and also that said track shall be selected and surveyed and a map thereof be filed in like manner as far as the Rio Grande within four and a half years from the date of said contract and that in case said parties fail to make such selection and survey, and file said map for either of said sections, within the time specified, from and after the time when the same should have been done, all the land in said section, reserved by said act, shall be thrown open to location and disposition by the State, excepting only thirty miles in width on each side of the thirty second parallel of North latitude. The said contract shall also contain all such other provisions as may be deemed necessary to secure the construction, equipment and maintenance of the road in the manner required by, "an act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad", approved 31st December 1853, and the laws of this State.

The contract will be drawn up and ready for signature as soon as it can be done, and in time to be signed before the 1st of September 1854.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt, by the last mail, of your letter of the 29th of July.

In reply, I have no hesitation in saying that I believe an addition to the troops now in service in this State, is necessary to produce a feeling of security with the inhabitants residing on and near the frontier. This belief is based upon a knowledge of the many murders and outrages that have been committed by the Indians within the last six months, and upon the numerous communications that have recently been made to me, of the opinions of those inhabitants on this subject.

I therefore feel authorized, from the tenor of your letter, to call out six companies of mounted volunteers, to be mustered into the service of the United States, at the time and places mentioned by you, for twelve months unless sooner discharged.

I fully concur with you, in relation to the care that should be exercised in selecting these troops, as well as the necessity for their being well mounted and armed, and as so long a time is allowed for raising them, I am satisfied that I can send you a force well suited for the service in which you propose to employ them.

Proclamation

By the Governor of the State of Texas.

Whereas, a requisition has been made upon me by Brevet Major General Persifor F. Smith, commanding the Department of Texas, for six companies of mounted men, to be mustered into the service of the United States, on the first day of November, 1854, for twelve months, unless sooner discharged; each company to consist of one Captain, one first and one second Lieutenant, four Sergeants, four Corporals, two Buglers, one Farrier, and seventy four Privates; each man to furnish his own horse, equipments and arms, and to be furnished with ammunition, forage and subsistence by the United States; the pay to be dependent on an appropriation by Congress which meets in December next.

And, whereas, it is desirable that each section of the state should have an opportunity to furnish a portion of said troops: Now, therefore, be it known, That I, have divided the organized Counties of the State, (except the County of El Paso, which lies too remote to furnish men in the time allowed) into six districts, from each of which one Company will be received.

The first district includes the Counties of Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr, Webb, Nueces, San Patricio, Refugio, Goliad, Karnes, Victoria, Calhoun, Jackson, La Vaca, de Witt, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Comal, Bexar and Medina.

The 2d. District includes the Counties of Matagorda, Wharton, Colorado, Austin, Fort Bend, Brazoria, Galveston, Harris, Montgomery, Walker, Madison, Leon, Brazos, Grimes, Burleson and Washington.

The 3rd District includes the Counties of Fayette, Bastrop, Caldwell, Hays, Travis, Gillespie, Burnett, Bell, Williamson, Milam, Hall, McLennan, Coryell, Bosque, Navarro, Limestone, Freestone and Robertson.

The 4th District includes the Counties of Hill, Johnson, Ellis, Tarrant, Dallas, Collin, Denton, Cooke, Grayson, Fannin, Lamar, Hopkins, Hunt, Kaufman, Van Zandt and Henderson.

The 5th District includes the Counties of Red River, Bowie, Titus, Cass, Harrison, Panola, Rusk and Smith.

The 6th District includes the Counties of Shelby, San Augustine, Sabine, Nacogdoches, Angelina, Cherokee, Anderson, Houston, Trinity, Jasper, Newton, Jefferson, Orange, Tyler, Polk, and Liberty.

Every Person desirous of becoming a member of the Company in the District in which he resides, will be at the place of rendezvous in the District, at the time appointed, when an inspection, enrollment and organization of the Company will be made by a Person authorized for that purpose.

No one will be received unless he is able-bodied, supplied with a good horse, suitable for an active campaign, a good rifle and a brace of pistols, or a Colts Revolver.

The Times and places of rendezvous will be as follows, viz:

For the 1st District, the town of Goliad, on the 20th of October next.

For the 2nd District - The town of Washington, on the 18th of October.

Austin Texas, 18th August 1854

Sir,

I have issued an order calling out six companies of mounted Volunteers as I advised you that I would in my letter of the 8th instant. These companies will be organized in different parts of the State, between the 16th - and 20th of October, and if my orders are carried out none will be received but those who are suited for the service, well mounted, equipped and armed.

It has occurred to me that it would be better to have these men mustered into the service at this place, than on the remote frontier as you propose in your letter of the 29th. July. It will be convenient for most, if not all of these companies to pass by this place on their route to the frontier, and if they could be inspected and mustered here, any that are not properly mounted and armed, or not suitable for the service intended, might be turned off here, without much hardship to them, and their places supplied by others, which could not very well be done after their arrival at the frontier posts. Should you concur with me on this point and conclude to receive them into service at this place on the 1st of November, I would like to be advised of it as early convenient in order that I may give the necessary directions to assemble them here on the 1st of November.

The State of Texas.

Whereas at the Spring Term for the year 1854 of the District Court of Shelby County in said State, Amtrose Henderson of said County was convicted of an assault with intent to kill, and sentenced to confinement to hard labor in the State Penitentiary for one year, and was also condemned to pay the costs of prosecution, which conviction, sentence and judgement was afterwards, on the 29th day of May 1854, affirmed by the Supreme Court of said State, with the costs of said Court; And whereas from representations made to me, I am induced to believe, that the true nature and character of the difficulty between the accused and the person injured were not fully proven on the trial, by reason whereof injustice may have been done to said Henderson by said Conviction and sentence—

Now, therefore, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws of this State, have thought proper to pardon said Henderson, and do by these presents grant to said Henderson a pardon for said offence, so far as relates to his confinement to hard labor in the State Penitentiary for one year, leaving him still liable to pay the costs of the prosecution. And these presents shall be full authority for the District Court of Shelby County to discharge said Henderson from so much of said sentence and judgement as requires him to be confined in the State Penitentiary as aforesaid.

In Testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at the City of Austin, this the 31st day of August A.D. 1854, and in the year of the Independence of Texas the Nineteenth.

Secretary of State.

Contract between R. J. Walker, J. Butler King and others of the one part, and the State of Texas, by E. M. Pease Governor, of the other part, for the construction of "The Mississippi and Pacific Railroad," in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad," approved December 21st A.D. 1853.

Whereas by the provisions of an act of the Legislature of the State of Texas, entitled "An act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad," approved December 21st 1853, the Governor of said State was required to advertize, inviting proposals, from companies and individuals, for the construction of said road, and to select from the proposals so made, that one, which in his judgement, under all the circumstances of the case, offered the strongest assurances and guarantees, that the road would be promptly and substantially built in its whole length, according to the provisions of said act, and to enter into contract for the construction of the same; and whereas the said Governor did advertize as aforesaid, and from the proposals received, did select that presented by R. J. Walker, J. Butler King, M. T. Johnson, J. A. Greer, W. C. Lacy, S. A. Maverick, Geo Hancock, John Hancock, Jas H Raymond, James B. Shaw, Wm H Bonland, H. P. Bee, John W. Harris Matt Ward, Leonard Randall, J. Pinckney Henderson and E. B. Nichols. Now therefore, this agreement made and entered into at the city of Austin State of Texas, this the thirty first day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty four, by and between the said R. J. Walker, J. Butler King, M. T. Johnson, J. A. Greer, W. C. Lacy, S. A. Maverick, Geo Hancock, John Hancock, Jas. H. Raymond, James B Shaw, Wm H. Bonland, H. P. Bee, John W Harris, Matt Ward, Leonard Randall, J. Pinckney Henderson, and E. B. Nichols of the first part, and the State of Texas, represented by E. M. Pease, Governor thereof, of the second part. Witnesseth: That the said parties of the first part undertake and agree to construct a railroad from some point on the eastern boundary line of the State of Texas, not north of the Town of Fulton in the State of Arkansas, to a suitable point on the Rio Grande, at or near the Town of El Paso, crossing the Trinity, Brazos, and Colorado Rivers as near the thirty second degree of north latitude as practicable. The said road to be constructed throughout, in a thorough, substantial and workmanlike manner, with all necessary drains, culverts, bridges, viaducts, crossings, turnouts, sidings, stations, watering places and all other appurtenances, including equipments of locomotives of sufficient speed and capacity commodious and comfortable passenger cars, and freight cars adapted to the business to be done, and equal in all respects and at all times, to a road of the first class when thoroughly organized for business; to be under the constant supervision of a sufficient number of skilful engineers, to be employed by the directors of said road; the rails to be of the best quality, weighing not less than sixty four pounds to the yard; the width of the track or guage of said road to be five feet and six inches; fifty miles of said road to be finished and put in complete operation within eighteen months after this contract is signed, and at least one hundred miles thereof to be finished and put in operation in like manner, every year thereafter, until the whole shall be completed.

The said parties of the first part, further undertake and agree, that after they shall have commenced receiving toll on any section of fifty miles of said road, they will at all times have the same in good repair, and a sufficient number of suitable carriages and vehicles for the transportation of persons and property.

The said parties of the first part further undertake and agree, that within sixty days after this contract is signed, they will deposit with the Treasurer of the State of Texas, three hundred thousand dollars in gold or silver, or evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks, as a guarantee that fifty miles or more of said road shall be constructed and in complete order for business within the term of eighteen months from the date of this contract, and that if evidences of debt of the State of Texas or other good par stocks are deposited, they shall be transferred and assigned to the Governor of the said State, for the time being, and his successors in office in trust, said transfer and assignment to be made in the manner required by the laws, rules and regulations governing the transfer and assignment thereof, so as to vest the title of the same in the said Governor, for the time being, and his successors in office in trust, and if fifty miles or more of said road shall be constructed and in complete order for business according to the terms of this contract, within said term of eighteen months, then the said Governor, or his successor in office, shall cause the said gold or silver, evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks to be returned to said parties and transferred and assigned to them; but in case of a failure to construct and put in complete order for business, according to the terms of this contract, fifty miles of said road within said term of eighteen months, then said gold and silver, evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks, shall be forfeited to and become the property of the said State, and the said Governor, or his successor in office, shall assign, transfer and deliver the same to said State.

And the said parties of the first part further undertake and agree, that in case they fail to deposit said gold or silver, or fail to deposit said evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks, and transfer and assign them to the Governor of said State, for the time being, and his successors in office in the time and manner and for the purposes hereinbefore stated, then this contract shall be null and void, and the said Governor or his successor in office shall be at liberty to enter into another contract.

The said parties of the first part further undertake and agree, that if they fail, at any time, to construct any part of said road and have it in complete order for business within the time specified in this contract, then this contract with all its powers, privileges and immunities, together with such parts of the road as may have been constructed, with all its machinery and appurtenances shall be forfeited to and become the property of the State of Texas, reserving however, to said parties of the first part the right to prosecute and defend all suits and rights, or liabilities which may have accrued or been incurred prior to such forfeiture.

The said party of the second part undertakes and agrees, that the said parties of the first part, their associates and successors, and those who may become stockholders in said company, shall be and are hereby declared to be a body politic and corporate, for and during the term of ninety nine years, by the name and style of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad Company, and under that name capable of suing and being sued, impleading and being impleaded in law and equity, in all courts and places whatsoever, in like manner and as fully as natural persons, and by said corporate name and style shall be capable in law of contracting and being contracted with; shall have the power of acquiring by purchase, donation or otherwise, real and personal estate, holding and conveying the same; and all other powers, immunities, rights and privileges necessary to carry into full effect the provisions of the act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific railroad, approved 1st December 1853

The said party of the second part, further undertakes and agrees, that the said corporation shall be and is authorized and empowered to survey, locate, construct, complete, alter, maintain and operate a railroad, with one or more tracks or lines of rails, from a point on the eastern boundary line of the State of Texas not north of the town of Fulton in the State of Arkansas, to a suitable point on the Rio Grande, at or near the town of El Paso, crossing the Trinity, Brazos and Colorado Rivers as near the thirty second degree of north latitude as practicable; and for the purpose of effecting the desirable and national object of constructing a continuous and national railway from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Ocean, said corporation is hereby authorized to form connections and enter into agreements with such other companies as they may see fit, and where such companies are so united by agreements properly entered into and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State of this State, they shall be regarded as one corporation, with all the rights, immunities and privileges necessary to accomplish the object, not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States, and of this State or any of the States through which said road may be constructed: That the capital stock of the said corporation shall be twenty millions of dollars, which may be increased from time to time to any sum not exceeding the entire amount expended on account of said road, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, which shall be deemed personal property, and may be subscribed for, issued and transferred in such manner and at such times and places as may be prescribed in the by laws of said corporation. That the said parties of the first part shall have power to organize said corporation, by calling a meeting of the stockholders, at such time and place as they may deem expedient, to elect a board of directors to consist of not exceeding fifteen members, one of whom shall be chosen by the directors to act as President, and said directors, so elected, shall have power to appoint such other officers and agents as they may think proper, and to adopt such by laws as may be necessary not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, nor the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas, a copy of which shall be filed with the Secretary of State, and published in at least three newspapers in this State; to provide for the meetings of the board of directors; appoint and dismiss officers and agents; regulate the manner of the voting of stockholders; direct the manner in which shares shall be sold, transferred or forfeited; to establish from time to time rates and charges for the transportation of freight and passengers; to make, have and use a common seal, and alter the same at pleasure; issue bonds of not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, to borrow money upon the bonds of the corporation or otherwise, for the purpose of constructing said road, with power to mortgage the same to secure the payment of said bonds and loans with the interest thereon; provided, that at the first election of directors as herein provided, the directors shall regulate the manner in which stockholders shall vote.

That said corporation may construct its road over or across any stream or body of water, road, highway, or across any other railroad, and through any lands owned by individuals or corporations, and in all cases where lands belonging to individuals or corporations shall be taken by said company, it shall be lawful for the owner, or agent of such person or corporation, to appear before the District Court of the County, where such lands are situate, when the damages claimed amount to one hundred dollars or more, or before the nearest Justice of the Peace, when the damages are one hundred dollars or less; and said suit shall proceed and be conducted according to the laws in force regulating proceedings in the District Court and in Justices Courts, as the case may be, and the question of damages shall be tried by a jury sworn and empannelled as usual in said Court, to assess the damages caused by taking such lands; and said jury in rendering their verdict shall take into consideration whether the (enhanced value of the) residue of the land belonging to such person or corporation has not been, by means of said road, increased in amount, equal to the damages sustained, and if so, they shall render a verdict in favor of said company, otherwise against it, for the amount of damages, which he, she or they may have sustained; provided that in no case shall said Company be bound to pay costs, if it satisfactorily proves that an amount, equal to the damages assessed by the jury, was tendered to the party suing before the institution of the suit, and the payment of such damages, before or after judgement, shall operate as to vest in said Company a full and complete title to such land, not exceeding three hundred feet in width.

The said party of the second part hereby undertakes and agrees, that a right of way, not exceeding three hundred feet in width, be and the same is hereby set apart and granted along the entire length of said road, through the public lands of the State of Texas, to be held and enjoyed for the use and purposes of said road forever, and that all earth, stone, timber and other material, of whatsoever character and description on the public lands, so long as they shall remain the property of the State, in the vicinity of said road, be and the same are hereby made subject to the uses and purposes of said road, as well in the construction thereof, as in supplying the same with the necessary furniture and machinery, to be made available as occasion may require, by those employed in the construction, management or working of said road, provided, that said company shall not be allowed to use any timber which may be upon the alternate sections reserved to the State, except upon the three hundred feet granted as the right of way, after the completion of the road.

The said party of the second part further undertakes and agrees, that all the vacant and unappropriated public lands belonging to the State of Texas, east of the one hundred and third parallel of longitude west from Greenwich, and embraced between the thirty first and thirty third parallels of north latitude, and all of the vacant and unappropriated lands belonging to the State east of the one hundred and third parallel of longitude west of Greenwich and embraced between the parallels of thirty degrees and thirty minutes, and thirty degrees of north latitude shall be and the same is hereby held in reserve by the State, until the land of said road is located by said company, from time to time, after which time, they shall be held in reserve by the State, east of the said road and the alternate lands remaining to said State, lying within thirty miles on each side of said road, until the same is surveyed and located in accordance with the provisions of this contract, with the understanding and agreement, that this reservation shall not be so construed as to effect any right of location or entry, preemption right or survey acquired in said district of country, here reserved, previous to the passage of the act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific railroad

The said parties of the first part further undertake and agree, that as soon as the tracts shall be selected, they will cause the vacant and unappropriated lands, for thirty miles on each side of said road, to be surveyed into sections of six hundred and forty acres each, which said surveys shall be made in a square, and those adjoining said road shall front one mile thereon and no more unless prevented by surveys made previous to the passage of the act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific railroad. It is understood and agreed by and between the said parties of the first and second part, that the said parties of the first part shall, within two and a half years from the date of this contract, have the tract of said road selected and surveyed from its eastern terminus as far west as the one hundreth degree of longitude west from Greenwich, and a map thereof filed in the General Land Office of this state, showing said tract so plainly that it can be identified and found upon the ground, and also that said tract shall be selected and surveyed as far west as the crossing of the river Pecos, and a map thereof filed in like manner within three and one half years from the date of this contract, and also that said tract shall be selected and surveyed as far as the Rio Grande, and a map thereof filed in like manner within four and a half years from the date of this contract, and in case of a failure to make such selection and survey and to file such maps for either of said three sections within the time specified, the legislature of said state shall have the right to dispose and throw open to location, all the land in said section which is herein reserved, excepting only thirty miles in width on each side of the thirty second parallel

The said party of the second part further undertakes and agrees, that as soon as said corporation shall have completed fifty miles of said road and put the same in complete order for business in accordance with this contract, it shall be authorized to select and designate, to the Governor of said State, an amount of land, to be taken in alternate sections, within said reservation, so that no two sections, so selected, shall join each other except at one corner, equal to twenty sections of six hundred and forty acres each, for every mile of road so finished and put in complete order for business. Which lands so selected and designated to the Governor, shall be patented to said corporation or their assigns free of all costs; and the said corporation shall have the right in like manner to select and have patented, within said reservation, twenty sections of six hundred and forty acres each, per mile, for each and every other section of one hundred miles of said road, until the whole shall have been finished, and if there shall not be a sufficient amount of vacant and unappropriated land belonging to the State, within thirty miles on each side of said road, to satisfy the amount of land to which said corporation may be entitled by virtue of a compliance with the provisions of this contract, then the Governor of said State shall cause to be issued, by the commissioner of the General Land Office, to said corporation, certificates for six hundred and forty acres of land each for the balance said corporation may be entitled to, which may be located upon any other vacant and unappropriated land belonging to said State, in such manner that no two sections shall join, except at one corner, at the proper cost and charges of said corporation, or their assigns, which shall be patented to said corporation as other lands, with the understanding that said last named certificates shall not be located upon any alternate sections reserved to the State.

The said parties of the first part further undertake and agree, that the lands which may be obtained by virtue of this contract shall be alienated by said corporation as follows, viz; one fourth in six years, one fourth in eight years, one fourth in ten years, and one fourth in twelve years after the same shall have been selected and located by said corporation, and that all other lands and real estate acquired by said corporation, either by purchase, donation or otherwise, except so far as the same may be necessary to the maintenance and running of said road, shall be alienated in like manner as herein before stated, and if said corporation shall fail to alienate its lands and real estate as herein provided for, and give the evidences of such alienation with the Secretary of State, then the Comptroller of Public Accounts of this State, shall have the right, at any time after any of such lands or real estate shall have been alienated, to advertise the same for sale, for sixty days in the newspaper published at the capitol of this State, and sell the same at public auction, and after deducting therefrom all the necessary expenses of said sale, he shall deposit the residue of the proceeds of the sale with the Treasurer of this State to the credit of said corporation.

It is further understood and agreed by the parties hereto, that the transfer and assignment of the evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks to the Governor of said State for the time being, and his successors in office herein provided for, shall be made before, or shall accompany said evidences of debt or other good par stocks when they are deposited with the Treasurer of said State, and that such transfer and assignment shall also be duly authenticated.

It is further understood and agreed, that any powers or privileges that said corporation is legally entitled to, and any duties, liabilities or provisions that it is legally subject to, not named in this contract, shall be as binding and obligatory upon the parties hereto, as if the same were herein specifically stated and set forth.

In testimony whereof the said parties hereto affix their names and affix their seals, on the day, month and year first herein written, the said parties of the first part using seals for seal, and the said party of the second part using the State seal, August thirty first, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty four.

Dear Sir.

I received, some time since, a petition signed by yourself and others, for the appointment of Capt John Williams as a Branch Pilot for Matagorda and Lavacca Bays.

After a careful examination of the laws of this State respecting Pilots, I am satisfied that they relate only to pilotage from and to the sea, over the outer bar, and that they give the Governor no authority to appoint Pilots for the Bay. The Bay Pilotage is a matter that is not regulated by law but is left entirely to individual enterprise and competition.

I have delayed answering the petition until I could consult the Attorney General and obtain his opinion on this subject, which I have now done, and he concurs with me in the opinion expressed in this letter.

Yours with respect,

Dear Sir,

Your letter of the 30th ult was received by the last mail.

Agreeably to your request I have examined Art 1616 of Hartleys Digest, and am inclined to think it has not been in force since the adoption of our State constitution. In this opinion the Attorney General concurs with me.

I most cheerfully grant you leave of absence from the State during next Winter, not to interfere with the regular times of your Courts, if I have the right to do it, and should it be considered that the Article referred to is in force, you will see that this is specially granted under its provisions

Respectfully yours

Dear Sir.

I received this morning your letter of the 8th inst, together with the petition of sundry citizens, and of the jury, for the pardon of W. T. Wilkford. I have made it an invariable rule, in all such cases, to require a statement of the facts proved on the trial, and also a certificate from the Judge who presided, stating his opinion of the case, and without these I cannot act definitely upon the petitions.

I am aware that cases often occur, in which the true nature and character of the difficulty between the parties is not fairly presented to the jury, at the trial, on account of the fact, that the principal testimony comes from the party injured, and where there is reason to believe, either from the character of the witness, or from the manner in which the evidence is given, that the whole case has not been fairly presented to the jury, I am always willing to interfere and prevent the possibility of injustice being done. But in cases where a pardon is asked for, solely on the ground of sympathy for the accused or his family, I have felt it my duty to refuse to grant it, although it is always painful for me to do so. I do not say that the present case is one of the latter class. Of this I will form my opinion, when a statement of the facts proved on the trial, properly made up and certified, and also the certificate of the Judge giving his opinion of the case, are presented to me.

By the Governor of the State of Texas.

Whereas J. S. Nethery is charged with having committed murder upon the body of John Duncan in the county of Gonzales of this State, on the 3rd day of July A.D. 1854; and whereas it has been made known to me that said Nethery has fled from justice.

Now therefore be it known, that, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me, do hereby offer a reward of three hundred dollars for the apprehension and delivery of said Nethery to the Sheriff of Gonzales County, in order that he may be dealt with according to law.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the state to be affixed.

Hon Edw Bellinger
Gonzales.

Dear Sir.

I send you herewith the Proclamation of the Governor, offering a reward for the apprehension of Nethery. I leave the time of its publication with yourself and others who know more of the circumstances of the case than is therein here. When you make public the Proclamation, should you consider it necessary to do so at all, give it to your County paper, with instructions to publish four weeks. Please notify me also of the publication.

To the good, quiet, honest law-abiding citizen, the extent to which the crime of murder has attained in the State is truly distressing, and I agree with you that it is our duty to employ every means in our power to suppress it. I sincerely hope that the offender in this instance, as well as every other who has contributed a single drop to the tide of blood which has been sweeping over the country for several months, tarnishing our character and causing the voice of woe and of lamentation in the land may be brought to pay the penalty of their misdeeds.

I have the honor to be

Austin, Texas, Sept. 21st. 1854

Maj Samuel Bogart.
Sir,

You are hereby appointed to inspect and enroll the volunteers who may present themselves at McKinney, from the Counties hereafter named, under the Proclamation issued from this Office on the 18th. day of August last, and organize them into a company by causing an election to be held for the officers thereof.

The company is to consist of one Captain, one 1st Lieut. one 2nd Lieut. four Sergeants, four Corporals, two buglers, one farrier and blacksmith, and seventy four privates, making eighty eight in all.

Each commissioned officer must be armed with a sabre, and two belt, or holster pistols, or one revolver, (Army pattern). Each other member of the company must be armed with two belt, or holster pistols, or one revolver, and one rifle or double barrel gun.

Each member of the company must be an able bodied man, and such an one as in your opinion will make a good soldier. must have a good horse suitable for active service, and be properly equipped.

You are authorized to receive the two buglers and the one farrier and blacksmith from any County in the District, taking care to select those well qualified for the service.

In making up the residue of the company, which will take eighty five men, you will receive from the County of Hill 2; Johnson 2; Ellis 8; Warrant 5; Dallas 8; Collin 8; Denton 4; Cooke 2; Grayson 7; Hunain 8; Lamar 9; Hopkins 8; Hunt 7; Kaufman 4; Van Zandt 5 and Henderson 5.

After you shall have ascertained by an inspection, how many there are present that meet the requirements of these instructions, should it appear that there is a greater number from any of said Counties than is assigned to it, you will draft from them the number to which the County is entitled. Should there be none; or a less number from any County than is allotted to it, you will make up the deficiency from the other counties, taking care to give to each county that is represented its fair proportion, as far as practicable.

It has been suggested to me that those wishing to volunteer from some of the counties, may perhaps meet and agree among themselves who shall go to McKinney. Should it appear to you that any such agreement has been made in any county, you will carry it out so far as relates to persons who have consented to it, provided those agreed upon, shall, in your opinion meet the requirements of these instructions.

You will commence the duty here assigned to you, at McKinney, on the 16th of October and complete it in time for the company to reach this place by the first of November, at which time it will be mustered into the service of the United States.

The members of the company will provide themselves with forage and subsistence until they are mustered at this place, for which they will receive an allowance from the United States.

When the company shall have been organized, you will direct the commanding officer to repair to this place with his company and report to me by the first of November.

You will please transmit to this office, by the commanding officer, a report of your proceedings with a muster roll certified by you.

I deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the importance of the duty assigned to you, further than to say that upon its proper exercise will depend the character and efficiency of the company that is to be raised in your district

Gentlemen,

Herewith you have a draft upon New York for the amount of your account for publishing Railroad advertisements of Governor Pease, less the cost of the draft. I would have sent a draft upon your city but could not procure one.

You will see that the charge for Telegraphic messages is not included. The Governor supposes the cost of Telegraphic service owned by the amount paid Messrs McDowell Mills & Co. of New Orleans, through whom the communications were made. If this conclusion is correct, Messrs McD, M & Co are the parties to whom you will look for the refunding of the amount paid Telegraph. We do not understand the connection of the New Orleans Picayune with the matter. This business can be easily explained however, and we desire to have it properly and fairly settled.

Dear Sir.

Your letter of the 7th inst reached this office a day or two ago. I would have answered it sooner, but have much to do and no one to assist me.

You have, I believe, a commission as Notary Public for Cachoma County. I don't know what evidence, stronger than that commission, can be adduced of your appointment to that office. To remove the objection of the Chief Justice, that there were seven instead of six Notarys appointed for the county, Mr Brown, it seems, resigned. For the reasons which, I understand, induced this action on the part of Mr Brown, his course is very commendable. But if I am correctly informed, it was not necessary for Mr Brown to have resigned - in fact he held no office under the State then to resign. He had, I am told, accepted an office under the General Government, and if so his office of Notary Public became vacant. But be this as it may, he was not nominated to the Senate after his appointment as the Constitution requires, and in consequence on the close of the Session his term of office expired. I do not mention these things in depreciation of Mr Brown's course in resigning, or in condemnation of the Chief Justice, but merely to shew, if I am not deceived as to the facts, that at the time of your appointment, there were but five Notarys in your County, and of course the objection of the over number was not tenable.

I will forward to the Chief Justice proper notice of your appointment.

Each member of the company must be an able-bodied man, and such an one as, in your opinion, will make a good soldier - must have a good horse, suitable for active service, and be properly equipped.

You are authorized to receive the two buglers, and the one farrier and blacksmith from any County in the District, taking care to select those were qualified for the service.

In making up the residue of the company which will take eighty five men, you will receive from the County of Red River 8. Bowie 5. Lamar 8. Cass 7. Wood 3. Upshur 7. Harrison 12. Panola 7. Rusk 11. and Smith 10.

Should it appear to you that any such arrangement has been made in any county, you will carry it out so far as relates to persons who have consented to it, provided those agreed upon shall, in your opinion, meet the requirements of these instructions.

You will commence the duty here assigned you at Tyler on the 16th of October, and complete it in time for the company to reach this place by the first of November, at which time it will be mustered into the service of the United States.

When the company shall have been organized, ~~this~~ you will direct the commanding officer to repair to this place with his company and report to me by the first of November.

The members of the company will provide themselves with forage and subsistence until they are mustered at this place, for which they will receive an allowance from the United States.

You will please transmit to this office by the commanding officer, a report of your proceedings, with a muster roll certified by you.

I deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the importance of the duty assigned to you, further than to say, that upon its proper exercise will depend the character and efficiency of the company that is to be raised in your district.

Executive Department.
Austin, Texas. September 25rd. 1854.

Sir.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt, this day, of your letter of the 29th. August, in which you state that, "it has been deemed proper to apprise him, (Genl Smith,) that the Department disapproves the conditional requisition which he made for troops," in his letter to me of the 29th. July last.

In my reply to the letter of Genl Smith containing that conditional requisition, I stated, that I believed an addition to the troops now in service in this State, was necessary to produce a feeling of security with the inhabitants residing on and near the frontier, and that this belief was based upon a knowledge of the many murders and outrages that had been committed by the Indians within the last six months, showing that actual hostilities had existed for that period of time, and I might have added, with propriety, a fact notorious here, that there was, "imminent danger," of actual hostilities and incursions being renewed, every day, for the northern Comanches and several other Tribes are and have been at open war with the citizens of this State for many years, and scarcely a month passes without their making incursions into this State.

Upon the receipt of this letter by Genl Smith, he sent me, on the 20th. of August, an unconditional requisition for six companies of mounted men, from the militia of this State, to be mustered into the service of the United States, on the first day of November next, for twelve months, unless sooner discharged. Under this requisition I have made a call for volunteers, and the companies are now being raised and will be ready to be mustered into the service of the United States at the time designated.

I trust that this last requisition of Genl Smith will be approved by you, for I feel certain, that without this addition to the troops now on service in this State, the lives and property of our frontier citizens are in imminent danger of being sacrificed. We have a frontier of many hundred miles, extending from Red River to the Lower Rio Grande, which is constantly exposed to the depredations of hostile Indian Tribes, who make frequent incursions into our settlements, from which they never return without committing some murders and thefts.

The troops belonging to the regular army, now in service in this state, have never been able to pursue them with a sufficient number to chastise them — they have either been forced to abandon the pursuit without overtaking them, or, as was the case with the small party under Captain Van Buren, have been defeated with the loss of many valuable lives. These results have emboldened these tribes until they now feel very certain of escaping unpunished.

While on this subject, I deem it my duty to call your attention to the situation of the Indian tribes upon our northern border. The whole Comanche tribe, with the exception of one small band, called the Southern Comanches, are openly and avowedly hostile, and are continually on the war path, making incursions into this state, and passing through portions of it in going to and returning from Mexico. This tribe, with the exception of the small band before named, have no agent residing among them, and no control is exercised over them by the United States.

There is also a large number of renegades, from the various tribes residing in this state, who have congregated in the Indian Territory north of Red River, subject to no agency or control, professing friendship to the posts north of Red River, but frequently making hostile incursions into this state.

Besides these, many of the Kickapoos north of Red River, frequently come into this state, with permits from commanders of posts and Indian agents, ostensibly for the purpose of hunting, but they seldom return without committing some murders and thefts. Most of the murders and depredations on our frontier have been committed by the Indians here described, and hardly an instance has come to my knowledge in which

They have been punished.

Occasional thefts have been committed by the small parties residing in this State, and professing friendship to our citizens, when they have been permitted to leave the neighborhood of the posts, but, if the policy of settling these tribes upon reservations, that the United States is authorized to select for them, is carried out, and they are compelled to reside on these reservations, I do not apprehend any further difficulty from them.

In regard to the hostile tribes named in this letter, an experience of several years has shown that it is idle to expect that their incursions can be restrained by the discipline of troops now in service in this State. To effect this, it is necessary that a mounted force should be stationed upon our frontier, sufficient to range from Red River to the lower Rio Grande and ~~anticipate~~ intercept them whenever they attempt to perpetrate our settlements, or they must be collected within certain defined limits, placed under the control of agents who are supported by a military force, sufficient to compel them to remain there, and must be furnished by the Government with the means of living, until they are taught to support themselves by agriculture.

I am satisfied that unless the United States Government acts upon these suggestions, the frontiers of this State will continue to be annoyed by these Indians for years to come.

I received, about a week since, a letter from the Secretary of war, dated 29th. That the companies were being raised under this last requisition and would be ready to be mustered at the time designated.

I also stated to him, that I hoped this last requisition of yours would be approved by him, for I believed the troops necessary to repel Indian incursions, and that without them there was imminent danger that the lives and property of our frontier citizens would be sacrificed.

I also stated to him the situation of the hostile Indian tribes on the northern border of this State, and my opinion in regard to the policy that should be pursued to protect the frontier of this State against their depredations.

I have thought it best to advise you of these matters, as I think it possible that my representations may have some influence in inducing the Secretary to sanction your requisition of the 20th. of August, if he should be disposed to disapprove of that also.

Sir,

I received, this morning your letter of the 28th inst. in which you state that, "you have received from Messrs R. J. Walker, & J. B. King for themselves and their associates, contractors under the act of Decbr. 21st. 1853, to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad, three hundred thousand dollars, of shares, in the preferred stock of the Sussex Rrn Company of New Jersey." You also state that, "This stock has been placed in your office by the parties above named, contractors, as a good deposit, for a guarantee, as provided under the 12th section of the act above named, that fifty miles or more of said road shall be constructed and in complete order for business within eighteen months from the date of their contract with the Governor of the State of Texas." You also state, that, "you enclose for my consideration the said certificate of stock together with the evidences of its par value."

You also state that, "In addition to the stock above named and enclosed, you also enclose to me two hundred and ninety eight thousand dollars of stock in the Mechanics Bank of Memphis, and two thousand dollars of stock of the State of New York, together with a list of papers in regard to these last named stocks." You also state that, "In sending to your office the Mechanics Bank of Memphis stock, they, (Messrs Hacker and King) state their purpose for so doing, in the following words. "You may receive and file that stock as additional to the Sussex Iron stock and to be held on the same conditions, and will please note the day of its being filed with you." "The two thousand dollars of New York State stock, they state is sent for the purpose of supplying the deficiency of the Bank stock to make the sum of three hundred thousand dollars," and in conclusion you say, "all of which is respectfully submitted."

It may be proper that I should here state, that all of these papers were submitted to me by you, and were returned to you, by me, with my verbal opinion, that they were insufficient to answer the purposes for which you state they were placed in your office, previous to the date of your letter, and previous to the time when I received it, and also that none of these papers are in fact now enclosed in your letter.

I propose now, in answer to your letter, to give my opinion in writing, in regard to these stocks, in order that there shall hereafter be no question in relation to the fact of my having declared them to be an insufficient deposit under the law referred to.

I understand from you that these gentlemen propose to deposit—

1st. A certificate for twenty four thousand shares of twelve dollars and fifty cents each in the preferred stock of the Sussex Iron Company of New Jersey, amounting to the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, issued to R. J. Walker and J Butler King dated October 3rd. 1854, and signed by Edwin Post President and E. A. Reeder Secretary.

2nd. That they propose to deposit as additional security, a certificate for eleven thousand nine hundred and twenty shares of twenty five dollars each, of the capital stock of the Mechanics Bank of Memphis in the state of Tennessee, amounting to the sum of two hundred and ninety eight thousand dollars, issued to E. W. M. King, dated June 1st 1854, and signed by E. W. M. King President, and Henry R. Pugh cashier, and also two certificates of New York State stock for one thousand dollars each, issued to Robert J. Walker and J Butler King, under the provisions of a law of that state, passed April 25th. 1840, making together the sum of three hundred thousand dollars.

The certificates of New York State stock are entirely acceptable, and such stock as the law authorizes to be received; but the other two certificates, viz; the preferred stock of the Sussex Iron Company, and the Mechanics Bank stock of Memphis, are neither of them such stocks as, in my opinion, the law requires to be deposited. The first and principal objection to these stocks is, that they are not the description of stocks the Legislature intended should be deposited. The 12th. section of the "act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad," declares that the company shall deposit with the Treasurer of the State, at least three hundred thousand dollars in gold or silver, or evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks. I think it is perfectly clear that the Legislature intended by these words, "other good par stocks", evidences of debt of the United States, or of some state of the Union, or of some corporation—such stocks have an intrinsic value, because they must ultimately be redeemed in gold or silver. They could never have intended that this deposit might be made in the capital stock of a Bank or manufacturing company, which is merely the fund or property employed in the business of the corporation, and its value is dependent upon the fluctuations and casualties of trade and may be entirely destroyed by misfortune, mismanagement or fraud of the directors and officers.

This view of the intention of the Legislature is rendered certain, by a careful examination of the act referred to, and the constitution of the State. The 12th. Section of said act provides, "That in case of a failure upon the part of the company, the money or stocks deposited, shall be forfeited to and become the property of the State." Now in order to render any kind of stock available to the State as a forfeiture, it must be assigned and transferred to the State, or to some person in trust for the State, and a provision was accordingly inserted in the contract, "That if evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks were deposited, they should be transferred and assigned to the Governor of the State of Texas for the time being, and his successors in office, in trust." The stocks here proposed to be deposited, are a portion of the capital stock, or fund and property employed in the business of private corporations, and the acceptance of an assignment of them, makes the assignee at once a part owner of the stock and property belonging to the corporations.

It will be recollected that article 7. section 31. of the State constitution provides that, "The State shall not be part owner of the stock or property belonging to any corporation." The State therefore, could never enforce a forfeiture of these stocks, because a forfeiture of them, to the State, could not take place, without the State becoming part owner of the stock and property belonging to these corporations; and this is absolutely prohibited by the provision of the constitution above quoted.

The Legislature that passed this law, must be presumed to have known the provisions of the Constitution, and to have legislated with a reference to them.

The word, "stock," as used in the 31st. section of the 7th. article of the constitution, means, the capital stock, which is the fund and property belonging to a corporation, and employed in its business.

The word, "stocks," as used in the 12th section of the act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific railroad, means, evidences of debt or certificates that the holder is the owner of a certain portion of a debt contracted by a government or corporation.

Assuming these two definitions to be correct, the act in question can have full effect given to it without any violation of the constitution. The stock included ~~in~~ under the first definition, which is the stock here proposed to be deposited, cannot be forfeited to and become the property of the State, without a violation of the constitution, and is not therefore the description of stock required to be deposited. The stock included under the second definition may be forfeited to and become the property of the State - indeed the State is already the owner of a large amount of such stock; viz, the five per cent bonds of the United States; this therefore, is clearly the description of stock that the law requires to be deposited.

I have given much consideration to this subject, and am perfectly satisfied that the view I take of it is correct.

I am surprised that Messrs Wacker and King should have made a tender of either of these stocks, for I informed them, after the contract was awarded and before it was signed, when they proposed to deposit this same Mechanics Bank stock together with a certificate of deposit of three hundred thousand dollars in the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Memphis, both amounting to nearly double the sum required to be deposited, that I did not consider either or both were such securities as the law required. I then distinctly told them, I did not consider that the law authorized a deposit of the capital stock of any corporation, and that if stocks were deposited, they must be evidences of debt, issued either by the United States, or some State of the Union, or by some corporation authorized to issue such stock, of either of which the State may lawfully become the owner.

If I were to admit that the capital stock of a private corporation could legally and constitutionally be received as the deposit required to be made by this company, there are still other objections to the reception of either of these stocks. Neither of them are assigned and transferred in the manner required by the contract. The contract provides, "that if evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par stocks are deposited, they shall be transferred and assigned to the Governor of said State, for the time being, and his successor in office, in trust—said transfer and assignment to be made in the manner required by the laws, rules and regulations governing the transfer and assignment thereof, so as to vest the title of the same in the said Governor for the time being and his successor in office in trust," and also, "that said transfer and assignment shall be made before, and shall accompany said evidences of debt, or other good par stocks, when they are deposited with the Treasurer of the State." Now both of these certificates state on their face, that they are only transferable on the books of the corporation, and yet neither of them are so transferred. It is true that each is accompanied by a written transfer containing a blank power of attorney authorizing them to be transferred on the books of the corporation, but the charters of both corporations provide that the directors may establish rules and regulations to govern the transfer of their stock, and we have no evidence showing what these rules and regulations are, nor whether they permit transfers to be made in this manner.

The Mechanics Bank of Memphis was chartered by the Legislature of Tennessee on the 18th day of March 1854, and has been too short a time in existence for its stock to have any established character in the money market. Its capital stock is limited to three hundred thousand dollars, and it is under the management of five directors who must be stock holders and citizens of Tennessee. There is also a provision in its charter, that if the corporation shall at any time suspend or refuse payment, in gold or silver, of any of its notes, bills or obligations, or any money received on deposit, when demanded by the holder or depositor, the holder of such note, bill or obligation, or the person or persons entitled to receive such money deposited, shall be respectively entitled to interest from the time of such demand and refusal, at the rate of ten per cent per annum until paid by said Bank, or until the same can be recovered or made by law from the real or personal effects of the then existing stockholders in said Bank, who are made individually liable for the redemption of all the notes, bills and obligations of any nature and kind whatever of said Bank.

If this stock be received as the deposit, it must by the terms of the contract, be first assigned to the Governor for the time being, and his successors in office, in trust, and the moment he accepts this assignment, either he or the State of Texas becomes a stockholder and is liable individually, for the redemption of all the notes, bills and obligations of any kind whatever of said Bank, in case the directors fail to make provision for them. Either the Governor or the State thus virtually becomes a surety for the faithful performance of their duty by the directors, and for all the issues of the Bank, and all the deposits made in it, this too, while the five directors own only eighty shares, amounting to two thousand dollars, and the Governor for the State holds eleven thousand nine hundred and twenty shares, amounting to two hundred and ninety eight thousand dollars. So far from this stock being any security to the State, the acceptance of a transfer of it might create a liability against the State for an indefinite amount, in case of a failure of said Bank, or the mismanagement or fraud of the five directors holding only two thousand dollars out of three hundred thousand which is the capital of the Bank.

The Sussex Iron Company was chartered by the Legislature of New Jersey on the 25th day of March 1845, for the purpose of manufacturing iron. Its capital stock was limited to three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, but it was authorized to commence operations when fifty thousand dollars of the capital was subscribed and paid in. On the 25th. of February 1852, the charter was amended, the shares were divided and the par value of them made twelve dollars and fifty cents instead of one hundred. The capital stock was increased to six hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of a further increase to one million of dollars if the business of the company should require it, and the company was authorized to purchase and hold and convey any mineral or other lands in the counties of Sussex, Morris and Hudson they might deem necessary for the business of the company.

On the 24th. of February 1853, the charter was again amended, and the company was authorized to issue forty thousand shares of new stock at the par value of twelve dollars and fifty cents per share, with the privilege of a further issue of forty thousand shares, should the business of the company require it. Said stock to issue as a preferred stock, and to bear such a rate of dividend, not exceeding eight per cent per annum, as the board of directors might prescribe. The directors were to open books of subscription for said stock when they thought proper, after giving notice.

This amendment of the charter was not to take effect until it was accepted by two thirds of the stock-holders, at a meeting called for that purpose, and an affidavit thereof was made by the President and Secretary, and filed in the Office of the Secretary of State. The said corporation was also authorized to issue the stock of said company in full or in part payment for any mines, minerals, rights and other real estate necessary for their business. These provisions are gathered from a copy of the charter and amendments that accompanies the stock, but there is no copy of the affidavit of the President and Secretary which was required to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, showing when two thirds of the stock-holders assented to the issue of this preferred stock, nor is there any evidence showing when this preferred stock was subscribed for and issued. All we know on these subjects, is, that R. J. Walker and J Butler King purpose to deposit a certificate issued to them and dated October 3rd. 1854, for three hundred thousand dollars of this preferred stock, which, according to the statement of the President that will hereafter be referred to, is all that was ever issued.

The evidence produced in regard to the value of the stock of this company, consists of a "Statement of the present condition and future prospects of the Sussex Iron Company of New Jersey" a "supplemental Statement" giving a "discription of the real estate of the company estimated at $362.500," both signed by Edwin Post President of the company, and a certificate from the Governor of New Jersey giving his opinion of the value of the stock.

The statement of the President above referred to, is to the following effect, viz;

"Old stock	$184.000.
Preferred do	300.000	$484.000
Merits and estimated Profits,
Real Estate	362.500.
Personal property including stock held by the Co. and doubted debts due them after deducting all debts due by them	60.000.
Minimum nett profits on the delivery of 30.000 tons of rail road iron, as per contract at $70. per ton cash, after deducting increased outlay caused thereby	250.000
Minimum nett profit on 25.000 tons of Pig iron and paint from 100.000 tons of Franklinite iron owned by the Co. according to the experiments and sales already made of ~~which~~ such iron and paint made by the Company	1.100.000	$1.772.500.
Go which add increased value of real estate, (exclusive of the Town of Franklin,) owned by the Company as the result of enlarged operations at least	200.000
		1.472.500

The President then says, "It will readily be perceived from the above statement, that the $500.000 of Sussex Iron Company stock is worth largely above par."

He also states that among other advantages, "This property enjoys the benefit of direct connection with New York and Philadelphia and the great coal regions, both by railroad and canal &c".

The Governors certificate states that, he has examined the report of Edwin Post the President of the Company; that he is acquainted with the property of the Company at Stanhope and the value of Franklintine ore, and that he concurs fully with said report in opinion of the value of the stock."

The supplemental statement of the President declares that the real estate of the Company, estimated at $362.500 consists of—1st The Town of Stanhope, embracing about 400. acres there and in the vicinage, and including 31. buildings not used by the Company and bringing an annual rent of $3.225.57.

2nd. In addition, 600 acres of land on which it is computed there are 10.000 cords of wood; also a water power with 70 feet fall, taking all the water of the Musconetong river, a steam engine of 160 horse power, two blowing cylinders, engine houses &c. with valuable mines on the lands.

The certificates of George M. Dallas and William Kent express an opinion of their own, in regard to the value of the stock. They merely state, that having examined the certificates of the President and the Governor, they are of opinion that the deposit of this stock will be a compliance with the law requiring the deposit.

From these statements and certificates, it will be seen that the actual property of the Company consists of about 1000 acres of land with their mines, including the Town of Stanhope and 31 buildings which bring an annual rent of $3.225.57. The steam engine and other machinery and engine house &c. all of which are estimated at $362.500 and personal property, stock of the Company and debts owing to the Co— 60.000 and that the stock of the Company is $480.000, leaving a deficiency between the stock of the Company and its property of $57.500.

I do not take into consideration, as property, the minimum nett profit of $250.000 that the Company expects to make, when they shall have manufactured and delivered 50.000 tons of railroad iron at $70. per ton— nor the minimum nett profit of $1.100.000, that the Company expects to make on 25.000 tons of pig iron, that the Company expects to manufacture from 100.000 tons of Franklinite ore owned by the company, nor the $200.000 that the company expects to make by the increased value of their real estate, as the result of enlarged operations, amounting in all to the enormous sum of $1.550.000, as expected profits on an actual capital of $422.500, for these expected profits may never be realized, and they are too remote and contingent to be called property, or to be relied on as giving value to the Stock.

Upon a review of the foregoing statements in relation to the value of the Dunkerhon Company, the question naturally suggests itself; If this Stock is really as valuable as the statement of the President of the Company would indicate, and if these gentlemen had the means to procure $300.000, of this immensely valuable stock, and also $298.000 of the stock of the Mechanics Bank of Memphis, owned they not, with the same means, have procured $300.000 of good par evidences of debt issued by the United States, or some State of the Union, or some corporation authorized to issue such stocks?

If I were acting for myself individually, I should not consider either or both of these two stocks a sufficient security for three hundred thousand dollars, and I hold it to be the duty of an officer of the State to guard her interests as strictly as he would his own. I therefore say, that if both of these certificates of stock were the character of stocks that could be received under the law, I consider them insufficient.

I delivered a copy of the within letter to James H Raymond Esqr. this 2nd. of Nov. 1854.

Samuel Harris private Secy

Austin, Texas, November 2nd 1857

To Captains, Giles S. Boggs, William Fitzhugh, John G. Walker, Charles E. Harris and William King.

Gentlemen – The late instruction from the war Department, of the 9th-inst, countermanding the order of Genl. Smith for mustering your companies into the service of the United States for twelve months, unless sooner discharged, render it necessary that I should, for my own justification, give you, and the soldiers under your command, the following concise narrative of the circumstances under which I called your companies to this place, and of the different orders from the Headquarters of the Department of Texas, in relation to mustering them into the service of the United States.

On the 29th. day of July last, Gen. Smith addressed me a letter, in which the following language is used; "I round purpose then, that if your opinion is in favor of calling more companies into service, that on the first day of November next, six mounted companies should be called into the service, on which day four of them will be mustered into the service of the United States for twelve months, unless sooner discharged, at or near Fort Martin Scott, and two of them at or near Fort Worth."

To this letter I replied on the 8th. of August, informing him that I believed, "an addition to the troops now in service in this State was necessary" and that, "I therefore felt authorized from the tenor of his letter, to call out six companies of mounted volunteers, to be mustered into the service of the United States, at the time and places indicated by him, for twelve months, unless sooner discharged."

On the 18th. of August I accordingly issued a proclamation, calling for six companies of mounted volunteers, from the different sections of the State, to be mustered into the service of the United States for the time mentioned by Gen. Smith.

On the same day I wrote to Gen. Smith, informing him that I had issued an order, calling out six companies of mounted volunteers, as I had advised him that I would in my letter to him of the 8th. of August. I also informed him that I thought it would be more convenient for the volunteers to be mustered into service at this place than at the points designated by him; and requested him, if he concurred with me in opinion, and consented to muster them at this place, to advise me of it as early as convenient.

General Smith on the 20th. of August, at his camp near Fort Clark, answered my letter of the 8th. of August, and also sent me a requisition of the same date, in which he says that, "under authority from the President of the United States, I have the honor to call upon your Excellency to furnish for the service of the United States, from the Militia of Texas, six companies of mounted men, organized as the law directs, to be mustered into the service of the United States on the 1st. day of November next, to serve for twelve months, unless sooner discharged."

On the 27th. of August, Gen. Smith, from his camp on the head of the San Pedro river, answered my letter of the 18th. of August, and said, "It will give me great pleasure to comply with your wish to have the companies mustered at Austin, and orders go with this, that the mustering officer shall attend at that place."

About the middle of September I was furnished with a copy of Special orders No 105, from Head Quarters, Department of Texas, dated September 2nd. 1854, containing instructions how the companies were to be mustered and supplied, and stating that four of them would be mustered at Fort Martin Scott, and two at or near Fort Worth, and also where they would be ordered to go.

Near the close of September, I was furnished with a copy of special orders No. 115, from the same source, dated 23rd. September 1854, designating Col. Waite as the officer to muster the companies, and directing them to be mustered at Austin.

Soon after the receipt of this last order, I appointed persons to inspect and enroll the companies at the places designated in the proclamation of the 18th. of August, and directed that the companies, when organized, should repair to this place in time to be mustered on the 1st. of November.

On the 25th. of October I received another requisition from Gen. Smith, dated, "Head Quarters Department of Texas, Painted Camp on the Limpia, October 9th. 1854," in which he says, "I am instructed by the direction of the Secretary of War, that no power exists for calling forth the Militia for a term as long as that proposed in my letter to you calling for six companies to be mustered into the service for a year unless sooner discharged.

I therefore ask, that to aid in protecting the frontier from Indian invasion, you will furnish to the service of the United States, six companies of the Militia of the State of Texas, to serve three months unless sooner discharged. If their services are longer necessary the troops will have to be mustered in again, at the end of their first term of service.

On Sunday evening last, the 29th. of October, I received by express, a copy of Special orders No 124, from Head Quarters Department of Texas, Corpus Christi, dated October 24th. 1854, stating that, "In pursuance of instructions, dated the 9th. instant, from the War Department, the mustering into service of the volunteers referred to first, in Special orders No. 105, of the 2nd. of September last, from these Head Quarters, is postponed indefinitely, and all special arrangements that may have been made for supplying them will be revoked. Brevet Colonel Waite is therefore relieved from the duty heretofore assigned to him in the orders on this subject."

From this narrative, you will perceive, that the orders issued from the Head Quarters of the Department of Texas, for mustering your companies into the service of the United States for twelve months unless sooner discharged, have been postponed indefinitely by instructions from the War Department.

You will also perceive that I am in possession of a requisition from Gen. Smith, dated in the Indian country, October 9th. 1854, asking me to furnish six companies of the Militia of this State to aid in protecting the frontier from Indian invasion, to serve three months, unless sooner discharged, and if their services are longer necessary, to be mustered in again at the end of their first term of service; But the requisition designates no officer to muster those companies. Gen. Smith doubtless expected this would be done by the officer whom he had previously designated to muster for twelve months, and had he been at Corpus Christi when the instructions were received from the War Department commanding the order to muster for twelve months, he would, without doubt, have designated an officer to muster those companies called for in his requisition of the 9th. of October; but he was then, and still is in the Indian country, and it will be some time before I can communicate with him.

Under these circumstances, if your companies are disposed to enter the service on the terms of this requisition, I have concluded to have you mustered by the Adjutant General into the service of this State, to meet said requisition, and inform Gen. Smith as early as possible that you are subject to his orders. In the meantime, until I can hear from Gen. Smith, I shall send two of your companies to the vicinity of Fort Worth, and the other three to the vicinity of Fredericksburg and Fort Mason, where you will be convenient to the points at which he proposed to employ those companies he requested for twelve months, so that you can reach those points in a few days if he wishes to continue you in service.

In adopting this course, I shall have to furnish you with ammunition, forage and subsistence in the best way I can, until I can hear from Genl. Smith. Should he refuse to receive you, I shall then, unless some pressing ~~em~~ emergency calls for your continuance on the frontier, discharge you immediately, and unless the Congress of the United States, at its next session, makes provision for your pay, I shall call upon the Legislature at its next meeting to do so.

Very respectfully
Ed Rusk

Proclamation.

By the Governor of Texas.

The custom of setting apart a day, near the close of Autumn, for Public Thanksgiving, is becoming in every people who acknowledge their dependence upon the author of their existence, and gratitude for benefits conferred would seem to make this time-honored custom peculiarly appropriate to the people of Texas. Ever since the organization of our government, its history shows that we have been the favorites of an overruling Providence. Our country, which but a few years since, was peopled by barbarous and savage tribes, has, by His providence, been wrested from their hands, and is now sustaining thousands of civilized and christian people. Then we were weak and oppressed; now we are in the enjoyment of strength and freedom. Then our rising generation were destitute of all the advantages of education; now the rays of knowledge are brightening every neighborhood of our state. Then religious instruction was unknown among us; now the elevating and ennobling truths of the Gospel are heard and felt in every region of the state.

In order that we may unite in making our acknowledgements to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, I recommend, that Thursday the 30 th. of the present month be observed throughout the state as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise; and I hereby invite the Clergy of the several religious denominations of this state, to meet their respective congregations on that day, in their several places of public worship, and express the gratitude of our people for the blessings which have been bestowed upon them, and invoke a continuance of the Divine favor upon our prosperous and happy state.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State, at Austin Texas, this the 2nd. day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand, eight hundred and fifty four, and of the Independence of the United States the Seventy Ninth, and of Texas the Nineteenth.

Edward Clark Secretary of State.

E M Pease

Austin, Texas, Nov 4th. 1854.

Sir.

I had the honor to receive, on the 25th. of October, 1854, your letter of the 9th. of Oct. written from "Head. Quarters Department of Texas, Painted Camps, on the Limpia," in which you request me to furnish to the Service of the United States, to aid in protecting the frontier from Indian invasion, six companies of the Militia of this State, to serve for three months unless sooner discharged, and if their services are longer necessary, to be mustered in again at the end of their first term of service. Nothing being said in the letter in regard to the time or place of mustering these companies, I supposed of course you expected they would be mustered by the officer whom you had designated to muster under your previous call for six companies for twelve months, and that you intended this request of the 9th. of Oct. to supersede your previous request of the 20th. of August. This supposition was strengthened by the fact, that you say in the same letter, you are instructed by the direction of the Secretary of War, that no power exists for calling forth the Militia, for a term as long as that proposed in your letter to me calling for six companies to be mustered into service for a year unless sooner discharged.

Imagine my surprise then, when on the 29th. of October I received by express from Corpus Christi, a copy of special orders No 124, dated Oct. 24, which state that, "In pursuance of instructions from the War Department dated the 9th. of Oct, the mustering into service of the Volunteers referred to first, in special orders No 105, of the 2nd of September, is postponed indefinitely." On the following morning, the 30th. of Oct. I called upon Col Waite, who had been appointed the Mustering Officer under special orders No 105, and who had just arrived in Lomy, showed him your request of the 9th. of Oct. and inquired if he had orders to muster the companies called for by it. He replied that he had not. That the orders under which he came here to muster, had been postponed indefinitely by special orders No 124, received by him since his arrival here, and that he knew nothing of your request of the 9th. of Oct. until I showed it to him.

You will readily perceive that his reply made my situation an embarrassing one. The volunteers that I had called out under your request of the 20th. of August for twelve months had begun to arrive here on the 28th. of Oct. and by the first of Nov. five full companies had assembled here, and I had information that the sixth company would probably be here in the course of a week. I was in suspension of your request of the 9th of Oct. asking for this number of companies. I knew by late information from the frontier that they were needed for its protection. Your request also stated that they were needed for that purpose, yet I had ~~I had~~ no directions from you in regard to how these companies were to be mustered. I felt certain that your request of the 9th. of Oct. could not have been known at Corpus Christi, when the Special Orders No. 124. of the 24th. Oct. were received, because that request only reached this place on the 25th. of Oct. and it would require a longer time for it to reach Corpus Christi. I could come to no other conclusion from this state of facts, but, that the reason why I had no directions in regard to mustering these companies, was because you was not aware of the instructions from the War Department of the 9th. of Oct. when you sent me your request of that date, and because the Asst. Adjt. General at Corpus Christi was not informed of your request of the 9th. of Oct. when he issued Special Orders No 124.

I therefore concluded that I would muster the five companies that had assembled here, into the service of the State to meet your requisition of the 9th. of Oct. and send two of them to the neighborhood of Fort Worth, and the other three to the neighborhood of Fredericksburg and Fort Mason, where they will be on the route to the points at which you proposed to employ the companies you first called for, so that they can reach these points in a few days if you decide to continue them in service.

I have adopted this course and made arrangements for supplying them until I can hear from you. The sixth company when it arrives will also be sent to the neighborhood of Fredericksburg.

You will please advise me, as early as convenient whether you intend to receive these companies under your requisition of the 9th. of Oct. as my present arrangements for supplying them are limited to forty days, before the expiration of which I hope to learn your determination. Should you decide to receive them, you can avail yourself of my arrangements for supplying them until you can perfect others of your own.

The companies are full, well mounted, armed and equipped, and as well prepared, in every way, for frontier service as any volunteers I ever saw.

I cannot believe that you will refuse to receive these companies, which have been called out by me in accordance with your request - a request issued by you strictly in conformity with law, and the discretion given to you by the Secretary of War in his order of the 19th. day of June 1854, particularly when you assign as the cause of that request, that you need them to aid in protecting the frontier from Indian invasion, and when two, it is notorious to every one conversant with our frontier posts, that neither of them has a garrison more than sufficient for its own protection, and that neither of them can spare for feild service, a force large enough to encounter the Indians with any prospect of success.

While writing this my attention has been called to the recent murder of McWilliams on the Medina, by a small party of Indians, who carried off one of his children into a captivity worse than death. This is but one of the many recent outrages committed by them, but this alone would justify the reception of these companies, and the employment of them until the perpetrators of the bloody deed are punished, and this helpless child is restored to her friends.

I have made arrangements with M. T. W. Johnson to supply you at this point with rations of subsistence and forage for fifteen days from the 11th Inst, by which time I expect you will be able to leave here.

Captain Boggess will designate a Clerk to act as assistant Commissary and Quarter-Master, who will receive from Mr. Johnson the fifteen days rations above spoken of and receipt for them.

The Commissary and Quarter-Master will attend to the transportation of these rations and will be charged with the responsibility of issuing them to the persons designated by the Captains of each Company, as they may be united on the route, and until they are expended, great care must be used in issuing rations, so as not to exceed, in any case, what is allowed by the regulations. These fifteen days rations will supply your Companies from the morning of the 11th to the evening of the 25th instant, before which day last named I expect you will have taken your position in the vicinity of Fort Worth. Cob M. T. Johnson has undertaken to employ some persons in the vicinity of that place to supply you with rations of subsistence and forage after the 25th instant. The Commissary and Quarter-Master will receive these rations, and the Stocks above described, viz that of the Swamp Iron Company, and that of the Mechanics Bank of Memphis, which were rejected by me, but accepted by the Treasurer of this State, are not a sufficient deposit under the law and contract before described.

1st Because they are not the description of Stocks that the law required to be deposited.

2nd Because they are not assigned and transferred in the manner required by the terms of said contract.

3rd Because, even if these Stocks could have been received under the law, I am not satisfied that they are good par Stocks, or that they are such Stocks as ought to have been accepted.

I therefore consider that it is my duty to declare, that the said contractors have failed to deposit with the Treasurer of this State, the sum of ten thousand dollars in gold or silver or evidences of debt of the State of Texas, or other good par Stocks, within sixty days after entering into said contract, as they were required to do by the 12th Section of said act, and the terms of their contract. That said contract is therefore null and void, and that I am authorized and required to enter another contract with any other company or individuals for the construction of said road under said act.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name, and caused to be affixed the Seal of the State, at Austin this the 8th day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty five, and of the Independence of the United States the seventy ninth and of Texas the ninth.

James A Raymond, Esq. Treasurer &c

Sir:

Your communication of the 6th inst. has just been handed to me, and lest some passages in it may evidence the impression that my position and opinions in regard to whose duty it was to accept or reject the deposit within the sixty days, have been different at different times, thereby embarrassing your action, I feel called on now to state explicitly what my position and those opinions have been.

I have neither sought, nor avoided the responsibility of deciding whether the deposit offered was a good one or not.

In August last, after the contract was arranged, and before it was signed, Messrs Walker and King exhibited to me the certificates of stock, and of deposit, as stated in my letter to you of the 30th of October, and told me they proposed offering them as the deposit, after examining those certificates with the evidence offered in regard to them, I returned the papers to them, told them they were not the description of stocks the law authorized to be deposited, and informed them what description of stock would be accepted by me.

Nothing further came before me, in regard to the deposit until the 20th of October, on which day you handed me three hundred thousand dollars of the preferred stock of the Sussex Iron Company of New Jersey, with a copy of its Charter and amendments, stating at the same time, that the contractors proposed to deposit that stock, you also said that evidences of its value would be furnished before the expiration of the sixty days, and that you intended, when those evidences arrived to transmit them to me.

On the 26th October, you handed me the certificate for two hundred and ninety-eight thousand dollars of the Mississippi Stock Stock of Memphis, with a statement of its condition, signed by the President, and what purported to be a copy of its Charter, all these papers I examined with care and returned them to you, on or before the 27th of October, and stated that in my opinion these stocks were insufficient to answer the purpose for which you stated they proposed to deposit them, but that I would cheerfully examine the evidence in regard to the value of the Sussex Iron Company stock when they arrived.

and give you my opinions on them also.

On the 28th of October, which was Saturday, you handed me the two thousand dollars of Newport State Stock, with the widows in regard to the value of the Sussex Iron Company Stock, and on the evening of that day, I returned them to you, and told you that with the exception of the New York State Stock, these stocks were insufficient for the deposit, at the same time I told you, I had observed that Messrs Walker & Young in their letter to you of the 14th of October, insisted that the acceptance or rejection of the stock, must be your act, and that I felt it to be my duty to say to you, that the matter was left over between Messrs Walker & Young and myself when they were here in August last, that they then contended for the same principle, that I held then I was disposed to think, that up to the expiration of the sixty days, you had the right, made the by, either to accept or reject the deposit that might be offered, by their without deciding that point, whenever any stock was presented to me, or whenever I was informed that any stock was presented to the Treasurer, I should give my opinion in regard to such stock without hesitation, and that even if the Treasurer accepted of a deposit, I clearly had the right, when the sixty days expired, to decide whether it was such a deposit as the law required, and I should exercise that right. I also, at the same time told you that I still entertained the same opinion I then expressed and that I still intended to pursue the course I then indicated. This was the first and only conversation I recollect ever to have had with you on this point, before the expiration of the sixty days, and it was voluntary on my part.

You then stated, you would forthwith address me a communication in writing, submitting the proposed deposit with the accompanying papers, to which I might reply and say whether the law had been complied with or not, and whatever my answer might be, it would be yours to the Company, I replied to you, that I had no objection to this course, and accordingly when I received on the morning of the 30th of October, your letter of the 28th, I immediately, on the same day, handed you my letter of the 30th, giving you my opinion at length in regard to said stocks, and my reasons for your of the 2nd and 4th inst., were written solely for the purpose of ascertaining what your action had been on the subject.

My position and opinions in regard to these matters have been freely communicated, whenever asked for, they were volunteered to you, and my actions have been strictly in accordance with them, so that if you or any other person, has misconceived them, no act of mine has contributed to produce that misconception

Had the legal and constitutional arguments contained in your letter, been addressed to me before your acceptance of the deposit, I should have felt it my duty, to controvert it, but no good, can result from my attempting it now

James S. Holmead Esq.
Dear Sir:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2nd instant, enclosing petitions from a member of the creditors of the late Republic of Texas, asking me to call an extra session of the Legislature to adopt such measures, in advance, as may be necessary to the final settlement of the revenue debt of the late Republic upon the terms indicated in the Senate bill passed July 21st 1854. and the report of the Finance Committee accompanying the same, and also letters on the subject from Secretaries Mechanic and Guitteras of Texas.

I have carefully considered these papers, but I cannot agree with the petitioners in the propriety of any action being taken by Texas in advance, upon a bill that has merely passed one branch of Congress, nor do I believe that any such action would result from convening the Legislature at this time, it would be composed of the same members, with very few exceptions as at the late regular session, and the subject is of this debt may before Congress, and was fully and freely discussed, but no disposition was manifested to depart from the policy heretofore pursued by the State in regard to it.

I am sincerely desirous to see this debt settled upon honorable principles, at an early day, and I believe this to be the sentiment of the people of this State, this desire on my first, would have induced me to call the Legislature together to act upon this bill if it had passed into a law at the late session of Congress.

The present situation of this debt is such as to promise a speedy settlement, indeed all the parties concerned are prepared to yield something of which they have heretofore contended for, it is therefore a fair subject for compromise and now such a proposition as that contained in the Senate bill, presented to the people of this State, I believe they would accede to it with some modifications and conditions, the most important of which would be that these creditors release Texas from all further claim, I believe they would do this, not because they think they justly owe these creditors any more than they have heretofore offered to pay them, but because they are willing to yield this much for the purpose of being released of this embarrassing question.

Dear Sir:

You are hereby authorized to contract with some persons in the vicinity of Fort Worth for supplying the companies of Captains Giles S. Roggen and Wm Fitzhugh with rations of vegetables and forage (excepting hay) while they are stationed in that vicinity, these Companies take with them full rations to last them until the evening of the 25th instant, from and after which time I shall rely upon your having them supplied with the rations allowed by the United States service, excepting hay, and excepting also whiskey in lieu of which last they may receive the value in extra rations of sugar and coffee

These companies have eighty-eight men in each including Officers, and also one Surgeon, making one hundred and seventy-seven men, and no rations will be furnished for more than that number. The Assistant Commissary and Quartermaster will receive their rations from the persons you may employ to furnish them, and will sign duplicate receipts for them in the form prescribed by the regulations of the United States service, as far as it can be done

It is not probable that I shall want these rations furnished for more than twenty days, after the 25th instant when they are to commence, as I expect, before that time to learn whether Genl Smith intends to receive them, but should they not hear from me before the expiration of those twenty days, then I shall want them to continue furnishing until they do hear from me, the parties will make arrangements for supplying two days rations at a time.

I wish you to contract for these rations to be furnished as low as it can be done with the understanding that if the United States do not pay for them before there is a meeting of our Legislature, I shall then recommend that the Legislature pay for them, and use whatever influence I possess to induce them to do it.

You are familiar with all the circumstances under which these companies have been received by me, and can inform the parties of the facts, and that there is hardly a probability of their having to wait longer than the meeting of the Legislature on Nov. next 1855. and a strong probability that they will be paid at an earlier day

To Captain Patrick H. Rogers,
Sir:

You will repair with your Company forthwith, to the vicinity of Fredericksburg and occupy a position near the encampment of Captains Walker, Henry & Travis, that is suited to the health and comfort of your men and await further orders from this office, with the understanding however, that as the means have of reliable information shall reach you of any outrages being committed by the Indians, at points where there is a prospect of your being able to intercept and chastise them, you will do so without waiting orders from this office, and if such a contingency occurs that you will immediately advise this office of it with details in relation thereto and of your proceedings in the premises. The four companies of which your is one will take rank as follows, Captain Walker first, Captain Henry second, Captain Travis third and yourself fourth. The senior officer present at the time, will direct all movements of the Companies under the orders issued herein and the other Captains.

I have made arrangements with Mr. S. H. Swenson to supply your Company per the enclosed, and it will be done by him, as well as the short time allowed for preparation and his means will permit.

When you arrive in the vicinity of the other other Companies you will report yourself to Captain Walker or to the senior Officer in Command, and will be supplied by the Assistant Commissary & Quartermaster in the same manner as directed for the other three Companies, great care must be used in observing rations as not to exceed, in any case, what is allowed by the regulations.

In all the details of service and in observing the subsistence and forage requisition, the regulations of the United States service will govern, this matter must be strictly attended to, in order to avoid trouble in the settlement of accounts hereafter.

I especially enjoin upon you that you prevent any irregularities on the part of any member of your Company, and that each and abstain from committing any depredations upon the persons or property of Citizens.

Whereas it has been made known to me, that at the Fall Term 1854, of the District Court of Caldwell County in said State, John Goldenburgen and Mariah L. Goldenburgen were convicted of living together in Fornication with each other, therefor in the sum of one hundred dollars each and that judgment was rendered against each of them for the amount of said fine besides the costs of the prosecution.

And whereas it has been represented to me by respectable citizens of said County, that the said parties are too poor to pay the said fines, that they are ignorant but peaceable and well disposed citizens conducting themselves well in society and that they intermarried long before the aforesaid conviction and are now harmoniously living in marriage.

Now therefore be it known that I. E. M. Pease Governor of the State, being satisfied of the truth of said representations, and believing that the said parties by their marriage before conviction, have made a sufficient atonement for their offence, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the constitution and laws of said State, do hereby remit the said fine of one hundred dollars against each of said prisoners, and upon the payment, by the parties, of all costs attending the said prosecution against them, the Clerk of the District Court of Caldwell County is authorized to make such entries upon the records of said Court, under its direction, as will give full effect to this remission of said fines.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name, and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State.

The State of Texas

Whereas it has been made known to me that at the Fall Term 1857 of the District Court of McLennan County in said State, Henry S. Warren was convicted of stealing a Cow of the value of ten dollars, the property of one David Norton, and that his punishment therefore was assessed by the jury at one year confinement to hard labor in the State Penitentiary.

And whereas affidavits have been exhibited to me, stating that the Cow for the stealing of which said Warren was convicted was in the brand of James Brown and claimed by him as his property for some year or more, when he sold her to said Warren, that said Warren then in possession of said Cow claiming her as his own for a year or more before he sold her, and also that said Brown stated that he had sold said Cow to said Warren, — and whereas it has been shown to me by affidavit that the said Warren's application for a certificate of said conviction unfortunately miscarried by his Attorney and he could not, in his inexperience, see the necessity of filing it [illegible] reason of which he was forced into a plea without obtaining the evidence of the persons whose affidavits are first herein named. — And whereas an examination of said affidavits in connection with a statement of the evidence given on the trial in which said Warren was convicted induces me to believe, that if the persons who gave these affidavits had testified on the trial, that said Warren would not have been acquitted

Now therefore be it known that I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State in view of these facts, do by virtue of the authority vested in me by the constitution and laws of said State, hereby grant to said Drury S. Warren a pardon for the offence of which he has been convicted aforesaid, and hereby direct the officer or officers who may have him in custody to release and discharge him from all further confinement.

This pardon is not to affect any liability against said Warren, for cost of the prosecution under which he was convicted but he will still remain bound for said cost as if this pardon had not been granted. — The Clerk of the District Court of McLennan County is authorized under the direction of said Court to make needed entries on his records as will give full effect to this pardon

In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State.

I am happy to inform you that I have received a letter from Genl Smith, dated the 15th inst at Corpus Christi, in which he informs me that "Col White is instructed to muster in the six Companies, (called out by me) for three months.

Three of the Companies to be sent to Fort Mason, and three to Fort Clark provided for expeditions against the Indians, who are considered most hostile",

I have since received a letter from Col Waite requesting that the two Companies now near Fort Worth, may be ordered to San Antonio as early as convenient, where they will be mustered into the service of the United States

You will therefore as soon as you receive this, take up the line of march with your Companies for San Antonio, coming by this place.

You will bring with you rations of provisions sufficient to subsist your companies from your present encampment until you reach this point, where you will be supplied for your march from here to San Antonio.

In my instructions to Col M. T. Johnson in regard to supplying you at your present encampment, after the 25th instant, I requested that his arrangements should be made for supplying you with five days rations of subsistence and forage at a time, if these instructions have been followed, then I expect when you receive this, you will have on hand at least half of the first five days rations, and you will request the contractor, who may have been employed by Col J. to furnish you enough rations of provisions, with what you may have on hand left over, to last your companies to this place, any case that may occur been delivered to you, which you cannot bring with you, you will refer to the contractor taking their receipts, stating that they have received it and will deliver it to the back [illegible] and account for the proceeds. One wagon went with you from this place, if it is still at your Camp, you will retain it for your service to this place, or if the bearer of this letter meets it on the road, he will turn it back for your use, but if it has left your Camp and the bearer does not meet it, keep your wagon employ another wagon, on the best terms you can, in case you cannot make the trip without such a wagon

To the contractor or contractors who may have been employed by Col. M. T. Johnson to furnish the companies of Captains Foggess and Fitzhugh under instructions given him from this Office or the Lieutenant.

Sir:

Orders go with this to Captain Foggess and Fitzhugh directing them to take up the line of march immediately with their Companies by the way of Seguin to San Antonio at which place they will be mustered into the Service of the United States for three months.

They will need rations of provisions sufficient, with what they may have on hand to supply their companies until they reach this place, you will be informed by Captain Hoggess, or whoever may be in command, what they require, and I hope you will be able to supply them. — I have directed Captain Hoggess if any corn has been delivered beyond what he may be able to take with him, to turn it over to you and take your receipt stating that you have received it and will dispose of it to the best advantage and account for the proceeds.

I wish you would as early as convenient, make up the accounts of what you have furnished these Companies & forward them to me with all the requisitions and receipts for the same, in form as near as you can to correspond with the regulations of the United States Service. — as I wish to forward them as early as possible to Washington City, where I have no doubt our Members will be able to obtain an appropriation for their payment, now that the volunteers have been received into the Service by the General in Command in this Department.

Company organized at the Town of Brenham in the County of Washington 100 miles from Austin, on the 18th day of October 1854. mustered at Austin on the 8th day of November 1854.

The relative rank of the Officers is according to the number given to their Companies, this rank however has no effect in regard to promotions, for under the laws of this State, all volunteers have the right to elect their own officers, and any vacancies must be filled by an election of the Company in which the vacancy happens.

The Medical Officer for the four Companies near Fredericksburg is Dr. John Work.

The Medical Officer for the two Companies near Fort Worth was Dr. Miller but I learn that he died since the Companies left here, and I have not learned who has been employed since, but I shall be able to inform you when those Companies return.

The two Companies near Fort Worth are Nos 1 and 4. Captains Scaggs and Fitzhugh.

The 4 Companies near Fredericksburg are Nos 2. 3-5 & 6. Captains Walker, Henry, Travis & Rogers.

I send you enclosed a statement of the Camp & Garrison equipage & ammunition furnished each Company, also a statement of the Medicines and Hospital Stores furnished, these will be all the articles of this character they will require for the three months, with the exception of a few more for Captain Rogers Company.— If there is no objection to such a course, I would like to have you take these articles for the United States.

I also had horse shoeing done for the companies to the amount specified in said Statement.

You do not state whether you wish to avail yourself of the rations of provisions, and the forage that I have provided for the four Companies at Fredericksburg to supply them until the close of the 18th of December, I would like you to take them if you can, at the price I have agreed to pay for them, otherwise I may suffer some loss on them, for they can all now either at Fredericksburg or on their way there. The rations cost forty five cents each and six tenths of a cent each, and a cent few fours for each fifty miles of transportation from the City of Houston.

For the corn I have to pay the actual cost thereof with the cost of hauling it to the Company wherever an addition of twenty per cent on the cost of the corn & handling, as a compensation to the contractor. I am satisfied he has bought the corn at a lower price than you will be able to buy, for he sent & purchased most of it before the companies went up there.

Maj Gillet the Adjutant General will send you by this mail copies of the muster-rolls which you can keep. I also send you enclosed, an order to the four companies at Fredericksburg and will send a like one with the other two Companies.

Very respectfully
your Obt. Servt.

Now therefore notice is hereby given, that proposals from companies or individuals, for the construction of said road in accordance with the provisions of said act and the laws of this State, will be received at the Office of the Secretary of State, of this State until the first day of May 1855.

Said proposals must specify the time at which the work shall commence, the number of miles to be finished and placed in running order within the first eighteen months after the contract is entered into, and each year thereafter, and at what time the entire road shall be completed, together with the amount proposed to be deposited in the Treasury of this State according to the provisions of said act, to be forfeited in case so much of the road shall not be completed within eighteen months from the time of entering into the contract.

Said proposals must be sealed and directed to the Secretary of State, Austin Texas, and endorsed "Proposals for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad." [illegible]

Sir: I have [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Official order R.S.1218 [illegible] Department [illegible] of Texas [illegible] office till [illegible] Jack Smith [illegible] to be [illegible] transcripts with these Officers and to [illegible] Washington. Soon after I left here, [illegible] correspondence between Jack Smith [illegible] relations to the Dig Companies of Disorded Texas that he requested me to furnish, to the defence of the frontier.

Upon such perusal, from these papers that Jack Smith, as soon as he returned from Washington, designated an Officer to muster the Dig Guard into the service of the United States, for three months, and they were finally mustered at Dig-Pheasant Prairie between the 15th and 25th of Dec.

Upon such perusal and upon a careful [illegible] the correspondence, that was [illegible] with the request of Jack Smith, I assembled Ranger Companies at Austin to be mustered in the 1st day of November, they arrived there on the 30th of October, but no United States officer was there to muster them, and owing to the absence of Capt. Smith from his Head Quarters, and the conflict between orders issued by him in his absence, and the orders of the Secy of War, they were not all mustered into the service of the United States until about the 25th of December, no provision was made by the officers of the United States, for subsisting, supplying or transporting these volunteers until they were mustered into service by them, consequently I had to supply them with every thing needed from the 30th of October until they were mustered, which was upwards of a month for all of the Companies, and nearly two months for some of them

I made contracts with individuals to do this on the best terms I could, on the credit of the State, having no money to pay the further I account to them that the State would ultimately pay them, and in this way the pressing emergency was met and appropriations for the purpose I would recommend and respectfully pray them at the next Session.

All of these expenses ought to be paid promptly by the United States, the troops were called here under the orders of the General Commanding this Department, and strictly in accordance with the instructions and directions given to him by the President, and this State is in no manner responsible for the delay that occurred in mustering them, that upon will appear by an examination of the orders and letters contemporaneous, and caused by the absence of Capt. Smith and the conflict between his orders and the orders of the War Department.

None of these accounts have yet been paid, they are made not against the State and officered by me, nothing was purchased but what was necessary for the health and comfort of the troops, for additions to their provisions and forage, tents and other Camp equipage and furniture, Medicine & Stores and horse shoeing &c &c to be accounted, an account of all these articles was delivered to the United States Officer who mustered the Corps, and the articles were examined by the troops when they were received into the United States service.

I have not yet been able to make up a complete statement of all the expenses incurred, but as far as I have ascertained them they may amount to, or exceed forty-four thousand dollars

I am satisfied that an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars will cover every thing.

May I ask of you to endeavor to obtain an appropriation from Congress to pay these expenses, as the Teachers may not in all cases conform to the regulations of the United States Service, and will be hard to be with the best paid officers.

Should this be granted, I think the expenses incurred by the Governor of the State of Texas, on account of said State, for organizing, outfitting, and keeping in the field the Corps of Texas Cavalry under the requisition of Brig. Gen. Pierce M. Butler issued on the 5th of July, 2nd of August and 9th of October last, pursuant to the time and conditions mentioned in the Treaty of the United States, should be paid to the Governor of Texas, or the new and duly qualified agent to whom the same are due; provided that no claim shall be made to the consideration of the Secretary of War of the amount of expenses thus incurred, and that the same may be necessary and proper for said Volunteers, and provided also that the amount of said expenses do not exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

Sec. 2. That the sum of two hundred thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay such expenses be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be taken out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

If this law can be passed in the form it will save much trouble to the parties who have furnished the articles, as the accounts will all be made up and approved by one auditor and forwarded all together with the receipts of the officers of the companies.

I presume the proper officers of the Government will see that an appropriation is made to pay the troops for their services from the time they were mustered into the service of the United States, but they are entitled to pay from the time they were assembled here to be mustered which was the 31st of Oct. and I wish you would see that an appropriation is made for that purpose, I shall be pleased to hear whether you can do anything on these subjects.

I wish you would show the copy of the correspondence with Genl Smith, to your colleagues of the House, and also to our Senators to whom I have written on the subject

Yours with respect
E M Pease

Austin Texas, Jany 8th 1855.

Hon: Thomas J. Rusk

Dear Sir:

May I ask of you to endeavor to obtain an appropriation from Congress, to pay the expenses incurred by me on account of the Mule, in organizing, subsisting, supplying and transporting the six Companies of mounted Volunteers called out by me under the requisitions of Brevet Maj. Genl Persifer F. Smith issued on the 29th of July, 20th of August and 9th of October 1854, previous to the time they were received and mustered into the service of the United States

Under the orders of Genl Smith these Troops were to have been mustered into the service of the United States up this place on the 1st of Nov 1854. but when they assembled here there was no Officer here to muster them, and they were not finally mustered until at different periods between the 5th and 25th of December, this delay in mustering them was caused by the absence of Genl Smith from his Head-Quarters, and a conflict between the orders issued by Genl Smith during his absence, and orders from the War Department, all of which will appear from an examination of the correspondence between Genl Smith and myself. Copies of which letters have been sent by me to Genl Scott when I was there in person

The failure on the part of Genl Scott to have them mustered as the time expired made it necessary that I should provide for and sustain these troops until they were mustered, which was afterwards for all the companies and nearly two months for three of them. I made arrangements with the individuals to supply these troops on the best terms I could on the credit of the State, because means to pay the troops. I received claim that unless the present Congress would make an appropriation for the purpose, I would be compelled to suspend payment at the next session. All of these expenses ought to be promptly paid by the United States, for they were incurred in the execution of the orders given to by the Adjutant General of this Department upon recommendation of the authorities and necessary for the protection of the frontier.

None of these expenses have yet been paid but the accounts are made out & required the State and approved by me. Nothing was purchased but what was necessary for the health and comfort of the troops. In addition to these provisions and forage, I had to procure tents and other camp equipage, medicines, Medical Stores and horse shoeing, accounts of these articles was delivered to the United States Officers who mustered the troops, and the articles were retained by the Troops when they were mustered into the Service of the United States.

I have not yet been able to make up a complete statement of all the expenses incurred, but so far as I have ascertained them, they amount to upwards of twenty-four thousand dollars, and I am certain that an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars will cover every thing.

As the troops may not in all cases conform to the regulations prescribed by the United States Service it will be best to have the law framed on this point.

Sect 2d Be it enacted &c. That the expenses incurred by the Governor of the State of Texas, on account of said State, in engaging, subsisting, supplying and transporting the six companies of mounted Volunteers, called into service under the requisitions of Brig. Gen. Persifer F. Smith issued on the 29th of July, 20th of August and 9th of October, previous to the time said companies were received and mustered into the service of the United States, shall be paid to the Governor of Texas, for the use and benefit of the parties to whom the same are due.

Provided that proof shall be made to the satisfaction of the Secretary of War of the amount of expenses thus incurred, and that the same were necessary and proper for said Volunteers, and Provided also, that the amount of said expenses do not exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

Sec. 2d. That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay said expenses be and the same is hereby appropriated for that purpose out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

I find that similar provisions to this were made for paying several State, the expenses incurred by them, during the Mexican War, if this bill is passed in this form, it will save much trouble to the parties who have furnished the supplies, as the accounts will be made up and approved by me, and can be forwarded all together with the certificates of the officers of the Commander.

I presume, from the proper Officer of the Government will see, that an appropriation is made to pay these troops, for their services from the time they were mustered into the service of the United States, but as the delay in ascertaining their exact pay no funds of theirs or of their State, they are entitled to pay from the time they were called here to be mustered, which was the 30th of Oct. and Novemb. you will see that an appropriation is made for that purpose I shall be pleased to learn of any thing can be done in relation to these matters

Very respectfully

I send you herewith a demand for the delivery of said Hyde to Mr Joseph J. Young who is appointed the agent on the part of this State to receive said Hyde and bring him here for trial.

I also send by Mr Young a requisition, (accompanied by affidavits which are certified to be authentic, charging said Hyde with the murder of Charles Butler in Harris County in this State in Feb. 1853.) for his surrender to Mr. Young as the agent of this State.

Mr Young is a responsible and respectable man, and may safely be entrusted with the duty of bringing Hyde to this State. This I am cert-aim of, or I should not have appointed him as he is the brother of the Mr Young who is supposed to have been killed by Hyde.

The State of Texas will pay the expenses of the arrest and imprisonment of Hyde whenever properly vouchers are presented to the Comptroller of this State, with authority to any one to receive the money.

Upon referring to the papers in this Office, I find here your demand for the surrender of Thorton; upon which I will cheerfully issue a warrant for his arrest, if you desire it, but I fear that if he were arrested, he would make his escape before an agent could reach here from your State. There is no jail in the county in which Indianola is situated, and it would be very difficult to keep him safely any length of time, unless there was some person present who felt an interest in his being detained.

Whereas on the 3rd. day of October 1854, at a District Court holden in and for the County of Bexar in said State, one Remigo Mojares was convicted of branding an unbranded blue calf the property of John. S. McClelland, and of altering the ear mark of a blue calf, the property of the said McClelland, and his punishment therefor was assessed by the jury at one dollar fine and ten lashes on his bare back; and whereas since the offences were committed, for which the said Mojares was convicted as aforesaid, the punishment for said offences has been changed, from a fine and whipping to a fine and imprisonment in the County jail; and whereas the punishment of whipping a free person is a relict of a past age that ought not to be enforced in this age of progress.

Now, Therefore, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws of said State, do hereby grant to the said Remigo Mojares a pardon for said offences whereof he was convicted as aforesaid, and hereby direct that all further proceedings under said conviction be suspended and that he be discharged therefrom.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.

Whereas George Swinneman was convicted at the Spring Term, in the year 1855, of the District Court of Fayette County in said State, for an assault with intent to kill Henry Hoshe, and was sentenced therefor to one years confinement to hard labor in the State Penitentiary, and whereas it has been made known to me by respectable citizens of said County that said Swinneman was convicted solely upon the testimony of said Hoshe, and that there is reason to believe that all the facts in relation to the commission of said offence were not correctly detailed on the trial to the jury; and whereas the District Attorney who prosecuted said Swinneman has accompanied to me that from what he witnessed at said trial, he thinks the said Swinneman is a proper object for executive clem

Now Therefore, I. E. M. Whereas at the Spring Term in the year 1857 of the District Court of Guadalupe County in said State one Solomon W. Brill was convicted for larceny of a steer, and his punishment was assessed by the jury at one year imprisonment to be served out in the State Penitentiary - and whereas an appeal was taken on the 11th day of May 1857 from said conviction to the Supreme Court of the State, and by a mistake of the Judge who presided at the trial for said offence, said Brill was set at liberty under a recognizance instead of being remanded to jail during the pendency of said appeal as the law required, by reason of which said appeal was dismissed from said Supreme Court without a hearing - and whereas an examination of the statement of facts proved on the trial of said Brill for said offence and an inspection of affidavits of persons taken since said trial, in relation to the circumstances under which said steer was taken and used by said Brill, render it very doubtful, to my mind whether said Brill would have been convicted of said Offence if he had had the benefit on his trial, of the testimony disclosed by said affidavits.

Now therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of said State I, E. M. Pease Governor thereof, do hereby grant to said Brill a pardon for said offence so far as relates to his confinement at hard labor in the State Penitentiary, but leaving him still liable for all the costs of the prosecution against him for the offence of which he was convicted as aforesaid, and this shall be sufficient authority for the District Court of Guadalupe County to release and discharge the said Brill from all further imprisonment under said conviction.

Hon: Jefferson Davis

Sir:

This will be handed to you by Mr. S. M. Swenson, who has an account amounting to the sum of $20969 42/100 for supplying the Volunteers of this State, called into the service of the United States under the requisitions of Genl. Persifer F. Smith of the 29th of July, 28th of August, and 9th of October 1854, previous to the time they were mustered into the service of the United States.

I send you with this certified copies of all the correspondence that passed between General Smith and the Officers acting under him on the one part, and myself on the other, in relation to these Volunteers, from which you will perceive that they were called to this place to be mustered into the service of the United States on the first day of November 1854. but from causes which will appear in said correspondence, they were not mustered by the United States at the time appointed, and I was forced to provide for them on the credit of the State, until they were finally mustered into the service of the United States, at different times between the 10th and 25th of December 1854.

Having no appropriation at my command, with which to furnish these Volunteers, I made a contract with Mr Swenson to furnish, on the credit of this State, such articles as I might require, and assured him that he should be paid, either by the Congress of the United States, or by this State at the next meeting of our Legislature. I send you with this a duplicate of said contract. The terms on which he furnished these articles were the best on which I could obtain them, and were very reasonable, considering that in addition to making the purchases and advancing his own means, he performed all the duties of Quarter-Master and Commissary, nor could I find any other person that would undertake the duty performed by him.

I have examined all his accounts and vouchers, which are sent with this, I find them all to be correct and have approved them; an inspection of these accounts will show, that the rate of the pay & furnished by him, with his Commission added, in order to show the United States have paid in this State, for the same articles during the past year, a statement of the Corps Equipage and all such articles as were not immediately consumed were furnished to the United States Officers who mustered the troops, and they were all taken with them into the service of the United States when mustered.

The State has not yet paid Mr. Swanson for these articles, because our Legislature has not met since the account was created, I wrote to Genl. Pickett one of our Senators in Congress, stating all the circumstances in relation to this and other accounts contracted for the same purpose, and requested him to have an appropriation made by Congress for their payment I send you with this an extract from my letter to Genl. Pickett and also a copy of his reply, stating that he added it to the civil and diplomatic bill, an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars, for the payment of these accounts.

I can see no impropriety in this account being paid by the United States directly to Mr. Swanson, out of the appropriation above named by Genl. Pickett, This State cannot with propriety present a claim for it against the United States, until she shall have first paid it to Mr. Swanson, and this cannot be done by her until the Legislature meets in November next. If this latter course was followed Mr. Swanson will not be able to obtain his pay for eight months or more which would be a serious inconvenience to him. His conduct in regard to this business has been so liberal that I am very desirous he should be paid at an early day

There are other accounts for expenses of these Volunteers, due to other persons, corresponding to between seven and five thousand dollars, but as the amount due to each individual is small, and the parties do not expect to get their pay until the meeting of the Legislature in November next, they have not yet presented them.

I beg that you will give these accounts of Mr. Swanson an attentive examination, and if they are to be paid before the appropriation that Genl. Pickett proposes, for Congress, it will greatly oblige Mr. Swanson, as well as myself, to do what is necessary to enable the accounts to be paid [illegible] be paid, Mr. Swanson [illegible] receive [illegible]

Whereas heretofore, towit, on the 11th day of November 1851 a Bond was executed in favor of the State of Texas for the sum of Eight Hundred dollars by Blake H. Thompson as principal, and James A. Thompson and Sequestus Fore as sureties, condtioned that the said Blake H. Thompson make his personal appearance at the District Court of the County of Travis in said State, to be held on the first monday in March 1852. then and there to answer an Indictment preferred against him by the Grand Jurors of said County of Travis for an assault with intent to kill and murder, then and there to abide the judgment of said Court and that he do not depart therefrom without leave. and whereas proceedings were subsequently had in said District Court of Travis County upon said bond, by which on the 13th day of September 1852. the said District Court rendered a judgment declaring said bond to be forfeited, and that the State of Texas have and recover of the said Blake H. Thompson and James A. Thompson and Sequestus Fore the sum of Eight Hundred dollars, the amount of said Bond, and that "scire facias" issue to each of them returnable to the Spring Term 1853. of said Court, commanding them then and there to show cause if any they can, why said judgment should not be made final against them. and whereas proceedings were subsequently had upon said judgment in said Court by which at the Fall Term of said Court in the year 1853. a judgment was rendered that the said scire facias be made the same is hereby dismissed, and that the said defendants go hence without any day from which last named judgment an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of this State, where the same is now pending, and whereas it has been made to appear to respectable citizens of Travis County, that the liability for judgment is fully recovered against Blake H. Thompson, with costs, will, but upon said James A. Thompson who is a brother of said Blake H. Thompson, that he has already suffered much on account of his brother's delinquencies, and is a worthy and estimable citizen and not able to pay the amount without injury to a defendant family.

Now therefore, in consideration of the premises, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby remit the forfeiture of said bond and the judgment rendered thereon, so far as they create or establish any liability against the said James A. Thompson and Augustus Fore for the amount of said bond and the judgment thereon, leaving the same in full force and effect against the said Ralph K. Thompson and also leaving the said James A. Thompson and Augustus Fore their liable for any costs accruing from said forfeiture and judgment in the manner as they were or might have been if this remission had not been granted

Now therefore, in view of all the facts and circumstances attending the offence, trial and imprisonment of said Friedman, I. E. M. Whereas, at the October Term in the year 1854, of the District Court of Hancock County in said State, one Albert Gehrke was convicted of the crime of Murder in the first degree, upon which conviction, judgment was rendered by said Court condemning said accused to death, and afterwards an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of said State by which said judgment was affirmed, and at a term of the Spring Term in the year 1855, of said District Court the said Gehrke was brought before said Court for Sentence under said judgment, when it was suggested that said accused was insane, whereupon the said Court caused a jury to be summoned and sworn on the following day to inquire whether said accused was insane or not, which jury having heard the evidence offered in his behalf, and having personally examined the said accused before said Court their verdict, that the accused was partially insane, but not sufficient to excuse him from the punishment of the law, whereupon the said Court proceeded and sentenced the said Gehrke to be hanged by the neck until he be dead, and ordered that execution of said sentence be made and done by the Sheriff of Hancock County on him the said Gehrke on Friday the 20th day of July 1855, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at such place in said County as may be selected by the Sheriff. Now whereas, respectable citizens of said County who have a knowledge of the language of the accused, and who by frequent and intimate intercourse with him have had an opportunity of becoming well acquainted with the condition of his mind, have represented to us, that they believe he was insane at the time of and previous to the commission of said offence, and that he is in their judgment, in their mind, not a proper object for punishment, for which reason they have presented an affidavit for a respite of the prisoner until a full and careful examination of his mental condition can be made by scientific Medical Men. Sir:

I enclose you a communication from the Hon. Wm E. Jones, which is taken from the State Times a news-paper published at this place giving an account of the murder of a worthy citizen in the upper part of Comal County on the Guadalupe River, by Indians; such acts of depredation committed by them in Texas Territory, Mr Jones is an old citizen of the State and as highly respected as any man we have among us. His statement is considered by his fellow citizens of Comal to be perfectly reliable.

The settlers are now moving in a section of the State where no United States troops are stationed, and where depredations have been frequently committed by the Indians during the last eight or ten months, who have no doubt murdered several settlers, I am informed there is such a feeling among the neighboring citizens that if the Indians shall again visit them, the citizens will not be responsible for the consequences that may follow. They will, such an occurrence, be considered a general war with all the Indians, and I fear such a war will be the result unless a force can be placed near enough to the market post above, to satisfy the Indians that such a force is sent to the security of the frontier from again from offending. I therefore request that you will if possible send a company of mounted men into that neighborhood for the protection to remain there as long as the public service will permit.

Executive Office

James H. Callahan Esq.re

Sir:

From reliable representations made to me by citizens residing on the Guadalupe river and its tributaries in Comal & Kerr Counties, and in the upper Blanco, I am well satisfied that a mounted force is necessary to protect those settlements from the thefts and murders to which they are constantly subjected by marauding bands of Indians, and since the United States Government has failed to notice those depredations or to furnish any force for the protection of these settlements, I have thought proper to authorize one, and do hereby authorize you to raise a Company of Mounted men to serve three months unless sooner discharged. The Company must not exceed in number that of a Mounted Company in the United States Service, which is composed of one Captain, one first Lieut, one second Lieut, four Sergeants, four Corporals, one farrier, two Buglers and seventy four privates, should you not succeed in raising a full Company of privates, officers can be elected only in proportion to the number of men.

There are no means at the disposition of the Executive to furnish this Company, ammunition, clothing, subsistence or forage, and this authority is given with the understanding that this Company can be made up of resolute men who are able and willing to supply themselves with all these articles, and rely upon the justice of our Legislature to reimburse them at the proper time for their services. The usual allowance is allowed in the United States service, viz. [illegible]

Should you succeed in raising such a Company or a part of a Company you will forthwith return to this office a Complete muster roll thereof, and report circumstantially to such point in the vicinity of the above named settlements, as might enable you to give most protection against the Indians. It is expected that you will be attended with expense in carrying on this service, which it may be necessary to pay immediately, and I am confident you will have no difficulty in obtaining the necessary supplies in the neighborhood, in which case you are authorized to call upon them and charge them wherever they may be found.

I rely with confidence upon your good judgment & prudence to avoid altercation and difficulties with our peaceably disposed & quiet citizens, knowing that on a general Government has with all the civil & military on our frontier, which would be very detrimental for a season, to our upward settlements.

I suppose you will find it very difficult to prevent your battalion from committing some outrages upon the property of citizens.

frequent representations on the subject, to the commanding General of this Department, and to the Secretary of War. Since I authorized Captain Callahan to enlist a company of Volunteers for the protection of the settlements on the Guadalupe and in Gillespie, I have received a letter from Capt Smith, dated the 12 inst in which he says he will send a party of Texan Rangers to the neighborhood where the recent depredations were committed as soon as the Commands of Major Simonton return from the party he is now engaged on. In the mean time I will direct Captain Callahan to station a part of his company, as soon as it is raised, at such points as will enable them to give protection to the settlements of Kerr and Medina Counties, should they not prove sufficient to give security to the settlers, I will not hesitate to carry out other arrangements.

Dear Sir

Since I issued authority to you to raise a company of volunteers for the protection of the Citizens residing on the Guadalupe River and the Frontiers of Comal and Kerr Counties, I have received from the Citizens of Kerr County a requisition asking for a mounted volunteer force for the protection of the frontier settlements in Kerr and Medina Counties which have been lately harassed by the depredations of the Indians.

I have now received a letter from Major Simonton, in which he says that he will soon send a party of Texan Rangers to the neighborhood where the recent depredations have been committed.

This information has induced me to think that a smaller force will answer the present emergency [illegible] Government, it will be better for the General to decide upon Government land. since other Citizens who were out hunting cattle, but they made their escape. They also stole horses from several other farms on the Cibolo, at different points for 20 or 25 miles above Wm McGhee's, several small parties have been in pursuit of these Indians, some of which are still out and I must wait to come up with them.

I know not precisely what course to recommend to stop these depredations, but unless something is done speedily the settlements on the streams above and West of this place will have to break up. Horses have been stolen within this last month, from several Ranches within 15 or 20 miles of this Town, and there is no doubt, that in every instance, it is done by Indians. It does seem to me, that six or two Companies of Mounted men might be stationed in Bexar, Gillespie, Travis or Williamson at different places near the settlement, from the head of the Colorado down to the Lower Bend. Here, and perhaps below Here on the Nueces, would be interest these small parties of Indians who come in these outrages. The Company under the command of Captain Cutchaw, which I called out a few weeks since, and stationed near the head of the Guadalupe and San Saba, have put a stop to the depredations which the Indians were committing in those neighborhoods previous to their arrival in the frontier. My situation in regard to these matters is a very embarrassing one, our Citizens are entitled to protection from the General Government, but not receiving it, they appeal to the State authorities. There is great danger, if I can rely on what I hear, that if anything is done by the General Government to remedy the Indians, it is something to interfere with the efforts now making by the General Government to settle the Texan Indians on the upper Trozos.

Although if I could have a consultation with you on this subject, some plan might be devised to give protection to the frontier settlements of this and the adjoining counties, and if agreeable to you, I will meet you at Austin, wherever that may be, if you will inform me what time you expect to return.

I have gone to the trouble to return here myself in order to give you a correct idea, that you could decide on something or two of importance from consulting, to wait from the Seat of Government to be ready of the other this will in consequence be the reason why I have not sent the Texan Indians, now having at present whom we have to remove by order, and instead I am to

Your letter of the 11th inst. giving an account of the depredations recently committed in Uvalde by the Indians, and containing the proceedings of a Public meeting of the Citizens of that place was received at Leakey on the 3rd inst. Supposing Capt. Smith was still at that place, I came immediately here with the view of meeting him and introducing him to adopt measures to prevent a recurrence of similar proceedings; not being able to find him on my arrival, I must beg your pardon if my express, detailing the recent Murders and Thefts committed by the Indians, appeared rather too to be disrespectful. Such portion of our Citizens as will be capable of protection against further attacks of the Indians.

I expect to get a supply for about five weeks, and intend to prevent a recurrence that I hope a force will be soon formed. I shall consider it due my duty to call out a Company of Volunteers to protect the lives and property of our frontier Citizens, until the Legislature shall be assembled, and take such other steps as may be deemed necessary to settle the Indian question.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th inst. inclosing the proceedings of a Public meeting, and a petition of Citizens of Gabino County, giving a details of depredations recently committed in your vicinity by Indians and asking me to authorize the raising of a Company of Rangers for your protection.

Previous to the receipt of these papers I had been informed of most of the facts detailed in your petition, and had requested Capt. Smith to place a sufficient mounted force in the line of the Texans, to range from the Neighborhood of Fort Croll up to the head of the Llano and I have just received information from him that he has ordered 3 Companies of mounted Riflemen to perform that service. These troops I trust will prove sufficient to give security against further incursions of Indians into your County; if they do not, I will endeavor to have additional troops ordered to that portion of our frontier, and if I cannot succeed in this, I will then consider it to be my duty to call out volunteers to act under the authority of this State.

Sir:

I have just received an affidavit & letter from Col Harden an officer in Col Johnson's Regiment dated Jefferson Barracks Sept. 29th 1883, in which he says "Instructions have been received that the 2nd Regiment Cavalry will go to Texas, but up to this date not a wagon, to my knowledge, has been provided for our transportation. At the rate it has seemed to have begun, I would not be surprised if we were ordered to join Genl Pierce, considered entirely doubtful if we get in Texas this fall or winter. Col Johnson & I are both absent and I am in command of the Regiment."

It seems therefore that there is much uncertainty whether the Regiment of Col Johnson will be here this year, and as the present exposed situation of our frontier lines is, to be attacked at any moments by the Indians and Banditti from the other side of the Rio Grande, prudence seems to require that an additional Mounted force shall at once be called into the field, such is the opinion of the Citizens residing on our Western frontier, and I think that opinion well founded

I make these suggestions to you because I think such a force is now needed in the field, and because I believe if you were to call on me for such a force from the Volunteers of this State, it would supersede the unauthorized movement of armed men that seems to be now making in the Western part of this State, and bring the whole matter growing out of the late expedition of Capt. Callahan entirely under your control.

Will you favor me with your views on this subject as early as convenient.

Dear Sir:

Capt Callahan's company of State rangers, to you, as they were directed, since his arrival, you are authorized to assume their control & service. I think you an interest in this service for your to do so, as a copy of the inclosed from Adjt Genl Office, and I shall not fail to report to the Legislature upon the occasion.

Inclosed Capt Callahan to report to you a statement of his expenditures which he represents he has incurred in subsisting his of Texas, for whose debts the revenues of that Republic were pledged, to be apportioned pro rata among them.

A copy of this act is herewith submitted for your consideration. It is not to take effect, as you will perceive, until it shall be assented to by you; nor until you shall have received and abandoning all claims and demands against the United States growing out of Indian depredations or otherwise.

The question of the acceptance or rejection of this act, was submitted to the electors of this State at the late election, when but 28,237 out of about 45,000 who voted at that election, felt interested enough in the subject to vote upon it; of these 17,693 were for its acceptance and 10,544 were for its rejection; under the circumstances, I do not consider the action of this State any test of the opinion of the people of the State upon the merits of the act, and do not think it should exercise any influence upon your action in regard to it.

The Act provides for the payment of all the debts of the late Republic of Texas which has not heretofore been paid at the proper Treasury, and will pay to each creditor about twenty-eight cents on the dollar of the ascertained value of his claim on the first day of July, 1850, as ascertained by commissioners.

In deciding upon the acceptance or rejection of this act, it should be borne in mind, that any final settlement of the debt embraced in its provisions must be made by the United States, the Creditors and Texas.

Texas does not question the terms on which it is to be settled, for she has already, by her previous legislation, assented that the United States shall retain the five millions of dollars paid to her by the act of Congress of the 9th of September, 1850, and that the creditors, for whose debts, the debts of the late Republic of Texas are pledged, shall receive the Treasury of the United States in payment of all claim against the Government of Texas, in the amount of these debts, which shall be ascertained to the Secretary of the Treasury by the President of the United States.

It is unnecessary to say, in this connection, that the Secretary of the Treasury is officer of the Government, responsible to the President, and that the decision of the Secretary of the Treasury must be based on the evidence produced before the late Republic of Texas, which shall satisfy the Secretary of the Treasury of the amount of the debt, which should be paid out of the Treasury of the United States, before any portion of the money can be claimed

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] This is a circumstance which the great importance of having the Cherokees attached to our Government, appears to me worthy of our consideration.

It is to my mind, in relation to their case, an established and acknowledged principle, that Governments regulate the Internal affairs and concerns of Indian nations or tribes.

These citizens of a sovereign state, have in a deplorable situation on the part of the United States, to pay an the expenses incurred by the Republic of Texas in defending herself against Indian tribes belonging to the United States.

These expenses were paid by the citizens of Texas, which now constitutes a large part of their very debts.

It is not probable that we shall ever receive any thing from Texas, except in the manner proposed; they are of long standing & have been severally urged upon the United States on his excellency, Genl Houston and repeatedly refused. Texas believes to urge their claims upon the Congress of the United States, and authorizing him to accept in a specie any compromise that might be made in the final adjustment of the claim, subject to rejection by the Congress.

These citizens are instrumental in getting their property restored, spared, & in case of settlement of the claim, in the contract with the Government of their property taken by the United States in the late war with Mexico.

These citizens, with a view of their protection, would be willing, I know, to accept of this offer. The State of Texas will be driven down, and it is to be apprehended by outlawed Indian tribes, & perhaps by civilized tribes. I therefore, recommend the passage of such a law as will give authority, consistently with the rights of Texas, & the interest of the United States, to the President, such discretion as shall enable him to give the citizens of Texas, who are now in the Cherokee country, such protection as may be necessary, & to make such arrangements as may be deemed necessary for the protection of the citizens of Texas, & the Indians, & for the removal of the Cherokees, & other Indians, who may be found in the Texas territory, & for the protection of the Texas citizens these officers for about eight years.

But these bounties have not been received as the commissioners for our relief intended at the eight shillings and, consequently, even a portion of the revenue appropriated by our resolution, might not be expended for temporary purposes; they might rather be invested and used for objects of public utility, permanently in their organization.

The minority report, adopted in relinquishing the State tax to the towns, has recommended that the divide between State and Towns. These members which have made a positive error of this tax are now supplied with their bounties, made their revenue even to larger the amount.

I am opposed to any further relinquishment of the State tax to the towns, and I think it that it should be relied to do so on the ordinary expenses of the Government; their causes are probably to be ascertained in the expense, for which I am sorry for the support of a government which [illegible] from the people, it must be procured. Yet they are more entitled to protection and encouragement, and to bear their proportion to more equal accountability.

If we must [illegible] these assessments, we must otherwise [illegible] to be [illegible] the methods adopted for [illegible] for the years 1802 and 1803, and [illegible] for the [illegible] for the year 1806, in the [illegible] for that year, [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible].

Other [illegible] is recorded to the annual report of the State Treasurer and Commissioners of Common Schools, for the years 1802 and 1803, which is recommended herewith.

It will be seen from these reports, that very few of the County Officers have [illegible] the School Fund, have performed their [illegible] duties. This neglect of these officers has [illegible] impossible for the Treasurer to keep an [illegible] the laws of the State and [illegible] reports. He has, however, [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] of the laws, by [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

The number of children in the State between the ages of six and eighteen years as ascertained by the reports of the Assessors and Collectors who have made returns for the year 1803, and by the estimate of the Treasurer for those counties that have failed to make returns, is 60,180; and [illegible] this division of the fund gives for such purposes are dollar and fifty cents.

The School Fund has proved to be defective in its details and entirely inconsistent with our institutions. I was not satisfied with its adoption, but gave it my support because it needed a liberal fund, and it appeared to be generally hoped for the establishment of Schools.

There appears also that not prior to this session have organized and established schools as required by this law, in most of the townships in Sparta only scattered over a great extent of territory, present a small number of children, for a number of years, [illegible] Schools [illegible] a large portion of Schools [illegible] doubt [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] accounts [illegible]

It also is not a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

I recommend that the residue be also invested in like manner, that the whole be added to the two million School fund, and that hereafter this fund, together with the income of funds, be annually distributed as directed by the School Law.

By this means, the annual amounts applied by the State for the support of schools, will be about or hundred and twenty thousand dollars, which will be gradually increasing as our revenue from population increases.

The School fund may be greatly increased by a judicious use of the four leagues of lands that have heretofore been granted in each County of the State for public Schools.

It is questionable whether these lands will ever be completely in such goods, if they are allowed to remain in the possession of the Counties, for it from information furnished by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, that but 954,181 acres, of the 1,753,488, to which the Twenty-Five Counties of the State are entitled, have yet been selected. Forty one Counties only have selected their full amount, twenty have selected 327,989 acres of the 354,000, to which they are entitled, and thirty-eight have made no selections, so that 799,307 acres yet remain to be selected. Fifteen of the Counties which have made no selections were organized in 1846 or previous to that time, six were organized in 1848 and thirteen were organized at different periods between the years 1850 and 1857.

It is reasonable to expect that those who have neglected, for so long a period, to avail themselves of these bounties of land, will not hereafter manage them with that care and attention that will be required to realize their full value.

It is unfortunate that these lands were not, at first, set apart to be managed by the State Treasurer, as a general fund for the common benefit of all the Counties, for they would have been selected long since, in portions of the State where their value would have greatly increased by the Public improvements made.

They could without doubt, be much better managed by the State than by the Counties, for they could be placed under the control of a single officer, whose special duty it would be to superintend them, attend to their Sales and Sale, whenever it might be thought advisable to bring into market, and to invest their proceeds, instead of being under the management of the officers of Ninety-nine different Counties, who are too remote from the lands [illegible] occupied with official duties to your minds other than those.

It will be found that [illegible] State gift [illegible] which have returned [illegible] years [illegible] by the General Government for schools, and [illegible] the general fund for the whole State, [illegible] more benefit from it than other [illegible] people. [illegible] control of the different boundaries [illegible] separate.

I suggest for your consideration whether it [illegible] not be well to propose [illegible] dictions, determined on [illegible] grant [illegible] in the State to be [illegible] the benefit of all the Counties, and [illegible] home, under the direction of the Legislature, or at least a minimum price after [illegible] been published [illegible] of [illegible] should be added to [illegible] the income thereof to be applied to the same purposes as the [illegible] to be [illegible].

If this [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] should be well [illegible].

It will also be [illegible] that [illegible] Secretary to that [illegible] and [illegible] that the Counties should be [illegible] lands [illegible] of the best [illegible] applicable for the support of schools.

If the adoption of either of these [illegible] the present [illegible] of the Constitution, which only authorize them to [illegible] for [illegible] years, they are [illegible] in the purposes which they were granted, because [illegible] lands is so [illegible] [illegible] not be leased for so short a period, [illegible] any revenue.

I invite your attention to the importance of establishing a State University, which shall afford to our youth all those opportunities for obtaining a liberal education, that are to be found in any part of the Union.

The cause of religion has rightly [illegible] of educating our children within the reach of parental care and, where they can daily witness the practical operation of our government, the institutions and laws, and become patriotic citizens, inhabits and sympathizers of the people with whom the lot is destined to associate in after life.

To secure these advantages is worthy of an effort on the part of the State, and I recommend that the sum of three hundred thousand dollars of the United States bonds, owning our State, be appropriated as a permanent fund, to be increased by the proceeds of the general sale of the University lands, at not less than a minimum price, after they shall have been subdivided into small tracts, and that the income of this fund be applied to the erection and support of schools and institutions.

This will be sufficient for a few years to erect the necessary buildings, employ competent teachers, and, when the institutions are established, and, then the institutions on a sure basis for future prosperity, it will be sufficient.

While upon this subject, it is proper I should inform you that a portion of the University lands have not yet been selected, and I suggest that a sufficient appropriation should be made to pay the expense of selecting and securing them.

I deem it my duty to call your attention to the necessity of establishing a hospital for disabled soldiers. If we had such an institution in our midst, where those who afflicted with disease, could be promptly placed under the care of persons skilled in the nature and treatment of their ailments, a large proportion of cases of permanent disability might be restored to health, and the condition of all greatly alleviated.

We also need an institution for the education of the deaf, dumb and blind, where these unfortunate classes may be taught their duties and responsibilities as citizens, and become useful members of society.

Institutions of this character are necessary and necessary, but they cannot be founded and sustained without the aid and patronage of the State.

I therefore recommend that two hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the Illinois State bonds, now in the Treasury, be appropriated as a permanent fund for the erection and support of a suitable hospital, and a like amount be appropriated for the same purpose for the deaf, dumb and blind, and that the Legislature make such other appropriations as may be necessary for the erection of these institutions and to secure their usefulness of them, when completed.

As a part of a great national highway from the Mississippi to the Pacific ocean, it is probable that the liberal grants of land offered by this law, would secure its construction. Similar land grants were offered for the construction of a road from the Mississippi river to the point of commencement, and also for the continuation from El Paso to the Pacific ocean. But as there is a good road from the eastern line of the State to El Paso it would not prove to be a profitable work during the present generation.

A road from the Colorado river this road would place through a region that contains, in a few years, materials sufficient for construction and travel to make it a paying road, but contains no road. Still here also concluded from the Mississippi river to the point of commencement, the uncertainty and expense that would attend the transportation of the iron and other materials to the point of commencement would be so great as to deter any company from undertaking even this part of it.

It is probable that a company may be found who will undertake the construction of this portion, provided they are allowed to run a road over the same route from the point of permanent navigation on the waters of some of our bays, up to the line upon which it is proposed that the Pacific road shall run, and then back to the eastern line of the State and direct to the Colorado river.

This change would make the commerce serving to the coast, for the transportation of materials, for they could be brought to the point of commencement with the same facility that they could be carried to the Mississippi river, and from thence they could be transported over the road as it progresses, at an inconsiderable cost.

It will be found, however that it cannot be construed at the rate of one hundred miles for each year; for if any roads in the United States have been constructed at the rate of fifty miles a year, and it will severely try the energies of any company, whatever may be their resources, to construct a road at that rate.

These suggestions will suggest themselves to every one who takes a fair view of the subject, and should be considered by you in determining upon a course of legislation in regard to it.

The friends of a practicable road will urge our legislation in regard to railroads generally.

We have chartered thirty-seven railroad companies, and have held out greater inducements, for their construction than were ever before offered by any government.

shall amount to one hundred thousand dollars, let the Commissioners be authorized to call a meeting of the subscribers and hold an election for officers; after which the subscribers should become a corporation with all such powers as are set forth in the charter. The commissioners should have no right conferred by the charter, except as trustees, for the benefit of the subscribers when they organize and become a corporation, and should be liable to a heavy penalty for receiving subscriptions of stock without the payment of five per cent thereof in cash. The corporation thus organized should have authority from time to time to receive further subscriptions to the capital stock, to the full amount thereof, after giving public notice, the subscribers in all cases paying five per cent of their stock at the time of subscribing.

In pursuance this course, our railroad charters will soon be offered for sale by individuals who have obtained them for purposes of speculation. Those who wish to see such railroads will obtain charters without hesitating a moment to the persons who have undertaken the responsibility to pass them, and we shall have no more corporations organized without to impose upon the credulous and unwary, and stand in the way of those who have the responsibility and means to construct railroads.

While in substance the recommendations under the future contemplated approach by the State for the encouragement of railroads, it becomes to consider such [illegible] as appears to be most in accordance with a condition and a specific policy.

The Greenwich Aqueduct, Bangor and Orono Road, [illegible] completed themselves for at Greenwich during the present year. The Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. or Delaware Company, and the Schuylkill Navigation and Mauch Chunk Company appear to complete between twenty-five and thirty miles made by the 30th of January, 1836, and to develop the mines of Pennsylvania and the mills.

These companies will shortly be enabled to contribute [illegible] the wealth of twenty-five millions a year or less than the epoch of the Bank of England. If they point to the Hill, the Pennsylvania Canal and the Pennsylvania Railroad, we will show the dividends of the Bank of England, but the latter be secure and this, will leave the conclusion [illegible] to the [illegible] to see which is.

The amount deducted from thirty-one and a half millions, the estimated sum to be realized from our public domain in the next fifteen years, would leave five million and nine hundred thousand dollars, which could be applied to the improvement of our navigable rivers, cutting canals to connect all the bays and water courses along our coast, from the Sabine to the Rio Grande and to any other objects of public utility.

This system, to be successful, must be made the foundation of future of the State and incorporated into our Constitution so as to be placed beyond the reach of change by legislators.

The routes over which railroads are to be constructed — the rivers whose navigation is to be improved and the canals which are to be made, must be specified — the lands must be set apart as our Internal Improvement fund — the time and manner of their survey and sale must be fixed — the Internal Improvement Bay must be created — provision must be made that the credit of the State shall never be used to any one work beyond what the internal improvement bay and the net earnings of the public works will pay the interest of — and the works specified shall all be carried on simultaneously until their final completion — all this must be done by a constitutional provision — otherwise, it is possible, future legislators may render public other works before those designated shall have been completed, or may neglect and attempt with the progress of the works, and endeavor to hasten their completion by an increase of taxation, so as to make it oppressive, or by the use of State credit beyond the means provided for sustaining it, and thereby defeat the whole system.

Under this system, the improvements will progress from its completion, simultaneously with the increase of the population and wealth of the State. Each mile of water-course will increase the value of the public lands and of individual property, and the ability of the State to pay — and thus the system will increase in the same ratio.

Such a system can never become oppressive, and the restrictions proposed to cause it can never stand, since are stronger more than the internal improvements bay. This will be light compared with the direct benefit. Our infant State and Bonny Bay, including this, will be but thirty-seven and a half cents per annum, equal to three mills and seven and a half cents of a mill on the dollar, which is hardly felt in the treasury of the State of the Union.

were worth three dollars will pay four mills and a half mills upon all such property, the same rate of tax and price, pay seven dollars and six cents upon a section of land.

Now each acre of this land pays five mills and five eighths of a mill towards the State and County purposes, but when the above increased value is given to it by a macadamized road, the same rate of money produced by the present tax of twenty-five mills tax on the hundred dollars, may be raised by a tax of one eighth on the hundred dollars, or less than a fifth part of a mill on the dollar on each acre of this land, supposed taken into the tax, one half and two mills towards this improvement. A property worth ten dollars will then pay eight mills; each acre worth six dollars will then pay four mills and eight tenths of a mill, and each acre worth three dollars will then pay two mills and four tenths of a mill.

This example clearly demonstrates that a general tax for internal improvements to operate equally upon all its property must be in proportion to the benefits conferred.

The present system of making donations of land to railroads is not the most equal way of operation. Thus this contribution by a general tax for those sections of the State only, where the population and business promises to make such roads a profitable investment of capital, can avail them. Values of these donations, while under a general system by the State, the tax by sections of road will contribute towards the construction and support of roads in those sections where they will not pay a profit, and then they will be lended to portions of the State, where they would not be constructed for many years to come, by private capital.

The State may well afford to carry out a general system of internal improvements as their manner now exists the aggregate tax, never, may prove, since the cost of their repairs and of operating them for the State is compensated by the increase of its population, and the increased value of its taxable property, which considered to be great enough.

One of the great advantages that our citizens will derive from the many work of internal improvements constructed and owned by the State, will be, that instead of keeping the price of transportation and travel at exorbitant rates as will make these sources of profit as much so as if they were owned by corporations, the State may afford to charge, rates as these rates do the expense of repairs, operations and keeping in repair.

improvements, requiring an expenditure of twenty-five or thirty millions of dollars, is too great an undertaking for a State containing three or four hundred thousand inhabitants, but they should recollect that only a small portion of this expenditure is to be made immediately, that it is to be extended over a period of years, before expiration of which our population, under the influence that such a system will give to immigration, will have increased to at least one and a half millions; and that we have a public domain, such as no State or Territory before possessed, which will be trebled in value by these improvements, and will be more than sufficient to set this large expenditure.

They may also think that fifteen years is a long period to wait for the permanent benefits of this great system of internal improvements, which is to produce these great results, but they should also recollect that few great enterprises are ever completed during the age of those who commenced them.

Our population of three millions is a small one compared with the power and resources of this great, wide extended commonwealth, whose agricultural and mineral wealth has been partly developed; and fifteen years is but a short period in our history.

Those who legislate for such a State, should think and act, not only for the present moment, but for posterity, whose lot will be influenced by our measures, whose wants we can only dimly see, and whose rights we are sworn to protect as a sacred and inviolable trust.

We, too, are guardians of a noble heritage, bequeathed to us by our forefathers, to be transmitted to our posterity. When we shall have entirely passed from the scene, our heirs, secured in our inheritance, and possessing the means of improvement, will, as we hope, be the happy people to whom our posterity will look back, as we look back to our forefathers, and say that we were the pioneers who first explored the way, and laid the foundation of their prosperity and greatness. Let us, then, be worthy of our ancestors, and so labor that posterity shall say of us, that we were not unmindful of our trust, but that we so improved our inheritance, that we have left it, with increased value, to our children.

I have dwelt upon this subject at length, because my views in regard to it have been misrepresented only, and misunderstood by others, and I feel that it was my duty to do so myself, to place them properly before you and the people of the State.

Neither of these, nor any other system of internal improvements should be undertaken, requiring an expendi[illegible] of money by the State, which [illegible] be supplied by taxation, until it has first been authorized by and received the sanction of the people.

Nor do I think that such expenditures should be commenced, or bills and letters of credit be adopted, because it is found to be convenient to legislation.

The use of the credit of the State on certain of the modes here proposed, will require an amendment of our Constitution. This, I believe, is the only [illegible] for that purpose, [illegible] to be [illegible] by the people. I should be [illegible] to see a convention called for the vote of the people and [illegible] in the [illegible] manner.

[illegible] I [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the State [illegible] of the State [illegible] property [illegible].

In October we held in the [illegible] Homestead Bequest [illegible] in each County of the State in accordance with the [illegible] of "An act regulating and licensing the sale of Spirituous Liquors," [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] pass what is commonly called a prohibitory liquor law, such as been tried in many of the Northern States.

While I do not question the constitutional power of the Legislature to enact a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in this State, except so far as their sale may be authorized by importers under the laws of the United States I feel constrained to say that I believe such a law would be impolitic.

A close observation of the operations of such laws and their effects upon society and upon the evil which they propose to remedy, has produced the conviction with me, that their influence is anything but salutary.

Although called prohibitory, none of them do entirely prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors. They all proceed upon the principle, that their sale for some purposes is necessary, and all authorize their sale, for mechanical, medicinal and sacramental purposes.

While a sale of liquors is allowed for any purpose it is extremely difficult to confine it to the purposes specified, and it is impossible to do this, it has been found necessary to establish and encourage a system of espionage into the affairs of individuals inconsistent with the proper enjoyment of personal liberty, and a system of harsh and unusual penalties and punishment entirely disproportioned to the offence committed.

Even these extraordinary means have failed to stop the use of intoxicating liquors, or to prevent intoxication, if we may judge by the records of the criminal courts of those States where such laws are in force.

I do not believe that such laws cause or generally diminish in this State. That I think is one of the evils caused by the use of intoxicating liquors in an unprovoked sense of prudence and regulating their sale.

Based upon these and other considerations, I have never publicly [illegible] my opinions in favor of temperance societies, [illegible] the agency, and the several other [illegible] in their use.

It is their opposition to such societies, that caused most of the personal remonstrances which I received on my tour, in [illegible].

other parties, who are numerous, but whose several claims are small, have not yet been paid. The appropriation is ample to cover them, but they have delayed sending them to Washington City for payment, on account of the trouble and expense that would such a course, and I recommend that an appropriation be made for their payment from our Treasury, and that the vouchers be forwarded and collected from the United Treasury for the benefit of the State.

It is perhaps proper I should state, that in making the contract with Mr Emerson, it was understood that he should receive an advance of thirty-five thousand dollars, and that for the residue, which amounted to about seventeen thousand dollars, he should wait until an appropriation could be obtained for his payment.

In order to make his advance, an unexpended balance of an appropriation, made by the last Legislature, for the rescue of captives in the hands of the Indians, was drawn from the Treasury on my own responsibility, which was subsequently reimbursed by Mr Emerson after he was paid by the United States.

An appropriation was also made by Congress, which was considered sufficient to pay these troops for their services, but when they were paid off, the Paymasters only had orders to pay them from the time they were actually mustered into the service of the United States. Consequently, they have never been paid for the time their transport, between the 1st of November, when the Indian invasion is entered by the United States, and the time when they were mustered.

The State will, without doubt, when this matter is fully understood at Washington, and means are there in hand to be applied thereto, pay their service, but in the mean time these men are deprived of what is justly due them.

They were called from their homes at great expense, solely in consequence with the law and the authority vested in the Commander in Chief of the Militia.

It was not their fault that they were not received into the United States service at the same organized designation by Just Smith, for they were promptly at the place appointed, and they should not be prejudiced in their pay.

I therefore recommend that an appropriation be made for their pay, and that it be paid from the United States Treasury.

several of our citizens were killed by small parties of Indians in Bexar, Gillias and other counties distant from the operations of this company.

Small parties of our citizens rallied, pursued and had several encounters with them, in which many Indians were killed, who proved to be Lipans, now on the West side of the Rio Grande.

Near the close of September, Capt. Callahan, with a portion of his Company and other citizens, who volunteered for the occasion, from Hays, Guadalupe, Bexar and other counties, consisting in all about 115 men, pursued a party of Lipan Indians who had been into our settlements committing depredations, to near the Rio Grande, where he had an encounter with a large party of Indians, consisting of many citizens of Mexico, in which fifteen of his command were killed and several wounded and, as a large number of the force attached to him were all not recovered

The Indians, are chiefly citizens of Mexico who acted with them, retreated from the battle ground, and during the night Captain Callahan, left them and occupied Piedras Negras, a small village on the West bank of the Rio Grande opposite Eagle Pass.

He was subsequently attacked by a large body of Indians composed principally of Kickapoos, and to secure a safer retreat to his battle ground on the Rio Grande, it became necessary for him to evacuate the village.

His report shows that he crossed the Rio Grande, in pursuit of Indians who were escaping with property stolen from our citizens, and that he was fully justified in doing so, by the laws of nations

It appears from this report that the Kickapoos have recently received considerable reinforcements, with a view to attack, but it was their intention to attack the village.

When the news of Captain Callahan's fight reached us, giving an account of the circumstances that attended his pursuit of these Indians into Mexico, his engagement with the Indians, and those who aided them and their subsequent occupation of the village of Piedras Negras, we felt we were called upon, protecting his conduct, while it exposed of his pursuit that danger which was condemned, and it was directed to retire at once, within the limits of this state.

It is proper to be remarked that it appears from the letter of Mr. Ewing to Mr. Ogden, the order for recall was retracted. But the fact is the Rangers were in fact made aware of the danger and in consequence

While I believe that we shall continue to be troubled with the hostilities of Indians, until they are provided by our government with a permanent home in the territory of the United States, I have nothing to add to my former views on this subject. I have nothing to add to my recommendations in a similar vein on expeditions, and have taken every opportunity to discourage the idea, from giving countenance to it.

The United States Government have selected and assigned to the Seminoles tracts of lands, for the use and benefit of the Seminole Indians residing within the limits of this State, in the treaty made at "the Fort Gibson with the Indians of Texas," approved the 11th of February, 1827.

These lands have been delineated upon the diagram of the Land Office in which they are delineated, consequently if there be any other interest their Journey have discovered and designed, it is the interest of the Seminole Nation.

There is a tract of two miles square, which adjoins the Fort Gibson, on the Arkansas River, and is one of great interest on the Creek Fork of the Arkansas, which has been given to the Indians from Washington.

The duties of these officers are arduous and responsible.

The present incumbents have shown themselves to be well fitted for their stations, and they should receive a compensation for their services commensurate with their value.

In publishing these reports, I would suggest that the matter in the second of the Appendices be omitted, as it is of no value to the general reader, while they add greatly to the cost of publication.

I would also suggest that one hundred extra copies be printed for the use of the Superintendents to enable them to exchange report with other institutions of a similar character by exchange, which would be a most thoroughly acquainted with the management of the institutions in their State and country.

The reports of the different Executive Officers will be found with my own, for your information, as soon as they can be completed. The general law requires them to make to the Legislature of their offices up to the first day of November, which does not allow sufficient time to have them printed and sent out to the Legislature at the commencement of the session. I would therefore suggest that the law be changed so as to require these reports to be made up to the 1st of January, instead of the 1st of November.

I have matured a plan for the disposition of health, charity and criminal contributions, or funds, different from that heretofore followed, under which it has been discovered that numerous frauds have been committed, but the present bearing of the Office of the Inspector General is adopted most of the original recommendations upon which County and Township contributions were founded.

This has been the plan recommended, and which I do not doubt will be found very much better.

The contractor performed faithfully the [illegible] contract and adhered to their [illegible] he [illegible] of the Broker officers for the books taken out, which I accept as an entirely gratuitous service. The 8th volume of Reports has been regularly distributed through the mail from Tolmadge, by the reporter; the 11th volume was forwarded by mail from this City during the past summer, & yet the 10th just received, is now in office except the copies sent to the General and State Governments and the Territories. It will be understood that the Reports and the copies of the laws and journals required to be sent to the Archives of Congress, the Federal officers at first, & then, the Executives of the several States and Territories, have been regularly & promptly forwarded.

I beg leave to respectfully suggest through your Excellency to the Hon. Legislature, that the Number of general laws now required to be printed, is insufficient to answer the wants of this State. After sending copies to the Countries and other functionaries designated by law, the prescribed number of the last Legislature, & few were left for sale or even thought advisable to preserve in a bound additional copies, and of this manner very few remain, & have frequently been sought for and sent to Counties where an accession of new officers created a demand for them. The supply has been deficient not-enough, and I would respectfully suggest that an addition of one thousand copies would not be too great.

Frequent applications have been received for the Legislative Journals, some of which, however, being of stated, received their complete sets, and that increased number being requisite in others, I have ventured to increase the number of copies. As far as the funds of the State, I complied with these requisitions. I have in some few instances, refused to give them out, the copies now in the City being about sufficient only for the use of the Legislature. I have not inquired of how many copies were furnished the last Legislature. If such information is deemed of any benefit, it may be found at a subsequent period.

It is presumed, however, that that number will not be exceeded, as only about forty were returned to this office.

Frequent public documents & officers are received at this Department from the General Government, through which orders are to be complied upon the State Requisitions of principle. The appropriation having heretofore been made to meet the expense, I venture to hope that no difficulty may be encountered, if the Act requisitions are promptly met. It might be worth, however, to ascertain if appropriation should be made by this Legislature without after laws [illegible] I have, under my personal [illegible] in the office of the Secretary of State, I suggest this for the convenience of our citizens, their interests sometimes requiring them to obtain from this Department copies of laws of other States.

The letter referred to from the Secretary of State, separately and conjointly with the Assistant Comptroller, by an act approved the 11th of February, 1857, relating to the archives of the Legislature, [illegible] be perpetuated. [illegible] to refer to the legislation [illegible] the records of our [illegible] and [illegible] other.

[illegible] Congress [illegible] the United States [illegible] in [illegible] to the [illegible] recent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] is disappearing rapidly, and can not be preserved. It is constructed entirely of mortar cloth, and exposing to every exposed position in the City is continually in danger of being burned. Should it be destroyed, the loss of the State, in a pecuniary point of view, might not be very great, yet, it would be in other respects. Besides our extensive library, containing some valuable works, lies our records here commencing with the early history of the country, and extending through some of its most interesting periods — documents connected with, enriched and illustrated incidents of the days which tested this, our land from rebellion and gave it to freedom — facts which ought to be, and are dear to all. Facts which it should be interesting to the State to preserve, and for which I respectfully suggest it would be becoming in the Honl. Legislature to provide a safe repository than the one which now is found them.

I have the honor to be,
Very respectfully, your obt. Servt.

Executive Department
Austin, November 9th 1855.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives

In the month of July last a reprieve was granted to one Albrichs Gehrke, then in confinement in the Jail of Harris County under sentence of death, to be executed on the 2nd of that month.

This reprieve was granted upon the representations of respectable citizens that the prisoner was insane and not a proper object for Capital punishment.

At my request Dr. Ashbel Smith a member of the present House of Representatives, accompanied by Doctors A. A. Cone and Coleman, Sheriff of Harris County, made frequent and protracted visits to the prisoner during the past summer, for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of his mental faculties. These Gentlemen reported that "he was sane, knew decidedly, and regards being hung as the severest penalty of the human mind, otherwise decided and as sane as ever".

Under these circumstances I believed that the sentence ought not to be executed, while I felt unwilling to pardon because of a lurking doubt upon sanity, as I felt it was in order to prevent the case of Daniel M'Naughten, I granted a further reprieve until the 1st of January next, and have since submitted his case for your consideration, with the recommendation that you take the proper Constitutional Commutation to imprisonment for the State Penitentiary.

I should have had the secretary of State prepare, if I believed that the authority was vested in me by the existing laws.

I submit herewith the petitions and testimony, and the report of the commissioners who saw and talked with the prisoner.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the amount that will be necessary to pay for the services performed by Capt Francis H. Cuthbert and the officers of his company, and the vouchers for the same, and also an estimate of about the amount that will be required to pay said Company for their services, and for horses, arms & equipments &c, all of which if so estimated will require about the sum of $16,121 00.

This subject was referred to in the Message I had the honor to address to the commencement of your session, and I now renew the recommendation then made, and do so upon the ground of the payment of these claims.

I also call your attention to the propriety of paying the volunteers under the command of Captains Fenton and Gray, who joined Captain Cuthbert on the 18th of September last, and accompanied him on his expedition across the Rio Grande, these two companies were in service about one month.

I have seen with a note of Capt Fenton contained in the vouchers of twenty days volunteering on the part of Capt Gray, for one hundred and fifty but it is understood that his company and companies of private volunteers under Captains Fenton and Gray were the bearers of arms, horses, &c, &c, and that a detachment of some twenty of the first were dismounted by Capt Gray's command.

I herewith transmit herewith a memorial from E. H. Cook, one of the commissioners appointed under the provisions of the act to provide for the multiplication of land titles in certain counties therein mentioned" approved February 11 1892.

It appears from the report that Mr Cook, while from accident, prevented from the performance of his duties, no fault of his own, for two years, a cripple on crutches, suffering from sciatica, the loss of his family by murder and five hundred dollars in an effort to prove a defense that could not be made.

Gentlemen of the Senate

I return herewith to the House of Representatives in which it originated, "An act supplementary to an act entitled an act to incorporate the town of Lin Prairie in the County of Fayette."

The first section of this act authorizes the Mayor to appoint a commissioner without a jury, and witnesses against the decisions of the Council, and to assess the fine, when the same is not sufficiently imposed by the laws.

This section seems to conflict with the 19th section of Article 1 of the Constitution of the State, which declares that "in all cases where juries of the peace, or other judicial officers of inferior tribunals shall have jurisdiction in the trial of causes, when the penalty for the violation of the laws is fine or imprisonment, except in cases of intoxication, the accused shall have the right of trial by jury."

For this reason I feel constrained to withhold my approval from the act.

The act has passed both Houses of the Legislature, and has been presented to me for approval, and is entitled "An act to pay the salaries of the Governor." The first section of which provides "that from and after the passage of this act, the annual salaries of the Governor of the State of Texas, shall be three thousand dollars" The second section provides, "that this act shall take effect from and after its passage." Will you oblige me by examining the bill to be satisfied and give me your views, and give me your opinion whether it is constitutional.

Yours with respect,

Ed Pease

Attorney General's Office
Olympia, December 1st 1850.

To His Excellency, C. H. Mason
Governor

Sir:

I have received your note of 28th ultimo, with the opinions of the Judges herein, of even date with the "Act to pay the salary of the Governor", the original of which is referred to in said note, and which you state "has been lost, they having, on Friday the 6th instant, the same at Dale's, on the Governor's bill, and should be there if not found" [illegible] "a second copy" [illegible] "after the recess".

In the opinion of the Judges, there is no question of power as to repeal or alter, and in the passage of the Act, the Legislature, by implication, [illegible] the Act, [illegible] the Governor, [illegible] that by a letter [illegible] to be given [illegible] to be [illegible] for [illegible] per year, [illegible] the [illegible] per year, [illegible] the 5th Dec. 5th Article of the Constitution. It has been thought this interpretation would be correct, on good public grounds, [illegible] -lature. It will be the main of constitutional [illegible] to presume that the Legislature has [illegible] -tions [illegible] and [illegible] reference, and in consequence [illegible], and ignore the contrary conclusions in a particular instance, can, with propriety, be [illegible] the main of implied must be prevented. It is [illegible] permanent, not [illegible] [illegible] that it, permanently [illegible] the salary "of the Governor of the State of Oregon" a local Entity, who like the King of England never dies, and certainly not, of the fourth incumbent of the Executive Chair, whose term was just about to expire, and of whose incapacity to receive the "increase" of his salary it would be doing great violence to the intelligence of the Legislature to suppose they were ignorant, and to their integrity to conclude that they intended to deny a grant it, and thereby deliberately infringe the Constitution tion. It is for more just to indulge the presumption that in "fixing" the Salary of the "Governor" they were not commanded, that the present incumbent, owing to the Constitution of Barrier Forces, who has deserted, would in no degree be affected by the change they were making in the amount, and therefore our only legitimate conclusion must be that the Bill has no reference to him, for that was already "fixed" by the Constitution in provisions against their power to diminish or control. But it may be urged that the 2d Section of the Bill, in giving immediate effect to the Act, fastens upon it the intention to increase the compensation of the present incumbent beyond any change of salary. If this objection be not already answered in the foregoing remarks of the Bill, it may readily be done. No mode of legislation is more common and considered less liable to constitutional impeachment than that which seeks to give into immediate effect, provisions which cannot, from their terms and nature, go into operation until a future time, and sometimes a remote time, such as to provide that a Court shall be holden, or a contract be made in a certain public year, or any other act be done, at a future day. Thus the Bill becomes a law immediately by its terms, the legislative mandate with of the law and by power - or it gives to the nature of its subsequent operations till a future day. Whenever it does go into effect or becomes a law, but whether it has or not depends upon the character of its provisions, considered in reference to each other and the fundamental rules of the Constitution. If this Bill shall receive the approval of your Excellency, it will become immediately, according to the phraseology of the 2d Sec. a law, fixing the salary of the Governor, but, under the Constitution, it will not take effect, till a further period, when the present incumbent, by resignation or other cause, shall be no longer in office.

The same constitution the same Act would be operative regarding the salaries of the Judges in Superior and Inferior Courts. It might be constitutionally fixed to go into effect immediately, but could not operate upon or in any way affect the salaries of the present incumbents.

I am therefore of opinion that there is no Constitutional objection to the approval of the Bill referred to.

I remain very respectfully Your Excellency's Obt. Servt.

Austin, December 21st 1855.

Gentlemen of the Senate, and House of Representatives, and
fellow citizens:

The proof of the confidence of my fellow citizens, manifested by my re-election to this important office, fills me with emotions of gratitude which I find it difficult to express.

I enter upon my duties with a determination to use my best efforts in their service, with a firm confidence that they will justly appreciate my motives, and that my public acts will be viewed with that indulgence which I have hitherto received at their hands.

Having a month ago communicated to you the condition of the Government, and recommended for your consideration such measures as I thought expedient, I shall not detain you, at this time, with any thing further on these subjects.

I feel, however, that the occasion is not an improper one, in adverting to some topics upon political subjects, since we take our stand for State officers in this first Year of our second century upon political science alone.

The sages of the revolution adopted the policy of encouraging immigration, and the wisdom that dictated legislation which was passed at an early day, which enabled immigrants, within a short period after their settlement to obtain all the privileges of original citizens. The policy of their successors has been equally liberal to the inhabitants of their adoption, which have been given to them, incorporated into the Union by Treaty and by Annexation.

Texas great and good men also adopted the policy of receiving all persons of religious sentiments and character free. They rightly hoped, when they exempted the rights of conscience, that the principles of religion, forbearance, and toleration, that they so eminently possessed, would prove their, and their, and their religious sentiments under which the people of other countries had so long suffered and bled.

By a fixed adherence to these wise and liberal principles, which have been repeated, legislated, the people of these other countries, the Germans, Scandinavians, Swiss, and many other nations, have come to Texas, and have become citizens, and have contributed to the prosperity of our country, as well as to the wealth and power of our country.

the rights and influence of the people, and concentrated the powers of Government, while on a pretext the authority of their rulers, of powerful other Governments, depriving all the powers from their own consent, indemnified to solicit with the purchase of [illegible] the [illegible] and property.

It is [illegible] of several people to discover [illegible] the operation of [illegible] and [illegible] the strength [illegible]

Sir:

Referring to your communication of the 15th inst. I appoint you Inspector to carry into effect the Act authorizing appropriation to pay the expenses of Volunteers called into service of the State, for the protection of the frontier, and for other Volunteer Service", approved 1st December 1865. The Volunteers attached to our this Act are the Companies of Capt J. H. Cattlehan, Capt Houston and Capt Hardy.

In the disposition of this Act, you will be not only the trust and security of the State of Texas, in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, for the faithful performance of your duties under this act.

The rolls returned to the Comptroller from Kerr County are made the requisite authority under date of the 7th and 8th days of December 1865 and the following days of December, previous to which detailed instructions will be issued to you.

Any communication on the subject will be addressed to the Comptroller, but as the service is one that will greatly benefit our frontier citizens and friends, I trust you will render it your earliest attention.

Yours very respectfully,
E M Pease

Executive Department
Austin, January 8th 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives.

I transmit herewith the Muster-rolls of three Spy Companies of Mounted Volunteers, one Commanded by William Cox, which was in service on the frontier from the 10th of October to the 11th of November 1855 and the other commanded by W. J. Cabin, which served on the frontier from the 10th of October to the 10th of November 1855. The other Commanded by Vivé Conklin whose precise term of service is not known to me.

These Companies were voluntarily organized and stationed by the Citizens of the frontier, for their defence during the past Fall, while they were suffering from the outrages of hostile Indians, there being no mounted troops of the United States near enough to afford them any protection.

Some parties of the last named Company had several encounters with and killed many of the Indian Depredators, and all of the Companies were in active service at a time when the frontier settlements were nearly broken up by the aggressions of the Indians, and contributed to restore peace and confidence to these settlements.

I think it but an act of justice that they should receive from the State a reasonable compensation for their services and expenses, and therefore submit the matter to your consideration with the hope that you will make suitable provision for their payment.

The circumstances under which these Companies were organized and the services they rendered are well known to Messrs Richards and McCullough of the Senate and the Speaker and members of the House of Representatives, to whom reference is made for information on these points.

and House of Representatives:

I return herewith to the House of Representatives "An Act to permit certain persons of color named, claiming to have been the property of Gabriel Rivers late of Alabama, to remain in the County of Harrison State of Texas, for two years after the suit now pending in said County to establish their freedom shall have been decided"

It has been the policy of Texas since the commencement of her revolution to prevent free Negroes and mulattoes coming here to reside, the General Council of the provisional Government on the 5th of January 1836, passed an ordinance to prevent this, in pursuance of instructions, which provided that if they should come within the limits of Texas after that date, they should be sold as slaves, and imposed a fine of five thousand dollars upon any person who should import, or bring or aid or abet in bringing or importing any free Negro or mulattoe within the limits of Texas.

In the seventeenth of March in the same year, the Constitution of the Republic was adopted, which declared, in the twelfth section of its General provisions, that no slave holder should be allowed to manumit a slave, without the consent of Congress, unless his humane services should slave within the limits of the Republic, and also that no free person of African descent should be permitted to reside permanently in the Republic without the consent of Congress.

Shortly after on the 5th of January 1837 the Congress passed a law prohibiting all free Africans or descendants of Africans and mulattoes from entering the State of the declaration of independence, to remain there.

On the 5th of February 1840 another act was passed prohibiting such persons from coming into the State, and persons being brought here, or persuaded to come, should be sold for one year, and the proceeds of their sale paid into the State treasury, with a penalty on the master for the recovery of the slave, and authorizing the Attorney General to institute proceedings against the parties, and to have the slave sold as a slave [illegible] the same act provided that after the first day of [illegible] color there in the Republic should be allowed two years to remove out of it, and that all children born after that time, without [illegible] should be free [illegible] and not apprentices [illegible].

As the bill [illegible] permitting certain [illegible] to reside in the Republic [illegible] for those who [illegible] to remain there.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] State, [illegible] Mulone and should be abandoned, [illegible] shows that their intercourse with Slaves, [illegible] corruption and mutual demoralization, [illegible] might by all means be avoided.

Free States have long complained of free Negroes, and the appearance of other Slaveholding States which are now stifling, these will that are inseparable from a large population of their character, mingling with their Slaves, [illegible] to aid the removal of the admonished evil to put into their increase amongst us, by legislation.

It may be said, that as the act emancipating the Negroes is to take place for two years, after which provisions shall have been established, it cannot therefore do any great harm, but I fear, at the expiration of that time, the fact, that they have been allowed to remain here for two years, will be urged as a reason for their longer stay, and that they may ultimately obtain franchises to reside here permanently.

Entertaining these views, I cannot approve this act and therefore return it to the House of Representatives in which it originated for reconsideration.

Ed Pease

Executive Department
Austin, January 18. 1856.

To the Senate of the State
and House of Representatives:

I return herewith to the Senate the bill which it originated, "An Act amending and supplemental to an act to incorporate the Galveston and Brazoria Rail-Road" the Charter for which was granted on the 10th day of February 1852, and authorizes the construction of a Rail-Road from the Town of Anderson in Grimes County through Grimes and Brazoria Counties to Brazoria, the road to be completed within two years, and if not completed in that time, the Charter was to be null, the company was to have right thereafter to persue in the ordinary courts.

On the 5th of January 1854 this Charter was amended, and the Company was authorized to construct the road, commencing at Galveston City or near side of Galveston Bay, thence running (not farther west of Sabine Pass on Galveston Bay) thence through the County of Brazoria to Brazoria - thence through the County of Brazoria to the County of Anderson in Grimes County, by such route as the Company may deem most advisable, the road to be commenced within two years from the 5th of January 1854, and twenty-five miles to be completed within three years.

The powers granted by this Charter are similar to those granted to all the other Rail-Road Charters of the State with the exception of that of the Buffalo Bayou and Pacific Rail-Road. It can hardly be for reasons requiring the payment of any portion of its stock [illegible] to the organization of the Company, so far as I am able to learn, no work has ever been done by this Company, and I cannot learn that any part of its Capital Stock has ever been [illegible], it certain, that no report of its organization or of its proceedings, Capital Stock &c has ever been made, as required by our general Rail Road law.

This act is proposed to change the corporate name of the Company, and it is stated to be [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] of Rail Road, [illegible] "[illegible] the 30th of January [illegible]" [illegible] Dyson Sudworth [illegible] to the Company, or a period of one year from their time, if prior the Company, [illegible] capital [illegible] provided, [illegible] but no power is [illegible] [illegible] after the Stockholders [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] State.

We appeal to [illegible] most [illegible] [illegible] State, at least [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] subscribe and pay for Stock, they have no just claim for them, and it is an idle and useless business to grant them. The House has carried where we should adopt a sound and healthy system in regard to corporations, their powers and privileges should be limited and accurately defined; they should no longer be allowed to organize without capital, such restrictions and responsibilities should be imposed on the Stockholders as will protect the rights of the public and guard individuals dealing with them from imposition.

In a Communication sent to you, at an early period of your session, I stated that I was unwilling that any more Charters should be granted to individuals for their own benefit if such Charters were necessary, such routes should be selected as the wants and business of the Country required. The time of commencement and termination should be designated, and Charters should be granted to Commissioners, who should be required to open books for the subscription of Stock, after giving public notice, no subscription should be received, unless five per Cent thereof, was paid at the time of Subscribing, and whenever the per Centage on the Capital Stock subscribed should amount to one hundred thousand dollars, the Commissioners should be authorized to call a meeting of the subscribers and hold an election for officers, after which the subscribers should become a Corporation, with all such powers as are set forth in the Charter. The Commissioners should have no right under the Charter, except as trustees, for the benefit of the subscribers, unless they organize and become a Corporation, and should be limited in time only for necessary subscriptions of Stock, and the payment of five per Cent thereof as aforesaid. The Corporation thus organized should have authority from time to time to receive further subscriptions to its Capital Stock, to the full amount thereof, after giving public notice, the subscribers in all cases paying, per Cent of their Stock at the time of subscribing.

I have seen no reason to change these opinions, as the evidence, subsequently published, has greatly strengthened them, and these opinions with great pleasure the extension of the Charters of those Companies, which have not commenced work, and which no evidence shows that they have any Capital Stock subscribed and paid in.

The resolutions introduced are by no means objectionable, and it is not certain that a Company which cannot procure of each one hundred thousand ( [illegible] to commence [illegible] [illegible] obtained [illegible], or [illegible] a [illegible] of the length contemplated [illegible] [illegible].

To the Senate
and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith a communication from the Attorney General to which I respectfully call your attention. He states that as your Legislature will cause the next term of the District Courts of Travis County to conflict with that of the Session of the Supreme Court at Galveston, that it will be impossible for him to attend both of these Courts. There are two suits in favor of the State, pending in the District Court of Travis County, one against Thomas J. Chambers and others, the other against E. C. Ripley, each for the recovery of Texas lands of not less than two nor more than ten leagues each, the claimants having taken out patents for them without the authority of law.

It is needless to say to your honorable bodies that these cases in the District Court, by the transition of the law, cannot be tried, and hence are respectfully be left to attend the Supreme Court, and represent the interest of the State in all cases where the State is a party.

As it will be impossible, for him to be in attendance on both of these Courts at the same time he suggests that provision be made for the employment of special counsel to represent the State at the trying of the District Court of Galveston County.

I concur fully in his suggestions and recommend that a law be passed authorizing the employment of counsel to represent the State [illegible] [illegible] specially to [illegible] [illegible] provided for [illegible] [illegible]

In accounts [illegible] by the Comptroller [illegible] Superintendent and [illegible] the State Treasury [illegible] organization of the Penitentiary [illegible] 11th day of February, 1852, [illegible] of the Penitentiary, [illegible] the Treasurer [illegible] and disbursing agent, [illegible] from the Treasury [illegible] appropriation for the Penitentiary, [illegible] disbursed them [illegible] the expiration of this agent his accounts of this description are paid by him at Huntsville on the certificate of the Superintendent, and no account of them is referred to the Comptroller.

The recommendation is, that these two Sheriffs forward their accounts, for conveying these prisoners to the Superintendent, when they delivered the Prisoners, had them certified by him and paid by the disbursing agent, such is the course required to be pursued under the law.

I have no means of ascertaining whether this was done, but it certainly was the duty of the persons to procure the certificate of the disbursing agent that these accounts were never paid by him before they ask the Legislature to pay them.

When the laws have made ample provision for persons to obtain the payment of their claims against the State, without the interposition of the Legislature, they ought to avail themselves of their provisions, and not be encouraged to come to the Legislature for relief. The Legislature has not the same means here to inquire into the justice of such claims, as the Superintendent has, who knows how many guards accompany the Sheriff, and by seeing the prisoner, can form an estimate what number of guards were necessary; besides the Legislature has not the means here of ascertaining whether the accounts have not previously been paid by those whose duty it was to pay them.

I have proceeded upon the assumption, that these accounts are for the regular and legal compensation of the Sheriffs for conveying those Prisoners to the Penitentiary, and cannot therefore approve the bill, because I have no evidence before me, that they have not been paid by the disbursing agent at Jeffersville whose duty it was to pay them.

If however, these accounts are for extra compensation over and above those fees which the law prescribes in such services performed by Sheriffs, then I feel compelled to withhold my approval from it, because it will be a violation of the fifth section of the fifth article of the Constitution of this State.

The Legislature has as before stated, provided by law what the compensation shall be to Sheriffs for conveying Prisoners to the Penitentiary, and the section of the Constitution referred to, declares that they shall receive no other compensation for any office, agency, service or function, after such service shall have been performed.

The Act in the foregoing terms I do not feel at liberty to approve.

Executive Department,

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives.

I return herewith to the House of Representatives "An Act for the relief of Reindollin Crogan Sheriff of Liberty County",

I learn from the Chairman of the Committee to which the claims were referred, that it is for extra services rendered by the Sheriff in conveying Prisoners from Liberty County to the State Penitentiary.

The act to establish a State Penitentiary approved 12th of January 1848, in the 4th Section thereof, (Paragraph eight article 2.6 & 2) authorizes the Sheriff, in conveying Prisoners to the Penitentiary to employ on his own account a guard of not exceeding two persons except in cases of extreme danger and necessity to be judged of by the superintendent, on the delivery of the Prisoners to the Penitentiary, and also establishes the compensations which shall be allowed to the Sheriff for his own services, for the guard, and for the conveyance and sustenance of the Prisoners, and declares that his compensation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the Penitentiary upon his certificate of the Superintendent.

From the correspondence of the Penitentiary up to the 6th day of February 1852, all accounts of this description were paid at the State Treasury on the certificate of the Superintendent.

On the 16th day of February 1852, a law was passed authorizing the Directors of the Penitentiary to appoint a guard and discharging agent who was required to draw from the Treasury the appropriation for the Penitentiary and disburse the same according to law. Since that time all accounts of Sheriffs for conveying Prisoners have been paid by this discharging agent at Huntsville, on the certificates of the Superintendent.

It will be seen therefore, that the law having vested the selection of proper guards, ought to be confined to the Sheriffs, conveying Prisoners to the Penitentiary to the decision of the Superintendent therefor, who should determine the Prisoners upon whom they are delivered, and authority established, uniformity of officers have actually received, and that it has also made ample provision for the payment of the claims of Sheriffs for such services, without any necessity for applying to the Legislature.

In all cases where the claims are made under government, persons entitled to obtain the payment of their claim, against the State after exhausting their remedy, to the extraordinary expense incurred.

In the other [illegible] kept at Sandwich, as [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] guards were really necessary.

Gentlemen

Allow me to call your attention to the law of December 27th 1851. amending the law regulating the Public Printing, I desire your attention to that part of the law prescribing the rates to be paid for the public printing.

It has been the practice, it seems, to restrict the rates specified in the law to what Printers, as I am informed, call plain work, and to charge double those rates for what is denominated rule and figure work.

I believe it my duty to say to you, that I do not construe the law, and that in paying upon the accounts of the public printer, I shall be governed by the rates prescribed in the law without regard to any distinctions between plain, and rule and figure work as has heretofore been entertained by the Legislature.

I regret that it did not sooner occur to me to bring this subject to your notice.

Very respectfully &c

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I have been informed by the Senate, my address of original "A bill to create the County of Cibolo,"

I am informed by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, who has ascertained that the boundaries of the proposed County of Cibolo, include only about six hundred and twenty square miles.

The 24th Section of the 7th article of our state Constitution, declares explicitly, that no new County shall be laid off of less dimensions, than nine hundred square miles.

This is a wise provision, and was intended without doubt to prevent the creation of small Counties, without sufficient population and resources to secure the proper execution of the criminal laws of the State within limits.

Having evidence before, which is conclusive to my mind, that the proposed County of Cibolo contains an area, less by two hundred and seventy-three square miles, than what the Constitution requires for the formation of a County. I cannot give my assent to this act.

Col A. M. M. Upshur
Dear Sir:

You are hereby appointed as the Agent of this State, to file the Contractors of Captain Patrick H. Crosby, who are located at the Town of Brenham in Month of August 1857, for three months services.

The pay of the members of said Company will be the same as that allowed to the Commissioned officers of the Texas Rangers in the service of the State, which rate of pay and subsistence will be found in the accounts and Vouchers necessary to accompany the pay roll to be signed by the Comptroller of Public Accounts, to which I invite their strictly attention.

You will engage a room in the town of Brenham for the Company, as soon as possible, for the pay for one month and twenty-three days services, and bring the accounts direct to Austin, for the Comptroller to audit. The Company will be allowed to remain in service three months pay, which is intended to cover that on account.

You will see that the Company will be paid at the Town of Washington on the 31st day of December next, and discharged at that place, when which will be the Members of said Company to return to their homes. You will receive from the Comptroller, a copy of the Muster Roll, and after the expiration of the time you may deem reasonable for the men to rest, pay and receive their pay, you will inform what, service may remain to be done by the Comptroller and Treasurer in settlement with them of past and future services, under your administration.

The amount of Compensation account has attached at this time, but it will be found, to cover the services, from the commencement of the administration that was rendered after the disbandment of all of said Companies.

Gent.

Your communication of the 12th inst. representing that unless something is done immediately for the protection of the Citizens residing on the upper Blanco, Guadalupe, Curry's Creek and Cordillera, they will be compelled to give up their homes, has just been received.

I have not been unmindful of your exposed condition, and some time since requested the Commanding General of this Department to have Mounted Troops sent to your vicinity for its protection, but I have heard nothing from him in reply.

You must be well aware that no means have been placed at my disposal for frontier protection, and without means I can do nothing effective.

I would however advise that your settlement organize a company of twenty men, at a small number, say 10 or 15 be kept scouting whose duty it shall be to notify the Company to assemble and pursue the Indians whenever it shall be ascertained that they are in the neighborhood. Such a course will enable you to rally a respectable force at a short notice and I think will tend to restore confidence.

Should you conclude to act on this advice, you will keep me advised of your proceedings, and I shall take pleasure in urging the Legislature to make suitable compensation for the service of those who may be employed and to pay for all reasonable expenses that may be incurred.

I do not intend to advise the organization of a force for allowing a warfare at a distance from your settlements, but that you shall endeavor by this plan to give protection against the Indians who may come into the vicinity of your settlements.

Very respectfully

Dear Sir:

I have reliable information that small parties of Indians have been into the settlements on the Nueces and Leon creek in the upper part of Comal and Hays counties, within the last week, and that they have killed some stock and stolen many horses from those neighborhoods. Other depredations have also recently been committed by Indians near the head of the Cibolo, of which I presume you have already been advised.

This is the same section of country in which the Indians commenced their operations during the last summer, and I think it would be advisable to send a Company of Mounted troops to that vicinity if it can be done immediately. Unless this is done I fear that the Indians will not leave those neighborhoods for months

(Signed)

The above is a true copy of the original on file in this office

Austin, Texas 5 Feb. 1856.

Sir: I send you herewith a certified copy of a law of this State, entitled "An act giving the assent of the State of Texas to an act to provide for the payment of such creditors of the late Republic of Texas, as are comprehended in the act of Congress of September 9th 1850 entitled "An act making an appropriation for the payment of the debts of Texas" which was passed at the second Session of the Fourteenth Congress of the United States and approved February twenty-eighth eighteen hundred and fifty-five."

You will perceive from the act above referred to, that it assumes the amount of the debt of the late Republic of Texas, which is to be the subject of liquidation, and the operation of the Auditing Commission, to be the sum of $[illegible] and of the 9th of September 1850 and that [illegible] to the Land Office [illegible] Seven hundred and fifty thousand acres and describes the manner of the payment and discharge of the debt, and that of the [illegible] that the act of Congress assents to the act of Congress of the 28th of February 1855 with the exception of the debt therein authorized to be funded, which is a portion of said debt of Texas, which cannot be funded by the Government of the United States.

We believe that we have fully complied with the act of the 28th of February, 1855, in that we have complied with every thing upon it. In the instruction, should it be found that the creditors have failed to furnish evidence of debt at the Treasury Department, it will be their fault, therefore not the amount of the funds, will remain in the United States Treasury, and can be paid to them whenever they may be afterwards furnished; any other construction than this, might result in giving the entire Texas Millions Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars to a part of the creditors, who never filed their claims within the time limited, for the debt is disposed into so many shares that it is nearly certain, all will not be adjusted, of the provision for its payment, in time to pay the first creditors.

The statement of the amount of the debt and interest may be published as a matter of correct account and as the chronicle of the transactions of it. They were prepared with great care by the Comptroller of this State, who has been connected with the Treasury of Texas since 1837 and is perfectly acquainted with the history of the debt. He concludes from it that neither

Mr. Cornwell's case is considered to be within the provisions of the act of the 4th of September, 1841.

You will also perceive, that while Texas withdrew and abandoned all claims and demands against the United States, growing out of Indian depredations or otherwise, which originated on or before the 28th of February, 1845, there is a proviso attached, "that this abandonment shall not apply to claims of individuals for losses of property by the Texans."

This proviso was inserted from caution, and I do not think it affects the abandonment, for Texas was not supposed to withdraw or abandon any claims belonging to individuals, but only such as the State might have.

I trust you will agree with the construction that Congress intended upon the act of the 28th of February 1855, and will consider yourself authorized to give effect to it, without the necessity of any further action of Congress.

I shall be pleased to learn your views in regard to this case, as a guide in future, and should you prefer to act under it, I shall pass to credit the power of issuing the funds as required by you, upon the usual vouchers, and State Department certificate.

From the general agreement that has been seen of proposals of this nature, and circulation, I detect that the conference of this State with Washington agreement of these expenditures were made subject and communicated with the Treasury of Texas, it is presumed with the knowledge of all the officers by whom they were organized and were acting under them for the purpose.

I have the honor to be,
Very respectfully

Austin, Texas, 5th July 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives.

I submit herewith to the Senate a bill entitled "An act to amend the Caption and the first and sixth sections of an act to incorporate the Texas Western Land Trade Company, approved February 16th 1853."

Texas has grantees to Railroad Companies has become an important fact of legislation, yet it is very doubtful that some amendments should be adopted in regard to such and other.

Act. has been passed at this session giving aid to the Galveston, Houston, and Henderson Company; The Galveston and Red River Company, and to another re-incorporating the Memphis City and Pacific Company, all to refer in each of these Charters the Grants were imposed of keeping their principal office on the line of their roads of holding their meetings, in their officers and their offices in this State — a requiring a majority of their directors resident of this State.

All of these provisions are salutary and necessary to prevent the roads from being managed adversely to the interest of our State and Citizens, and yet none of these terms are imposed upon this Company. Is this exception made justifiably? Is there anything in the previous management of this Company to entitle it to peculiar favor? On the contrary, is it not notorious, that its principal Office has been kept out of the State, that most if not all its elections for directors and other officers, except the one held since it has been pending, have been held out of the State, and that a large majority of its directors are non residents.

Only one of the important above mentioned was liable to these objections, yet, in granting them relief it was deemed necessary to impose these restrictions upon them all, and I can see no good reason why an exception should be made in favor of this company.

Another objection to this act is, that it does not limit the time within which it shall be required to discover and identify the location of lands granted by its original Charter. That Charter provides that

"that the road or any branch thereof shall pass through any public lands, all such lands to the depth of three miles from the exclusion line of the track, on each side thereof, shall be and are hereby reserved for the State, from and after the time such track shall be fixed or designated by survey, recognition or otherwise, and said lands as the road is constructed, shall be divided into sections containing one mile each, on the road plainly marked, and of these reserved lands, the Company shall have the right by deed of any of their Certificates issued in accordance with the provisions of this Act, to cause to be selected, in lieu and substitution, for their use; each alternate section, or the remaining sections shall continue the property of the State until disposed of by the Legislature."

The question is to be ascertained when the track shall be fixed or designated by survey recognition or otherwise, the Company is not even required to make a record of the designation of the track either in the General Land Office, or in any District Surveyor's Office, so that the public can ascertain the locality. It is not required to be surveyed into sections and fixed thereon the moment it is constructed, and more therefore, within the exception of the first twenty miles, the Company can go without surveying or designating for any indefinite period, as the terms only require the Company to commence its road within four years from its passage and complete two miles within five years and twenty miles in six years. This being done, the right to the reservation becomes complete, and the Company may keep it pending or one hundred years without warranting or determining it, if they choose to take that time to construct the remainder of their road.

It should be recollected that the number of this road is from the Eastern line of the State to the Pacific, and that most of it, after crossing the Sierra, passes through Land, in large portions of which it may not be, that this Company is operating on the lines of the reservation made for the Sacramento and Pacific road, to which this Company claims a prior right.

It does not appear that any other company has made a reservation over a route, which has in part been taken up, and forms part of the Central Pacific Company which has been incorporated by the Legislature, in the hope that Congress will complete the reservation in the manner and the distinct portions of vacant lands authorized to receive, and to deposit a map of the same in the General Land Office within four years from the first of March 1856, is so, but all rights in the reservation. It is also compelled to have graded and ready for the iron at least one hundred miles of road within four years from the first of March 1856, or the charter is to be void, other onerous restrictions requiring the road to be prosecuted to completion in a reasonable time, are also imposed as conditions for the reservation.

The policy of granting such reservations at all, is a very questionable one, and it certainly becomes the more objectionable, when, as in the case, with the company named in the act, the reservation may be continued for an indefinite period of time, without survey, and without any record thereof either in the General Land Office or in the Office of the Chief Surveyor.

The, or one of the objects to be effected by this act, is to change the name of the Company to that of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to this there should be no objection.

The second object is to make legal all the acts heretofore done by the Company, and to declare such acts legal and binding to all the purposes intended, whatever this is intended to legalize I have no means of knowing.

The only remaining object, I can perceive that is not specified to be effected by the act, is to release the Company from the necessity of completing ten miles of road within five years from the passage of its charter and to require it only to grade and bridge twenty five miles per year within their limits. If the Company has any capital, the task will not be an onerous one to complete the ten miles of road within the time prescribed. But if it has no capital, or if it has not capital sufficient for at least months, after having been organized for several years, it certainly ought not to be rewarded and encouraged in the way of other citizens who may be willing to undertake the construction of such a work. Besides a failure to construct the ten miles by the 4th of February 1858 does not forfeit the charter, but merely forfeits the reservation made in favor under the charter, and the Company will still be entitled under the act to select ten to twelve sections of land in lieu of the twenty-five miles not completed by the 16th of February 1858.

I trust it will not be considered out of place here to allude to some facts connected with the organization and management of this Company.

It is a matter of general notoriety that during the pendency of the act to provide for the construction of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad, which was approved 21st December 1853. the original Company organized under this Charter filed in the General Land Office a designation of this route and reservation nearly on the 32nd parallel of North latitude, and subsequently made use of the same to control the location of the Mississippi and Pacific road, in which they so far succeeded as to induce a portion of the members forming the only Company that offered proposals for the construction of that road which came within the provisions of the law, just to purchase this Charter at the price of six hundred thousand dollars. It is also a matter of equal notoriety that those gentlemen who thus purchased this Charter afterwards insisted upon their right to retain the contract for the Mississippi and Pacific railroads on the grounds that they had tendered a worthless deposit, the mere offering of which was a gross indignity to the State, and that after that contract was declared forfeited, they reorganized this Company with the avowed object of preventing any other company from taking that contract, and that they have thus far, by representing that they still have rights under this contract, and also, that they have under this Charter a major reservation over the route, preventing any other proposals from being offered under the law of the 21st December 1853.

It is worthy of your serious consideration how far it is advisable to grant relief to a Company, the controlling members of which have attempted to practice such an imposition upon the State, and have heretofore endeavored to defeat its favorite policy of securing the construction of the Pacific road, were our Secretary under the Act issued for that purpose. Not generally have we that the members will not continue to use this Charter to defeat the policy and the interest of the State?

Such relief as is to be granted to the Company, it ought to be on condition that it consents to such changes in its original rights and privileges, and authority to decide between and restriction as experience has shown to be necessary for the protection of the public interests. This is the course that this legislature has pursued towards other companies to which it has granted relief, and there is no good reason why this company should be form an exception. These considerations have compelled me to withhold my approval from this act, and to return it to you for your reconsideration.

Circular

Trenton, New Jersey, July 7, 1883.

To the Senate, and the House of Assembly.

I congratulate you on your return to the capital to resume the duties of your station. The extreme heat under which we unfortunately are in legislation, yet I trust that you will be able speedily to perfect those measures which the public interest demands, and return to health to your homes.

First of the important questions that will occupy your attention, were so fully discussed in the communication I had the honor to make at the commencement of your session, that I do not think it necessary, at this time, to do more in regard to them, than to urge your adoption of such as have not been finally acted upon.

One of the subjects that will claim much of your attention, will be, the Reports of the commissioners appointed to prepare a Code, amending, supplying, revising, digesting and arranging the civil, criminal and criminal, of the State.

These Reports consist of a Code of Civil Procedure, a Code of Criminal Procedure, a Penal Code and the revision of particular laws of a general nature. I have different all of these reports with much care, and make

I find some objections to them, I believe they are a great improvement upon our present very defective laws, and that their adoption with some modifications, will give us a basis, upon which a few years experience, will enable us to erect as good a System of laws as is possessed by any State in the Union.

It is to be expected that these reports will meet with opposition, for no great reforms in the principles or the practice of the law, have ever been introduced into any Country without encountering strong opposition from a large class who are always averse to any innovations upon established usages, and I regret to say that a major-ity of the legal profession are generally to be found in that class.

I trust however that a majority of the Legisla-ture will not be influenced by any such considerations, but that they will, in obedience to what I believe to be the public sentiment of the State, give to these reports a careful examination and adopt them with such amendments as may appear to be necessary.

While it is the general expectation that your time will be mainly occupied in the perfection of such measures as were left unfinished at the close of the first part of your session, there is one measure of unknown and great interest to the State, which I consider it my duty to press upon your consideration. This is, the adoption of some System for the survey and sale of our public domain, which has heretofore been prevented, on account of the lien hanging over it, for the security of our public debt, which is now happily extinguished.

It seems to me that a System similar to that practiced by the United States, is the best that can be devised, and that the minimum price of their sale should be established at one dollar per acre, which is one fifth less than the minimum price of the United States, whose lands are generally far superior in value to ours

Any System that may be adopted should contain a provision for the protection of actual settlers, by which, when any lands are brought into market, they should have the first right to take, at their option a quarter or half a section including their improvement, at the minimum price established by law for their sale.

The proceeds of the sale of our public lands, I think should constitute a fund to be hereafter appropriated for purposes of education and internal improvements.

In connection with the adoption of any system for the sale of these lands, a law should be passed, limiting the time within which all claims upon them should be located and be secured or be thereafter forever barred.

There is no uncertainty in regard to the time when the act is to go into relation of the Judges of the Supreme and District Courts to take effect. One Judge was with the Northern in passage, who could not yet with propriety resign until eight days afterwards. Neither has an election been in passage and we depend for all the Judges of the Supreme Court, and most of the other Judges of the District Courts will hold office until the first Tuesday in August next. If therefore necessary, to avoid this inconvenience, either the passage of a law, declaring the act of the convention, or of the passage of a law declaring that the act shall take effect immediately.

I need not say to you, that a spirit of harmony and conciliation is important in all your deliberations, and I assure you that we shall most cheerfully cooperate with you in all measures calculated to promote the interests of our common constituents.

E. A. Rose

Austin, Texas, July 7th 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and of the House of Representatives.

I return herewith to the Senate in which it originated, "An act to incorporate the Trinity Valley Rail Road Company."

In the communication I had the honor to submit to you at the commencement of your session, I mentioned certain rules that I thought might to be adhered to in granting new Rail Road Charters, among which were the following, viz: "that no new charters should be granted to individuals for their own benefit, that they should be granted to commissioners, who should be required to open books for the subscription of stock, after giving public notice - no subscription should be received unless five per cent thereof is paid at the time of subscribing, and whenever an amount of the Capital Stock has been subscribed equal to one fourth or one twentieth of the Capital necessary to construct the road, the commissioners should be authorized to call a meeting of the subscribers and hold an election for officers after which the subscribers should become a corporation with all such powers as are set forth in the charter."

The Commissioners should have no rights under the charter except as trustees for the benefit of the subscribers when they organize and become a corporation, and should be liable to a heavy penalty for receiving subscriptions of stock without the payment of five per cent thereof in cash. The corporation thus organized should have authority, from time to time, to receive further subscriptions to its Capital Stock, to the full amount thereof, after giving public notice, the subscribers in all cases paying five per cent of their stock at the time of subscribing."

Subsequent reflection has strengthened my impressions of the soundness of these rules, and has satisfied me that they ought to be incorporated into every Rail Road Charter, since they will effectually prevent the sale of our Charters by the Commissioners to whom they are granted, a practice which it is well known has prevailed extensively.

The bill incorporating the Washington Lequeta Rail Road Company, passed at this session, contained all the provisions here recommended, and it was approved by me, this act contains none of them; but grants the Charter to Commissioners who may use it for their own individual benefit, without regard to the public interest, and I feel unwilling to sanction any more charters of this character. I therefore return it to you for your reconsideration.

E. R. Rose

Salem, Oregon, July 7th, 1859.

To the President of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I herewith return to the Senate, in which it originated, "An act to incorporate the Jefferson and Wingville Gold Run Road Company."

This act is similar to the one incorporating the "Trinity Valley Race Road Company," heretofore returned herewith by me to you for reconsideration, and is liable to the same objections, viz, that it is granted to Commissioners who may use it for their own individual benefit, without regard to the public interest, instead of being granted to such Commissioners as trustees for the use of those who may subscribe and pay for Stock.

I am unwilling to become a party to any more of this kind of Legislation, which has brought our Railroad Charters into disrepute, and therefore return the act to you for your reconsideration.

E. R. Rose

Austin, Texas. July 1st 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and of the House of Representatives

I return herewith to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, "An act to incorporate the Linden Academy."

The 10th section of this act, I think, conflicts with the 24th Section of the 7th Article of the State Constitution, which provides, that, "Every law enacted by the Legislature, shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in the title."

The object expressed in the title of this act, is to incorporate the Linden Academy, but the 10th Section of the act regulates and controls the sale of Spirituous and Vinous liquors and cider within the Town of Linden and within three miles of the Court House in said Town, and also imposes a penalty for a violation of the provisions of the section and declares how the same shall be collected. These provisions are not necessary for the incorporation of Linden Academy, and they seek to effect an object which certainly is not expressed in the title of the act.

I also object to the 7th section of the act, which provides, "that the lands, public buildings and other property belonging to said Academy are hereby declared to be free from all and every kind of State, County or Corporate tax," we already have a general law which exempts from taxation, "all buildings, with their furniture and Library, designed and used solely for purposes of education or public worship, together with the lands owned by said institutions of learning or churches upon which the same may be situated, not exceeding two acres,".

This I think is a sufficient exemption from taxation, and in all that is usual together Academy in the State. These reasons have induced me to withhold my approval and to return you the act for reconsideration.

E M Pease

Austin, Tex. July 7th 1885.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and of the House of Representatives.

I have transmitted to the Senate, in which it originated, "A bill relinquishing to the Counties the State tax, for the years 1885 and 1886."

I have not deemed it wise, the expenses of the Government must be borne to impede, as they have been for the first four years, out of the revenues received from the United States in the settlement of our Int. with it, and by reason of the fact, or the necessity of its receipt to the Treasury, the revenues, which amounted to about one and a half millions, dwindled in the close of the last fiscal year, will be reduced to about six hundred thousand annual. I deemed it proper, upon a consideration of the propriety, at the commencement of your session, that nothing has occurred to change the opinion then entertained.

This policy has now been pursued for four years, in defiance of and subjection to extravagant and improvident appropriations, both on the part of the State and the different Counties which have been the recipients of the taxes, very little attention is paid to the objects for which appropriations are made, or to their amount, so long as the means of paying them do not have to be provided by a tax on the people. A comparison of the appropriations made at the different sessions, will show that they have more than doubled since they have been paid from these bonds, and I see no means of checking this tendency to extravagance except a return to the system of paying the expenses of the Government from the proceeds of our State tax, when the appropriations will generally be limited to the amount to be received from that tax.

I still entertain the opinion, heretofore expressed, that it should be the policy of the State to appropriate these bonds for the establishment of a State University, Lunatic Asylum, and institutions for the education of the deaf, dumb and blind, it is the duty of the State to provide such institutions, and it will have to be done sooner or later, if we fail to secure them now, by the use of these bonds, we shall have to do it hereafter by resorting to taxation.

A number of the largest taxpaying Counties, that will be the greatest recipients of this tax, have all their County buildings completed, are free from debt, and do not need the amount they will receive under this law. If there are other and smaller Counties that need assistance in erecting their County buildings, it will be a better plan to appropriate a sufficient amount for that purpose out of the State Treasury, we can thus insure the application of the money to these objects, while we continue this system of giving the State tax to the Counties, a large portion of it goes where it is not needed, and where much of it will continue to be wasted, as it has heretofore been, without effecting any permanent good.

Entertaining these opinions, I cannot approve this act, and therefore return it to you for your reconsideration.

Executive Office

To the Hon: the Speaker, and Members of the House of Representatives.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution of your Honorable body passed on the 9th inst. requesting me, at the earliest opportunity to, inform the House of Representatives with all the information in my possession in reference to the building of the Governors house, the erection of the Dike for the dam, and also, as to the contract for building the New Land Office.

In reply to said Resolution, I beg leave to state that a report was drawn up during the past part of your session, by the Commissioners to superintend the erection of the Governor's house, showing fully their action as Commissioners up to that time, which report I supposed, until the receipt of this resolution, had been duly sent in to this Legislature, but I find on inquiry of the other Commissioners, that its transmission had been inadvertently omitted.

I now transmit said report together with a supplimental report which with the accompanying plans and specifications contain all the information in my possession in reference to that branch of the Resolution.

I also transmit herewith a report from the Commissioners to superintend the erection of the New Land Office, showing the action they have taken up to this time.

All of which is respectfully submitted

Executive Office,
Austin, Texas, July 17th 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives

On the 17th instant an act for the relief of the heirs of Carlos Espalier, which had previously passed both Houses of the Legislature was approved by me. By this act four thousand and thirty-six acres of land were granted to the heirs of said Carlos Espalier, for his head-right bounty and donation land in consideration of his having been killed at the Alamo under the command of Travis.

Since this act was passed, I have learned that a big quantity of land had been previously obtained from the State, by the heirs of Charles Espalier for his head-right, bounty and donation lands, as one of those who fell at the Alamo under the command of Travis.

Facts have come to my knowledge that induce me to believe, that Carlos Espalier and Charles Espalier were one and the same person, the former being the name in which he was called by the Mexicans and the latter by the Americans.

I am also induced to believe that the party who applied for and obtained this last grant to the heirs of Carlos Espalier, was acting under a mistake in regard to her being the heir of Carlos Espalier, and also in disclosing that no land had been previously obtained for his services.

Said last applicant is represented to have been the aunt and only living heir, the applicants who obtained the former grant were represented to have been the sisters of the deceased.

The name of Espalier appears on the roll in the Quard Office of those who fell at the Alamo with Travis, but there is no such name as Espalier on the roll.

I am well satisfied that the applicants for all of these grants were strangers as heirs of the deceased, and that the last grant had been improperly issued.

I respectfully recommend that your excellency be requested, and if the proper State authorities are present to be here, that you cause the proceedings, repealing this last grant, and cancelling the certificates issued under it.

The State of Texas

Whereas, a penal judgment was rendered by the District Court in and for the County of Smith in said State at its Spring Term in the year 1856 in favor of the State of Texas against William H. Benson for the sum of one hundred dollars and costs, for his failure to appear before the Grand Jury of said Court at its Fall Term in the year 1855, in obedience to a duly served summons; and whereas, a transcript of the record of said judgment has been furnished to me from which it appears by the affidavits of Doctor Morgan P. Ellis that said Benson was sick and under medical treatment during the said Fall Term of said Court for the year 1855, that he prescribed medicine for him the morning previous to his being summoned to go before said Grand Jury, and well knowing the situation of his health advised him by all means to return home and confine himself to his room or bed, and that as a Physician he believes that said Benson could not have appeared at the said session of said Court without jeopardizing and still further greatly impairing his health. And whereas, it seems to me that said affidavit ought to have been sufficient to excuse said Benson from attendance in obedience to said Summons.

Now, therefore, I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State by virtue of the authority conferred on me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby remit the said judgment of one hundred dollars, leaving the said Benson still liable to pay the costs of said judgment.

To the Senate of the Legislature
and of the House of Representatives

I have examined an Act that originated in the House of Representatives entitled "An Act to incorporate the town of Macon and define the powers of said corporation" and I feel constrained to withhold my approval from it because it seems to me that it conflicts with the 20th Section of the 7th Article of our Constitution, which provides that "every law enacted by the Legislature shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in the title."

The object of this Act as expressed in its title, is to incorporate the town of Macon and define the powers of said corporation.

The 19th, 20th, 21st, and 22d Sections of the Act contain provisions authorizing said corporation to prohibit the sale of spirituous and vinous liquors, except for Medicinal, Mechanical, Chemical and Sacramental purposes in the District of country between the Gilleaux Falls in said town of Macon, and the line of Crockett County on the North, and for five miles in every direction from said Masonic Hall, if a majority of the qualified voters in said district shall vote in favor of such prohibition at an election to be ordered for that purpose by the Chief Justice of Polk County, and also imposing a penalty for the violation of said prohibition.

Had the operation of these provisions been confined to the corporate limits of the town, which are declared to be one mile square, the Act would not be liable to the objections here made. But this Act gives the corporate authorities power to Legislate for a large District of Country outside of the limits of the town.

In adopting this provision of the Constitution, it was evidently intended that the title of every law should give notice of the subject of which it treated. The provision is a good one, and had been considered necessary by the practice that prevailed extensively, under the constitution of the Republic of Texas, of including several different subjects in one law, while the title referred to only one, and that perhaps the least important.

In this case, no one would ever think of looking into a law to incorporate the town of Moscow, to find a general Statute prohibiting the Sale of Liquors at places five miles distant from the limits of the town in every direction.

If such a law is desired by the inhabitants of that Section of Polk County, let it be passed with an appropriate title.

For these reasons I return the Act to you for your reconsideration.

Sir:

Mr. Shaw inclosed me a few days since, a copy of a letter from you to Hon R. M. T. Hunter Chairman of Committee of Finance in the Senate, in which you recommend the passage of a Joint Resolution authorizing the State of Texas to take up the residue of the claims for the Texas debt not heretofore presented at your department, and present them at the Treasury and receive the pro rata to which the claimants would have been entitled had they been presented within the time limited by your notice.

I am well aware of the impossibility of determining at your department what evidences of the debt of Texas are genuine, and concur with you in the propriety of having them not yet presented, ~~that~~ paid by this State, whose Officers can readily detect the spurious and forged claims that may be presented; but as it will probably be several years before all are presented, it would subject us to much trouble and expense to advance the money to the claimants, and then send the claims to Washington City and collect the amount advanced. I therefore suggest as the better course to pursue, that the residue of the seven millions seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars shall be paid over to Texas at once, upon her passing a law directing the same to be paid out of her Treasury pro rata to the claimants whenever they may present their claims with proper releases as required by your notice.

This will ensure the prompt payment of these claims when presented, and will give to Texas to whom it properly belongs any residue of the fund that may remain after all the claims have been paid. If there is any such residue, it will have been caused by the destruction or loss of the evidences of the debt, and Texas is the party entitled to the benefit that may accrue from such destruction or loss.

If the course here suggested meets your approval I will advise our Legislature to pass a law to give effect to it: when Congress can by a joint Resolution direct the amount to be paid over to this State to be disposed of in accordance with such law.

and House of Representatives,

I have the honor to inform you, that about the month of March last, communications were received from the Settlements on the upper Blanco, Gaudalupe and Cumys Creek, complaining of their exposed situation and asking protection against the Indians, who committed frequent depredations about that time, in those Settlements and also in the settlements further West.

I replied to these communications, that no means had been placed at my disposal for the protection of the frontier, and advised them to organize a company of minute men for their own protection, and that I would urge the Legislature to compensate them for their services and expenses.

Acting upon this advice, a company was organized in the vicinity of Cumys Creek, a muster roll of which, together with an appraisement of their horses and arms was forwarded to me.

Since the meeting of the Legislature, I have received a communication from J. H. Sansom Captain of this Company, informing me that it had been discharged and enclosing a statement of the number of days served by each man.

I have enclosed herewith, the original petition for relief, a copy of my letter in reply to it, the original muster roll of the Company and appraisement of horses and arms, together with the communication of Captain Sansom informing me of the discharge of the men and the time they served, which papers are numbered from One to four. A similar Company was organized on Nueches and Sabinal Creeks in March last, of which John M. Davenport was elected Captain, I transmit herewith the letter of Captain Davenport advising me of its organization, and also an other letter from him of a more recent date, giving an account of a fight with the Indians. A letter was addressed to Captain Davenport of a similar character to that written to the citizens on the upper Blanco. More recently, a similar Company has been organized in Uvalde County of which Reading W. Black has been elected Captain, and I transmit herewith his letter informing me of the Organization.

I am well satisfied that these companies were actually necessary to keep the frontier settlements from breaking up, and they have done good service in its protection.

Several members of your own bodies are still engaged in situation of the settlements where these companies were organized, and the necessity that existed for them. I trust that the Legislature will encourage such efforts on the part of our citizens to protect themselves, and will make provisions for paying them a reasonable compensation for their services and expenses.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives.

I return herewith, to the Senate in which it originated, "An Act for the relief of individuals who settled as pre-emptors, or who made locations, by virtue of genuine certificates, within the Mississippi and Pacific Rail Road reservation, prior to the twenty first day of December A. D. Eighteen hundred and fifty three." I have examined this act with much care, with reference to the effect that it will have.

Its ostensible object, as expressed in its title, would seem to be, merely to give relief to pre-emptors and locators who had rights within the Mississippi Rail road reservation, at the time that reservation was made, but the Second Section of the Act goes much further, and gives a new right, to a class of locators, who had no rights in the reservation at the time it was made.

This Act has been examined by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, and he concurs with me in the effect that it will have.

So far as concerns the pre-emptors and locators who had subsisting rights in the reservation, at the time it was made, they were fully protected by the 19th Section of the Act that made the reservation.

The words of that Section are as follows, viz. "That this Act shall not be so construed as to effect any right of location or entry, pre-emption right or Survey heretofore acquired in the district of Country reserved and set apart for the use of said road."

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has always treated this Section, as protecting fully all rights of pre-emptors and locators in the reserve at the time it was made, and in all cases where the parties proceeded and took the necessary steps to perfect their rights they have been protected by him. If any of these persons have subsequently lost their rights by the fault or neglect of Surveyors, it is but just that they should be protected, and I would most cheerfully affix an Act giving them a further reasonable time to make good their rights. I would also affix an Act for the relief of all those who actually settled in the reservation previous to the time it was made and their assignees. But as I understand this act, it also gives an additional eight months, in which to return their field notes to the General Land Office, to all these locators in the reservation who forfeited their rights by a failure to return their field notes to the General Land Office by the 31st of August 1853. as required by "An Act concerning Surveys of land" approved 10th. Feb. 1852.

These locators had no more right in the reservation at the time it was made, than any other person who held an unlocated land certificate, and I can see no good reason why they should now be given a right in the reservation which is not given to every other holder of a land certificate.

I wish my objections to this act to be distinctly understood, I do not object to so much of it as gives relief to every person who actually settled in the reservation previous to the time when it was made; or to his assignees. nor do I object to so much of it as gives relief to every locator who had a subsisting right in the reservation at the time it was made, even although he may have since lost his right, if such loss was occasioned by the fault or neglect of a surveyor, but I object to that part of this act, which gives a new right to that class of locators who had no subsisting right in the reservation, at the time it was made, because I think if the reservation is to be opened to a class of persons who had no subsisting right therein, when it was made, it ought to be opened equally to every person who holds a land certificate. These objections are not made with any expectation that they will prevent the ultimate passage of the act, but simply to place on record, the fact that it was not passed until after it had been fully explained. That it would give to a certain class of locators, rights in the reservation to which they have no claim when it was made, and which are not given equally to every other person who holds an unlocated land certificate.

and House of Representatives

I beg leave again to call your attention to the fact that there is a portion of the creditors of the late Republic of Texas whose claims were presented to the Auditor and Comptroller, under an act to provide for ascertaining the debt of the late Republic of Texas, approved March 20th. 1848. and acknowledged at par, and an other portion whose claims were presented in like manner and acknowledged at 87 4/5ths cents on the dollar. These rates were higher than the parties have received under the pro rata distribution which has been made of the seven and three quarter millions of dollars by the United States under the Act of Congress of the 28th. February 1855. and the State of Texas still owes these parties the sum of One hundred and twenty three Thousand two hundred and Seventeen dollars and fifty six cents, over and above the amount they have received under that pro rata distribution, according to our own acknowledgement, as evidenced by the certificates of the Auditor and Comptroller and approved by an act of the Legislature. In proof of what is here stated, you are respectfully referred to the report of the Comptroller of public Accounts of this State dated 28th of November 1855. The parties have a just claim on the State for this difference. It is true they have consented to the settlement which has been made. That they have received their pro rata amount of the fund distributed among the creditors, and have filed their release of all claims against Texas and the United States. We might plead these releases against this claim, but would it be honorable for the State of Texas to do this, while her own Statute book contains an acknowledgement that she owes the amount? When I recommended the acceptance of the act of Congress for the settlement of this debt it was accompanied with a recommendation that this amount should also be paid. Texas has already received into her Treasury the sum of five hundred and ninty nine thousand one hundred and forty dollars and ninty seven cents under the Act of Congress referred to, from which it was supposed she would pay the difference due to these creditors.— When we shall have paid this amount we shall stand before the world in the proud attitude of having paid every dollar of our Revolutionary debt; leave this unpaid and our enemies will point to our own Statute book for proof that we have failed to pay $123 217 35/100 which we acknowledged that we justly owe.

To His Excellency
H V Johnson
Governor of the State of Georgia

Sir:

I have the honor to transmit herewith, a certified copy of an Act recently passed by the Legislature of this State entitled "An Act making an appropriation for compensation for arms lost by the Georgia Battalion at the Massacre of Goliad". This Act was passed in consequence of representations that certain arms belonging to the State of Georgia were taken by the Georgia Battalion brought to Texas in the year 1836. and afterwards surrendered with that Battalion to the Mexican Army.

You will see from the terms of the Act that it is made my duty to ascertain from you how much the State of Georgia demands for these arms, and upon ascertaining how much is due for them, to draw on the Treasurer of the State in favor of the party entitled to it, for the amount ascertained to be due; not exceeding the sum of Three Thousand dollars.— I should be pleased to hear from you on the subject; and am prepared to carry out the objects of the law, whenever proper vouchers shall be presented, showing the number and value of the arms and who is entitled to receive the value.

Very respectfully

And House of Representatives

The large appropriations of money which were payable at the State Treasury, after the adjournment of the Legislature in February last, exhausted all the coin in the Treasury, and some means had to be resorted to for procuring coin or the Treasury had to stop payment, until a sale could be effected of United States bonds, under the provisions of an Act approved 6th February 1852. authorizing a sale of a portion of the bonds which required at least two months. Under these circumstances the Treasurer raised such an amount of coin as he could, by private loans, but this proves insufficient. And to prevent a stoppage of payments at the Treasury, The Comptroller with my approval entered into an agreement with Messrs Swenson and Swisher, by which they were to furnish, at least One hundred Thousand dollars in coin to the Treasurer as it might be needed previous to the time when a sale could be made of United States bonds.

In order that the State should not be chargeable with interest upon the coin advanced, Messrs Swenson and Swisher were furnished with United States five per cent bonds corresponding to the coin advanced, for which they were to allow a premium equeal to the highest bid for said bonds at the sale to be made thereafter under the act referred to.

To carry out this arrangement, Mr. Swenson went immediately from this place to New Orleans, and brought out the requisite amount of coin, and he furnished the State with One hundred and twenty thousand dollars at different dates between the 9th of February and 22nd of March last.

At the time this arrangement was entered into, it was agreed that the compensation to Messrs Swenson and Swisher for their services and expenses should be left for the action of the Legislature upon a representation of the facts.

I transmit herewith, a Statement from the State Treasurer and a memorial from Messrs Swenson and Swisher concerning this transaction. This communication has been delayed until this late period of your Session, with the hope that the Comptroller would return to join in representing the facts to your honorable body but as it is now probable that he will not return until after the period of your adjournment, when it will be too late for your it, it has been thought best not to delay it any longer.

The transaction is submitted to your consideration with the recommendation that a joint committee of the two Houses be appointed to investigate the facts concerning it, and that provisions be made for the compensation of Messrs Swinson and Swisher.

I herewith transmit to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, "An Act to incorporate Jamestown Academy"

The 4th Section of this act provides "that there shall be no liquors or fermented Spirits sold or vended within one mile around from said Jamestown Academy"

I think this provision is in conflict with the 5th Section of the 7th Article of the Constitution, which declares that "every law enacted by the Legislature shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in its title."

The title of this certainly does not indicate that its object is to prohibit the sale of liquor in any part of the State. This being a private act will not be published in the Volume of general laws, so that its existence may not be known to those living in the vicinity of the Academy until they are prosecuted for its violation. This would be a sufficient objection to the enactment, in this form, of the provisions quoted above, even if there were no constitutional objections to it.

If such a provision is desired by those interested in the Academy, let it be enacted with a proper title, so that it will be published among the General Laws.

Executive Office
Austin, Texas
31st. July 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I return herewith "An Act to incorporate the Austin City Bridge Company"

This act authorizes the corporation created by it, to construct a bridge across the Colorado River any where in the limits of the City of Austin or the town tract adjoining, within five years from this time; these limits have a front on the river of about two miles, and this Charter in effect, gives this company the exclusive privilege of building a bridge any where in these limits for five years, because until this company shall have erected its bridge, its right extends over the entire limits named. I think this Company ought to be required to designate the site of its bridge, within one or two years at the most; for it is by no means improbable that long before the expiration of five years a company may be organized who will undertake the construction of a bridge within these limits, for the privilege of charging half the rate of toll that this Company is authorized to charge.

Another serious objection to this charter is, that it has fifty years to run, and the tolls are established for all that time, at rates suited to the present travel, in all such charters, the right to change and regulate the tolls from time to time, should be retained by the Legislature.

These matters may be thought by some, not worthy of consideration at this time; but should it so happen that this company shall select the only suitable site for the erection of a bridge in the vicinity of this City, and acquire the right of exacting tolls for fifty years at rates which will hereafter be considered exorbitant, the question will be asked, why proper restrictions were not placed in this charter, to protect the public from imposition and extortion.——Being unwilling to approve this charter without the restrictions indicated, it is returned to you for reconsideration.

E. M. Pease

Austin Texas
16th August 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I return herewith, to the Senate in which it originated, "An Act supplemental to an Act to incorporate the Aransas Road Company" approved February 4th 1852.——Upon referring to the original Act to which this is a supplement, I find that it incorporates a company by the name of "The Aransas Road Company" and gives said company the right to construct and maintain a principal Turnpike road from any point on or near Aransas Bay or any arm thereof to any point within or near the town of Goliad; and also any turnpike branches or extensions of the principal road in such directions and to such distances as the Company may think proper; and may at any time on or near the track of any part of the principal turnpike as a substitute for such part, construct and maintain a mile road, with the privilege of [illegible] extensions therefrom either by turnpike or Rail-road."

It also grants to said company Eight Sections of land of six hundred and forty acres each for every mile of rail-road actually completed and ready for use; the certificates therefor to be issued for each five miles or more of said road as the same may be completed and ready for use, and to be located upon any public domain of the State within twelve months from the issuing thereof. The said principal turnpike to be commenced by the first day of January 1853 and be completed so that the road should be ready for use within three years the extension of the charter to be void.
It says a certain time for play with these conditions and the charter therefore is now void.

This supplemental act extends the time for constructing the principal turnpike until 1860, and also extends the time to change the same into a rail-road until 1865. It also gives the said company in addition to the rights and privileges of the original charter the further right to improve the Ship Channel between the Spanish bar and the Corpus Christi Pass and State be deepening the present Channel or by making a new one, to any part of greater depth, and to connect the company's turnpike roads with said Ship Channel by roads or roads, and to make and keep the roads through tide water where necessary, and to maintain piers over-flow any lands subject thereto, that may be connected with any such road: provided that the company shall make and maintain a drawbridge on any such road of such size as may be necessary over any navigable channel; and that such connection between the mainland and said Ship Channel by one road at least, and the road across Mansfeld reef according to the charter shall be made before the first day of January 1860. The company for any of its improvements to have the right of way and of obtaining on any public lands, whether covered by water or not, and right of procuring any flats, shallows, reefs and islands covered with water or near to any of said roads between the mainland and main shell, exclusive of the large islands fronting on the latter, and at any other place where such roads may be made through tide-water, and to own such roads, other than a rail-road, the company may require such lands by location pursuant and have on any valid land claim, in the usual made, within the distance of one mile from said road; and in case any such road shall be a good and substantial railroad with suitable iron rails, the company may acquire such lands, by survey and patent, without any other claim within the distance of two miles from such railroad, to the aggregate extent in quantity of sixteen sections of six hundred and forty acres each for every mile of such railroad completed and equipped for use; and if only part of that quantity shall be taken within the bay, the remainder of that quantity may be surveyed and patented for the company in the usual mode, but without any other land claim, on any vacant land subject to ordinary appropriation within the distance of seventy five miles from said Railroad; and the grants for land for such railroad shall be made in other respects on the terms specified in the original Charter for granting lands for making a railroad.

The company's system of roads to be restricted to the principal turnpike from Goliad to the coast terminus, and a branch or extension therefrom to a point on the Rio Grande at or near to Cariso."

I have been thus particular in detailing the privileges of this Company in order that my objections to the act may be understood. The original charter having become void by the failure of the company to comply with its requirements. The effect of this act is to create a new corporation, and it ought to be subjected to the same restrictions as other railroad companies chartered at this session. No railroad charter has yet become a law at this session in which the commissioners are vested with any rights, except as Trustees to receive subscription of Stock upon the payment of five per cent thereof in cash and to organize the corporation after a certain amount of Stock fixed by the charter, has been subscribed upon those terms. There is nothing in this supplement or the original charter which this act revives, that will prevent the commissioners from using the powers vested in them for their individual benefit, regardless of the public interest.

This was the principal reason why the acts incorporating "The Trinity Valley Rail-road Company" and "The Jefferson and Dangerfield Rail-road Company" were returned to your honorable bodies with my objections to both of which objections I have been sustained by the Senate.

act is, that the company is authorized to receive sixteen sections of land for each mile of railroad constructed as fast as any section of five miles shall have been completed and ready for use: while the sixteen section law, as it is called, gives to no other company any right to land under it until a "section of twenty five miles shall have been completed and ready for use.

All other companies whose terminus is on the Gulf coast, or the bays thereof, are required under the sixteen section law to construct their roads at the rate of twenty five miles each year after having completed the first twenty five miles; under this act, this company is entitled to the sixteen sections a mile without being subject to that provision.

No other company in the State can avail itself of the sixteen section law, except it surrender for the State the same number of sections it takes for itself; under this act this company is relieved from that condition. It is not required to leave alternate sections for the State, but may locate its certificates any where within twenty five miles from the line of its road, and this line may be from Pensacola bay to Santa Rosa island, and from Apalachee bay to the Rio Grande.

Another objection to this act is, that it gives to the company sixteen sections of land for each mile of railroad constructed, instead of leaving the company to obtain its lands under the sixteen section law.

Whenever the government organizes a contract is created between the government and the State, by which the company has a vested right to that amount of lands upon the terms named in the charter and the State must take away this right, without making compensation for it.

This is not the case with the sixteen section law, it is a general law to encourage the construction of Railroads which can be repealed at any time, and the Railroad company will have no claim against the State, after its repeal, except for the road they may have completed heretofore. There are many other objections to this act which I have not time here to refer to but those I have mentioned are sufficient to justify its rejection.

Please return it to me for some reconsideration.

and House of Representatives.

I return herewith, to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, An Act authorizing John Mooney to construct a dam across San Marcos River, cut a race from the same on the east bank of said River and to erect Mills and Factories thereon." The Second Section of this Act provides "That the said Mooney shall have the power and right to connect the opposite bank of the River San Marcos with the Mill dam connected with said Mill and Factory, and to use the opposite bank of said River for any necessary purpose within the scope of this charter; Provided that said Mooney shall pay the owner or owners of said opposite bank such damages for the use of the same, as a jury of six men selected by the County Court of Gonzales County shall on their oaths assess.

An examination of the entire act will show that it is solely for the benefit and profit of Mr. Mooney, and the section quoted gives him the right to appropriate the property of an adjoining proprietor to his own use and profit, without first obtaining the consent of the owner.

The Legislature may take and appropriate individual property, for the accommodation of the public without the consent of the owner, if they make adequate compensation for it. But there is no ~~better~~ better principle established than, that individual property cannot be taken or appropriated for private use without the consent of the owner. This act attempts to violate that principle, and is therefore unconstitutional. It is not very material to the party whose rights are invaded by this act, whether this objection is sustained or overruled by the Legislature, except that if it is sustained, it will save him the trouble and expense of applying to the Courts for an injunction. It is better even that an act which authorizes such a glaring invasion of private rights, should not be placed upon our Statute Book. I therefore return it to you for your reconsideration.

To the Senate
And House of Representatives

I have examined with great care, an act that originated in the House of Representatives, entitled "An Act to relinquish the right of the State to certain lands therein named".

The object of this act is to release the right of the State to sixty different tracts of land situated in the Counties of Nueces, Webb, El Paso, Kinney, Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron, accounting in the aggregate, to over two hundred and five leagues, or over Nine hundred Thousand acres in English measure.

I have doubts in vain for such information in regard to the rights of the persons in whose favor these lands are released, as would justify me in coming to a conclusion whether they have a just claim for them or not.

The reports of the Select committees in neither House of the Legislature, state whether these claims are perfect or imperfect titles, nor whether the evidence presented in support of them is verbal or in writing. It will be recollected that an Act was passed on the 14th February 1854. to provide for the investigation of land titles in these Counties, by which two Commissioners were to be appointed who were required to visit those Counties and receive all claims for lands presented to them, together with the evidence in their support; they were also required to investigate these claims in accordance with the principles of justice and report the cases for confirmation where the titles were perfect, or where imperfect, where the same might have been matured into a perfect title under the laws, usages and customs of the Government under which it originated, had the Sovereignty over the same not passed to and been vested in the Republic of Texas, provided such title or inchoate title might was originally founded in good faith. Under this Act Charles S. Taylor Esq of Hardeman County and R. H. Lane Esq of Fannin County were appointed Commissioners; they entered on the discharge of their duties and made a report to the Executive of their proceedings in the month of November last; this report, together with the claims presented to them, and the evidence in support of each, were transmitted to the Legislature at an early day of the first part of your present session.

Those commissioners recommended for confirmation, but a part of the claims presented to them; and those so recommended for confirmation, form but a very small portion of the claims confirmed by this Act.

I find too that a great number of the claims confirmed by this Act were never presented to said Commissioners.

Had this Act only confirmed the small number of claims that these commissioners recommended for confirmation I should have felt no hesitation in approving it. But I do not feel that I would be justified in approving land claims to the amount of Nine hundred thousand acres, when most of these claims originated under the laws and customs and usages of other governments to which I have not access and when the merits of these claims depend upon a mass of testimony which I have not been able to obtain, and which, if it had been before me, would have required months of patient and laborious investigation to form an opinion upon, that would be satisfactory to myself.

I therefore return the Act to you for reconsideration.

I return herewith to the House of Representatives in which it originated "An Act to create the County of Hardin".

I, learn, on examination at the General Land Office, that the County proposed to be created, by this act contains less than Six hundred Square miles. The constitution, according to my view of it, does not authorize the creation of a new county containing a less area than nine hundred Square miles. A similar act was returned to the Senate with this objection at the first part of the present Session and the objection was there sustained.

Believing this act to be unconstitutional, I return it to you for your reconsideration.

I return herewith to the Senate, in which it originated "an act to create the County of La Salle."

I am informed by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, that the County proposed to be made by this act, takes so much of the County of Gillespie as to reduce it below the area of Nine hundred Square miles.

The 34th. Section of the 7th. article of the constitution declares, "that no new county shall be established which shall reduce the County or Counties or either of them, from which it shall be taken, to a less area than nine hundred Square miles; unless by consent of two thirds of the Legislature." This act does not appear ever to have received the assent of two thirds of either House of the Legislature, and does not therefore come to me in such a manner that I am authorized to act upon it.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I transmit herewith, for the information of the Legislature, a letter from James B. Shaw Esq. Comptroller of public accounts, which was received at this Office last evening, from which it will be seen, that the United States Congress has passed an Act extending the time for the payment of the Texas debt (under the Act of Congress of 28th February 1855) until the first day of January 1857, after which time, any residue that may remain of the fund of $7,750,000 00/100 is to be divided according to all the creditors whose claims are filed with the Secretary of the Treasury up to that date.

The effect of this Act of Congress will be, to cut off forever any payment whatever, all those creditors of Texas, whose claims may not be filed with the Secretary of the Treasury prior to the first day of January 1857. Our Act requesting the [illegible] Congress of the 28th of February 1855 was [illegible] as to prevent [illegible] and description of debt are considered as coming within the provisions of the act of Congress of the 28th of February 1855, and then consents that the $7,750,000 00/100 appropriated by Congress shall be apportioned pro rata among the holders of the debt as recapitulated.

It was foreseen by us, that a portion of the debt might not be presented at the United States Treasury within the time limited and our act of acceptance was thus framed, in order that the pro rata of these creditors whose claims might not be filed in time, should remain in the United States Treasury to be paid to them whenever they should afterwards file their claims. This view of the subject was fully presented by me to the Secretary of the Treasury, in a letter of the 5th of February last, in closing him a certified copy of our act of acceptance, a copy of that letter is herewith transmitted.

I also transmit a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury dated 1st of March 1856 in reply to my letter of the 5th of February in which he expresses his concurrence with the construction placed by us on said Act of Congress, and at the expiration of the term limited for the presentation of the debt, he proceeded to apportion the fund of $7,750,000 00 among all the creditors described in our act of acceptance, and paid those whose claims were presented in time; in accordance with that apportionment, retaining in the Treasury the pro rata of those whose claims had not been presented. The account of the fund thus retained in the Treasury, belongs justly to those creditors whose claims were not filed in time, and neither the Secretary of the Treasury nor Congress have any right to make any other application of it. These claims are equally as meritorious as those which were filed in time and received their pro rata.

I concur fully with the opinion expressed by Mr. Shaw in his letter, that this act of Congress diverting the residue of this fund from the payment of those creditors whose claims were not filed in time, is a violation of our act of acceptance, and that the Legislature should protest against it, and declare that we hold the United States responsible for diverting this residue of the fund from the purposes to which it is applicable under our act of acceptance.

This matter is submitted to your consideration, with the full belief that you will take such action in regard to it before your adjournment, as the honor of the State appears to demand.

A Joint Resolution was passed on the 13th of February 1854. appropriating one thousand dollars to build a Tomb over the Grave of General Edward Burleson, and the Governor was required to carry the Resolution into effect.— I found upon making inquiry of those who are familiar with such matters, that a suitable Tomb of durable materials could not be erected for the amount of the appropriation, and I have therefore taken no further action in regard to it.

At the passage of this Resolution a cheap Monument was being constructed by the family of the deceased, which has since been completed, but is without an enclosure, so that it is liable to be broken and destroyed.

This matter is now submitted to your consideration, in order that if you see proper, a further appropriation may be made sufficient to erect a durable monument worthy of the deceased.— If this is not done, I would recommend that the appropriation heretofore made, shall be applied to pay for the monument already erected by his family, and to enclose the ground around it with a neat iron railing.

I return herewith to the House of Representatives in which it originated, "an act for the relief of George Grounds"

This act grants to him a certificate for one League and labor of land.

I have been informed that Mr Grounds formerly made an assignment of his Headright. That the assignee applied to the Board of Land Commissioners in Shelby county and obtained a certificate for one league and labor of land. That the traveling Commissioners failed to recommend his certificate for patent, because Mr Grounds had left the Country and the assignee subsequently instituted a suit in Shelby County District Court for the establishment of it, but failed to obtain a verdict in his favor, for the same reason that the traveling board refused to recommend it.

These facts were communicated to me by respectable authority, and I have no cause to doubt their truth. State Engineer.

Whereas notice has been given to this Office, by the Galveston and Red River Railroad Company, that said Company had on the 29th day of July 1856 completed and put in running order a Section of twenty five miles of said Railroad. This is therefore to require you, to proceed and examine said Section of road, and report to this Office under oath, all such facts as are necessary to determine whether said road has been constructed in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of said Company, and of the General laws of the State now in force regulating Railroads.

In order that you may ascertain what facts are necessary to be reported you are referred to the following laws which are all that have any bearing on the subject.

1st. "An Act to establish the Galveston and Red River Railway Company" approved March 11. 1848, Special Laws, 2nd Legislature page 370.

2nd "An Act to amend An Act to establish the Galveston and Red River Railway Company" approved February 11th. 1850. General Laws, 3rd Legislature regular Session page 208.

8th. "An Act to amend the 22d Section of an Act to regulate Railroad Companies." Approved February 7th. 1853. Approved February 11th. 1854. General Laws 5th Legislature page 95. You will report particularly

1st. The actual length of railroad constructed.

2nd. How much of it was completed and in running order previous to the 31st day of July 1856.

3rd. The actual weight of the iron rails with which said road is constructed.

4th. Whether said road has been completed in a good and substantial manner.

It is not intended that your examination and report shall be confined to the particular matters above enumerated, but it is expected that you will examine into and report upon all such facts as may be necessary to determine whether said company is entitled to receive from the State the Sixteen Sections of land per mile for the roads they have constructed — as regard to all such facts as cannot be verified by you personally; you will cause to be taken the affidavits of at least two disinterested and credible persons and return the same with your report.)

Executive Office
Austin Texas 30th Aug. 1858.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I return herewith, to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, "An Act to incorporate the Mexican Gulf and Rio Grande Rail Road Company"

This act creates a Railroad corporation to consist of certain persons therein named, who may proceed and organize before any Stock is subscribed for or any capital is paid in.

They are also authorized to dispose of Stock as they may think proper. Two charters similar to this were returned to the Senate, without approval, at an early day of the Session, to both of which this formed the principal objection. The objection was sustained by the Senate in both cases, and since that time no railroad Charter has been presented to me, under which an organization can take place until there has been an actual subscription of Stock and a portion thereof has been paid in cash, nor under which any Stock can be issued except a portion thereof is paid in cash at the time it is issued, or except it is issued for materials or labor or for the debts of the Company. There are other objections to this act which I have not time to detail; but these are sufficient to induce me to return it to you for reconsideration.

Executive Office
Austin Texas, Aug. 30th 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I have examined with care an Act which originated in the House of Representatives, entitled "An Act to provide for the safe keeping of the Capitol and furniture, and to define the duties of the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives."

This Act makes the Offices of the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, permanent Offices, with a Salary of One thousand dollars a year each, besides their per diem pay of five dollars during the Session of the Legislature.

The duties which this Act imposes upon these officers, in addition to their ordinary duties during the Session of the Legislature are— 1st to record the Journals of the 6th Legislature in bound books, attaching thereto a full and complete index. 2d To make an index of all the papers connected with each House from the organization of the Republic to the present time. 3d To take charge of the Capitol Grounds and superintend the preservation of the furniture belonging to the Capitol, except such rooms in the same as have been otherwise provided for by law. 4th To make all necessary purchases of Stationary for the use of the Legislature and attend to the fitting up of the Capitol for the meeting thereof. 5th To make an index of all relief laws passed since the date of the Consultation to the present time; stating briefly the character of relief granted.

I can conceive of no advantage to be derived from the 1st duty of recording the Journals of each House in a bound book, the record when made, will be no more than a manuscript copy of the Journals, which will not be as good evidence in law as the printed Journals which are published under the authority of the Legislature. Those printed journals are the only ones that are ever referred to, and are better evidence of the proceedings than any thing else, except the original journals as made up by the Clerks from day to day.

The second duty of making an index of all papers connected with each House from the organization of the Republic; ought to be performed by a good Clerk in one months time, at least of all such papers as are of any value to the State or any body else.

The 3rd duty was performed for several months previous to the commencement of your last November Session and well performed too, by a man who remained at the Capitol most of the time day and night, for the sum of Fifty dollars a month.

The 4th duty has been heretofore performed by the Comptroller of Public Accounts, and well done too, at no other cost to the State than the amount paid for materials and actual labor.

The 5th duty involves no more labor than making an abstract of the manuscript relief laws in the Secretary of States Office, and can be performed by a good Clerk in one month. It has been usual to allow the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House about one month pay after the close of the Session in which to complete the journals and to file and arrange the papers; and this time has been sufficient in every case where these Officers have given any attention to it.

It will thus be seen, that all the duties assigned to these Officers from which the public are to derive any benefit may be well performed for not exceeding Sixteen hundred dollars for two years, while under this act it will cost the State Four thousand dollars for two years.

It is true the amount to be saved will be but Twenty four hundred dollars; but the principle is one of same importance, whether two permanent Offices shall be created, which it will be difficult hereafter to abolish.

These considerations compel me to withhold my assent from this act, and it is returned to you for reconsideration.

E M Pease.

Edward Clark,
Secretary of State.

The State of Texas.

To all and singular the Sheriffs, Constables and other civil Officers — Greeting

Whereas it has been represented and made known to me by Herschel V. Johnson the Governor of the State of Georgia that Henry H. Lumpkin late of said State of Georgia stands charged by Indictment, found in the Superior Court of the County of Carroll in said State of Georgia, at the December term 1855, "with the crime of Larceny after trust," and that the said Henry H. Lumpkin has fled from justice in said State and taken refuge in the State of Texas; and whereas the said Governor of the State of Georgia in pursuance of the Constitution and laws of the United States, has demanded of me that I cause the said Henry H. Lumpkin to be arrested and delivered to Robert H. Springer, the duly authorized agent appointed by the said Governor of the State of Georgia to receive the said Lumpkin into custody and convey him to the State of Georgia — and whereas the said representation and demand are accompanied by a Copy of said Indictment duly certified as authentic by the said Governor of the said State of Georgia.

Now therefore, I, E. M. Pease Governor of the State of Texas, do by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of this State, and of the United States, issue this my warrant, commanding all Sheriffs, Constables and other Civil Officers of this State, to arrest, and to aid and assist in arresting the said Henry H. Lumpkin, and deliver him when arrested to the said Robert H. Springer, agent of the said State of Georgia, in order that he may be taken back to the said State of Georgia to be dealt with for said crime of "Larceny after trust" according to law.

In testimony whereof, I hereto sign my name and cause the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the City of Austin, this the 13th day of September A. D., 1856, and of the Independence of the United States the 81st and of Texas the Twenty fifth year.

Seal.

Edward Clark
Secretary of State.

The State of Texas,

Whereas a Writ has been issued for the County of Jackson in said State on the 4th day of April 1860 and Alex. J. Hennery was convicted for an assault and battery and was fined therefor in the sum of One hundred and fifty dollars besides costs, which conviction was afterwards taken to the Supreme Court of this State and there affirmed: and whereas it has been made known to me that said Hennery is or was at the time of said conviction a minor and that the said costs and fine can be collected, and that if it is paid it must be done by his Father, who is an estimable man and an adopted citizen.

Now therefore I, F. R. Lubbock Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby remit the said fine and the judgment rendered therein and the execution of the costs of said case.

In witness whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the City of Austin this the Eighth day of February A. D. 1861 and of the Independence of the Republic the twenty ninth year.

That the said Robert Crozybaur undertakes and agrees to locate and survey for said State the Four hundred thousand acres of land set apart for the benefit of a Lunatic Asylum, a Deaf and Dumb Asylum, a Blind Asylum and an Orphans Asylum by "An act setting aside and appropriating Land for the benefit of Asylums approved 5th August 1856. said lands to be located and surveyed in Sections of Six hundred and forty acres and fractions thereof within the district of country commonly known as the Mississippi and Pacific Rail Road reservation, and between the 95° and 101° degrees of longitude West from Greenwich. The said Crozybaur is to use and cause to be used all diligent and practicable exertions to secure as good and valuable lands, as can be found vacant within the said District of Country. He is to use all necessary precautions to avoid conflicts with former legal surveys. He marks all the corners to each tract by a State mound, & keep one can be found within two hundred yards, & mark by a mound of earth at least one and a half feet high and three feet across the base, and by the corners so well marked and measured, & [illegible] two hundred yards of [illegible]

He is to run and mark at least three lines to each survey, unless it be entirely in the prairie. To note all crossings of creeks and branches, when he enters and leaves timber, the quality of the soil passed over, all noted peaks, points of timber and mountains, and he shall take all such notes as will be necessary to give the general configuration of the tracts of land on the Maps and field-notes hereafter mentioned. He shall give an estimate, as near as may be, of the portion of timber and prairie in each tract, the character of the timber and the proportionate value of the land. He shall make out full and descriptive field-notes of each tract, with a sketch thereon of the tract described, of at least double the scale used at the General Land Office of Texas, so that on the sketch and field notes every thing to be noted as above described will plainly appear. He shall make out a connected map or maps of the whole work showing the topography and configuration of the ground and adjoining country as far as ascertained, as before mentioned. All of the said lands shall be selected and set aside prior to the First day of March 1857. but if the weather shall be so inclement during the winter as to render it impracticable to run all the division lines, then the residue may be set aside in as large tracts as the quality and quantity of good land in desirable localities will permit, it being understood that any sections or fractional sections that may be included in such tracts and are found to be inferior land, shall afterwards be excluded and good ones selected in lieu of them. The outside lines of any such tracts to be well blazed and marked if in timber, and all the section corners made thereon prior to the first day of March A.D. 1857. He shall previous to the said first day of March make out Field Notes and maps descriptive of and representing the outlines of all the tracts selected whether cut into sections or not cut into sections, and file the same in the different land districts where the lands may be situated, and duplicates thereof shall be taken with the certificates of the District Surveyors stating that they are correct copies of the originals. Like Field notes and maps shall also be temporarily filed in the Land Office before said first of March. All the division lines and corners not finished by the first of March shall be finished during the Spring of 1857.

In consideration for said work to be done by said Conrezbaur the said Pease agrees that the State shall pay him the sum of Nine thousand dollars, to be paid when the whole job is done and accepted or if as before provided the weather shall prove too inclement to complete all the work; then upon his doing all that is required by the above provisions to have done by the first of March 1857, then he shall be paid a pro-rata amount according to the work completed, to be verified by the affidavits of himself and those employed by him in the job, and the residue on the final completion of the job.

For the faithful performance of all the said work the said Conrezbaur has executed a bond with security, in the sum of Eighteen thousand dollars dated the 30. day of September A. D. 1856.

In witness whereof the parties have hereto signed their names and affixed scrawls for seals this 30th day of September A. D. 1856.

Whereas a judgement was rendered in the District Court of Travis County on the 29th. day of January 1855 in favor of the State of Texas against Henry Vines, Sherman Case and Joel A. Burditt for the sum of Seven hundred dollars besides costs upon a bond for the appearance of George Foos to answer an indictment in said Court for stealing a Roan Pony and a white mule, and whereas it has been made known to me that there was a dispute between the prosecutor W. R. Young and the accused George Foos whether the wife of the prosecutor did not lend the property, alleged to have been stolen, to the said Foos; and whereas the said Young, upon whose testimony the said indictment was found, never appeared to give evidence against the accused; and it is believed that said Foos is now dead.

Proclamation

By the Governor of Texas.

In reviewing the history of our State during the past year, we have abundant cause to be thankful for the blessings that have been extended to us as a community.

Our citizens have been favored with an unusual degree of health; peace has prevailed within our borders, and although some sections of the country have been visited with an unexampled drouth, yet the labors of the husbandman have been sufficiently rewarded with the fruits of the earth to meet all our reasonable wants.

The advantages of education and of the Gospel have been more widely diffused among us than at any former period. These blessings demand from us an acknowledgement of our gratitude to their author.

I therefore recommend that thursday, the 27th of November instant, be observed throughout this State as a day of Public Thanksgiving; and I respectfully invite the Clergy of the different religious denominations to unite with their congregations on that day in giving thanks and praise to Almighty God for these manifestations of his divine favor, and in imploring a continuance of his beneficent protection to our beloved State.

In testimony whereof, I have hereto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the City of Austin, this first day of November A. D. 1856. and of the Independence of the United States the Eighty first, and of Texas the twenty-first year.

Austin, Texas, 2d August, 1856.

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives:

I have examined an Act which originated in the House of Representatives, entitled "An Act making an appropriation for the per diem pay and mileage of the members of the Sixth Legislature, and the per diem pay of the Officers of the same, at the adjourned session thereof, which commenced on the seventh day of July, A. D 1856" and it occurs to me that the portion of the Act which provides "that the members of the adjourned session of the Sixth Legislature shall be entitled to mileage at the same rate that members are entitled by law to receive at the regular Sessions of the Legislature," is in conflict with the 23d Section of the 3d Article of the Constitution of the State, which declares that "Each member of the Legislature shall receive from the Public Treasury a compensation for his services, which may be increased or diminished by law; but no increase of compensation shall take effect during the session at which such increase shall be made."

That the mileage for this adjourned Session is an increase of compensation to take effect during the Session at which it is made, is evident from an examination of the law regulating the compensation of the Legislature. This will be found in the acts of the 5th Legislature, and is as follows, to wit: "The members of the Legislature, at each Session hereafter to be held, shall receive from the Treasury of the State, as their compensation five dollars for each day they shall be in attendance on the same, and five dollars for every twenty five miles they may travel in going to, and returning from the place of convening the Legislature."

This law it will be seen, allows mileage but once for each Session, and this has already been appropriated and drawn from the Treasury for the present Session, by all the members except those who have been elected to fill vacancies since the adjournment in February last. Should it be contended that this is another and different Session from that which commenced in November last, and that the existing law gives mileage for it, without the provisions quoted from this Act, the reply is that the Constitution says, there shall be but one Session of the Legislature in every two years, unless convened by the Executive on extraordinary occasions. The present meeting therefore, is either a continuation and part of the regular biennial Session that commenced in November last, or it is a meeting entirely unauthorized by the Constitution and laws of the State.

The enactment of this provision may be considered as an expression of opinion that the existing law does not give mileage for this adjourned Session, else it would only be necessary to make an appropriation of money, without providing "that the members of this adjourned Session shall be entitled to mileage at the same rate as members are entitled at regular Sessions."

It is certain, that unless the existing law gives mileage to the members of this adjourned Session, they cannot Constitutionally receive it, because the Constitution prohibits them from increasing their own compensation.

These considerations prevent me from approving the Act, and it is herewith returned to you for reconsideration.

_____ Dear Sir: _____

Since the conversation I had with you, the other day, in regard to the illegal Peters Colony Certificates, which are said to have been issued by some of the County Courts within the limits of that Colony; I have under the authority vested in me by the 14th Section of "An Act to ascertain the legal claims for money and land against the State" passed August 1st 1856, appointed A. G. Hendricks, Wm. H. Bourland and B. F. Smith of Grayson County to make a full examination of the records of all the County Courts in the Colony that have issued Certificates under the provisions of "An Act relating to lands in Peters Colony" approved Feby. 11th 1852 and to make a report of their examination.

Until this report is made, I think it would be well, as you suggested to suspend all further action upon Colony Certificates issued by the County Courts. When this report comes in you will be able resume operations upon those issued by County Courts where the proceedings have been properly and legally conducted; and continue the suspension in regard to the others until the Legislature can take action in regard to them.

Now therefore for the purpose of ascertaining the truth of said information; I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State having full confidence in the integrity, diligence and discretion of N. T. Whereas, Alexander Nordhans and F. Kopman were convicted of an aggravated assault and battery upon John H. Henriques at the Fall term in the year 1856 of the District Court of Bexar County in said State, for which they were severally fined in the sum of fifty dollars and sentenced to be confined in the County Jail fifteen days; and whereas said conviction is represented to have been obtained mainly upon the testimony of said Henriques, which went to show that the said parties were at the time of the assault armed with a Six-Shooter and knife; and whereas the affidavit of a respectable witness has been presented to me, stating that he was present and witnessed said assault and saw no Six shooter or knife in the hands of either of said parties; and whereas an application has been presented to me from respectable citizens of said County for the pardon of said parties, stating that they are ordinarily quiet and peaceable citizens, and generally esteemed by the community.

Now therefore in view of said circumstances, I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof do hereby grant to the said parties a pardon and release from all or any further confinement in the County Jail of Bexar County under and by virtue of said conviction and the judgement rendered thereon.

Whereas, Samuel Ralph was convicted of an attempt to commit a rape upon the person of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Weaver at the Fall term of the District Court in the year 1856. for the County of Fayette in said State, and was sentenced therefor to be confined to hard labor in the State Penitentiary for the term of one year; and whereas, a statement of the facts proved on his trial; shows he was convicted on the testimony of Mrs. E. C. Weaver alone, who stated, she did not call for help or make any complaint, except to a colored woman, until she was sent for by the Grand-Jury on the 24. Nov., although the attempt was alleged to have been made on the night of the 8. of Nov. and although she says that a person occupied a room across a passage some 3 or 4 steps distant from her room; and whereas a petition has been presented to me signed by a large number of respectable citizens of said county of Fayette for the pardon of said Ralph, in which they state that all the circumstances attending the affair, repel the presumption that said Ralph intended to use force or violence towards Mrs. Weaver, which statement seems to be warranted by the facts proved on the trial;

Now, therefore, I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby grant to the said Samuel Ralph a pardon for said offence, and hereby direct the Sheriff of said County of Fayette or any other officer of this State who may have said Ralph in confinement for said offence to release and discharge him from any further imprisonment therefor.

Whereas, it has been represented and made known to me, by Robert C. Wickliffe the Governor of the State of Louisiana, that William Burnels, John Burnels, Sarah Burnels and James S. Beaty have fled from justice in said State of Louisiana and taken refuge in the State of Texas; and whereas the said Governor of the State of Louisiana in pursuance of the Constitution and laws of the United States, has demanded of me that I cause the said William Burnels John Burnels, Sarah Burnels and James S. Whereas, such information has been communicated to me as to induce the belief that Land Certificates for six hundred and forty acres and for three hundred and twenty acres have been improperly and illegally issued by some of the County Courts within the limits of what is known as Peter's Colony without such proof as the law requires, and that such Certificates have also been issued by some of said Courts to persons not legally entitled to receive them. Whereas, Mathias Lindenburg was heretofore convicted of Perjury at a District Court held in and for the County of Bastrop in said State for which he was sentenced to be confined at hard labor in the State Penitentiary for the term of Five years - where he has now been in confinement under said sentence for about two years; and whereas, it has been represented to me that said Lindenburg is a German by birth, and imperfectly acquainted with the English language, and there is some doubt whether he fully comprehended the questions propounded to him, in answering which, he was charged to have committed Perjury - and whereas, the said Lindenburg has a Wife and a number of children, who by his imprisonment are deprived of all means of support except the labor of said Wife.

In view of these circumstances it is believed that the punishment he has already suffered, has been sufficient to atone to the public for his offence. Now therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of said State, I, E. M. Whereas, application in writing, has been made to me, by W. T. P. Kelly Clerk of the County Court of Williamson County under his hand and the seal of said Court to be a true copy of the original recorded in his Office, together with a further certificate from said Clerk to the effect in like manner, that said original is recorded of his Office, the right to said land was in said State;

Now therefore, I, E. M. Provided always that this cession is granted and made as aforesaid upon the express condition, that the State of Texas shall retain a concurrent jurisdiction with the United States in and over the said lands so ceded and every portion thereof, for that all process, civil or criminal, issuing under the authority of said State, or any of the Courts or judicial Officers thereof, may be executed by the proper Officers thereof, upon any person or persons amenable to the same, within the limits and exclusive of the lands so ceded, in like manner or to like effect as if the said act had never been passed, and this instrument had never been made, saving, however, to the United States security to their property within said limits and exclusive jurisdiction of the same and of said land upon any taxation under the authority of this State, whilst the same shall continue to be owned, held, used and occupied by the United States as a site on which to erect and maintain a light house and not otherwise.

This cause came on to be heard at the April term, 1857, of the District Court of Freestone County, and said State's final judgment was entered in favor of the State against Leonard Lockridge, Sam and Robert Hall, and a writ of scire facias issued for the appearance of said defendants to answer a judgment finding a debt and equitable mortgage against said property, in the sum of one thousand dollars, which judgment was based upon a note given by said defendants to one to secure to the plaintiff the payment of said note, and said defendants appeared in said court to answer said suit, and said note was found under the mortgage and find in the amount for dollars, with interest. Now therefore, E. W. Pease, governor of the State of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby remit all of said judgment for one hundred dollars, specifying so much thereof as relates to the commissions of the District Attorney for obtaining the same, and also remitting the part of judgment which condemned and adjudged to pay the costs of said suit.

Whereas, it has been represented to me that at the Spring Term 1856, of the District Court of Upshur County one Allen Johnson was indicted for an assault and battery, for which he was afterwards arrested and gave a bond with Robert J. Tucker and Edward Ingram as his securities for his appearance in said Court to answer said Indictment — That at the August Term 1856 of said Court said bond was forfeited and a conditional judgment entered thereon for one hundred dollars besides costs: that subsequently said Johnson was again arrested and gave a new bond for his appearance in said Court to answer said charge, under which he did appear at the Spring Term 1857, was tried, convicted and fined in the sum of one dollar: that subsequently at the same Term said conviction and fine was set aside and a new trial was granted and the cause continued in said Court where it is now pending: — That subsequent to said last named proceedings and at said Spring Term 1857, the conditional judgment entered against said Johnson, Tucker and Ingram at the August Term 1856, was made final, and whereas it has been made known to me that said Johnson was confined by sickness so that he was unable to get to the Court-House to make any answer or defence against said judgment on said bond, when the same came on for final hearing: — and whereas, it appears that said Johnson has since appeared and answered to said Indictment, said bond was conditionally forfeited and is still under a good and sufficient bond to appear and answer to said Indictment until it is finally disposed of; there seems to be no good reason why said final judgment on said bonds should be enforced against him and his securities.

Now therefore, I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby remit said final judgment of one hundred dollars against said Johnson, Tucker and Ingram, exciting so much thereof as condemns them to pay the costs, which is left in full force.

Col James H. Head Esq
Sir:

I send you herewith a commission under the provisions of the 4th section of "An Act to examine the legal claims for money and lands against the State," passed 1st August 1856, to examine the records of the County Courts of the Counties in the limits of Peters Colony in which certificates have been issued under the provisions of "An Act relating to lands in Peters Colony" approved 11. of February 1852.

The applications have been made in consequence of information communicated in this office which leads me to believe that certificates have been issued by some of said Counties.

1st. To heads of families and single men over 17 years of age who settled in said Colony subsequent to the 1st day of July 1844.

2nd. To single men who settled in the Colony before the 1st day of July 1844, but who did not become 17 years of age while within that date.

3rd. To additional certificates of 320 acres to single men over 17 years of age who settled in the Colony previous to the 1st of July 1844 but who became heads of families subsequent to that date.

4th. In cases where the residence of the applicants and the residence of the witnesses were not made in persons before the Commissioner in the certificates.

It is believed, that under a correct construction of the provisions of the Act relating to lands in Peters Colony approved 11 Feb. 1852. which is the only law that authorizes County Courts to issue certificates to settlers in Peters Colony; all certificates issued to persons named in the foregoing paragraphs numbered 1. 2. and 3. and also all issued upon such proof as that mentioned in paragraph numbered four are illegal and void.

It is expected that under this appointment you will make a careful examination of the records of the different County Courts of the Counties entered in the limits of Peters Colony in which certificates have been issued to Peters Colonists and that you will also examine persons in regard to the manner in which such records have been kept and that you will make a full report of all the certificates issued by such courts, stating the name of the Colonist, and the quantity of land, with the date when the certificate issued.

It is also expected that you will state in your report, each case where certificates have been issued to any other persons named in the foregoing paragraphs numbered 1. 2 and 3. and also each case where the certificate issued upon such proof as that mentioned in paragraph numbered four.

Should you in your examination find any other particulars than those herein specified, in which the Land Courts or any of them have overreached the law, in issuing such certificates, it is expected that you will also report the facts

We can allow you a compensation of three dollars a day for every day you may be necessarily employed under this appointment, and it is desired that you will make your report as early as convenient.

Your attention is particularly called to the proceedings of the County Courts of Grayson, Cooke and Wise Counties

Your associates under this appointment are Mr. Hendricks Esq. of Grayson County and E. P. Nicholson Esq of Dallas County to whom similar instructions and copies of the laws under which you are to act, have heretofore been sent by mail.

Very respectfully

Ed Rose

The State of Texas.

Whereas such information has been communicated to me as to induce the belief that land certificates for six hundred and forty acres and for three hundred and twenty acres have been improperly and illegally issued by some of the County Courts within the limits of what is known as Peters Colony, without such proof as the law requires, and that said certificates have also been issued by some of said Courts to persons not legally entitled to receive them;

Now therefore, for the purpose of ascertaining the truth of said information, I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State, having full confidence in the integrity, diligence and discretion of James P. Ott of Grayson County, do hereby appoint him the said Ott (in the place of Austin C. Mainor heretofore appointed, but who declines to act) in conjunction with W. G. Chandler of Grayson County and C. P. Stephens of Fannin County, with power to examine the records of the County Courts of the Counties in the limits of said Peters Colony, and which certificates have been issued under the provisions of "An Act relating to lands in Peters Colony" approved Feby 16 1852 and also to examine witnesses in regard to the manner in which said Records have been kept, and to make a full report of such examination in accordance with a letter of instructions which accompanies this appointment.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name, and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed. At the City of Austin, this the first day of September A.D. 1857, and of the Independence of Texas, the twenty-second year.

Whereas it has been made known to me, that a body of men armed and disguised, recently made a sudden and unprovoked assault within the limits of Karnes County in this State, upon several Citizens of Aransas County who were peacefully pursuing their occupation of transporting goods along the Public highway and killed five men and wounded three others, and whereas, such outrages are calculated to bring disgrace upon the State and ought not to go unpunished, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, do hereby command and require the Civil Officers of said County of Karnes to use every legal measure and, arresting and bringing to justice, the persons concerned in said affair. They will call upon the Citizens of the County, to aid them, and if they refuse, it is manifest, they will share the guilt and consequences which may hereafter befall the County, even if the whole power of the State has to be used for that purpose.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name, and caused to be made hereon the impression of the Great Seal of the State, this the 23rd day of September A.D. 1857.

Whereas, it has been made known to me, by affidavit, in writing, that on the 12' day of September 1857, on the public highway about one league from the Town of Helena in Karnes County, in said State, a body of men, armed and disguised, made a wanton and unprovoked attack upon a train of Carts loaded with supplies, for the United States Government, from the coast to San Antonio, and fired upon the persons engaged in driving said Carts, and killed Juan Antonio Delgado, a citizen of Texas County and wounded Vicente Valdez, Esteban Valdez, and Mariano Valdez, also citizens of said County — and whereas, it appears that the persons who committed said Offence are unknown — and secrete themselves.

Now therefore, I, E. M. Pease Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby offer a reward of Five hundred dollars for the arrest and delivery of the persons who committed said Offence, or any one of them, to the Sheriff of said County of Karnes, to be dealt with according to law.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name, and caused the impression of the great seal of the State to be made hereon, this the 23' day of September A.D. 1857.

Whereas, it has been made known to me, that a body of men, armed and disguised, recently made a wanton and unprovoked assault, within the limits of Karnes County, in this State, upon several citizens of Bexar County, who were peaceably pursuing their occupation of transporting goods along the Public highway, and killed one of them, and wounded three others, and whereas, such outrages are calculated to bring disgrace upon the State, and ought not to go unpunished.

Now, therefore, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, do hereby command and require the civil officers of said County of Karnes to be vigilant in ferreting out, arresting and bringing to justice the persons who committed such offences. They will call upon the citizens of the County to aid them, and if these refuse or are insufficient, they will report the facts, and assistance will be sent them from other counties. The said officers are also commanded and required to adopt such measures as will prevent a recurrence of these outrages.

It is made my duty to see that the laws of the State are executed and I am determined to do it.

Every citizen is entitled to the protection of the laws, in any lawful occupation he may choose to follow, and if the civil authorities of the Counties along the route from San Antonio to the Gulf, where this and other outrages of a similar character have recently occurred, are not able with the assistance of their own citizens to prevent a repetition of them, it will become my duty to suppress them, even if the whole power of the State has to be used for that purpose.

In testimony whereby, I have hereunto signed my name, and caused to be made hereon the impression of the Seal of the State, this the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1857.

Comdg Dept. of Texas
Sir.

Circumstances have rendered it necessary that I shall call out a Company of Mounted volunteers to suppress certain outrages against the Public peace that have recently been committed in this vicinity, and the State is without arms at this place. I have therefore taken the liberty of applying to you to obtain them from the Ordnance Depot in this City —

The emergency is great and the arms are required for immediate use. I have just at hand to furnish Capta. Jas. Palmer who is to command said Company, 75 rifles and 150 Pistols, or such number not exceeding that, as Capta. Palmer may apply for. I will cause them to be returned in good order, or will procure an order from the War Department of Washington to have them charged to the State of Texas on account of the quota of arms now due said State from the United States. Or, as you may prefer, pay complying with this application will greatly oblige the public interests, and Oblige.

Very respectfully

Whereas, the failure of the civil authorities and citizens of Karnes County, up to this time, to take any active measures for the arrest and punishment of the persons who recently assaulted an offending citizen on the public highway, and killed one and wounded several others, seems to require the adoption of such measures, on the part of the State, as will preserve peace and prevent similar occurrences hereafter.

Now, therefore, I E. M. Pease Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws thereof, have thought proper to call out a company of Militia, and place upon the road from San Antonio to the Coast for the protection of the lives and property of those engaged in the transporting of goods and merchandize over said road, until the Legislature can pass such laws as will secure the speedy arrest, and punishment of those who committed these offenses, and give ample protection for the future, to every citizen whose business requires him to travel on the public highways of the State. This is a measure of precaution; and the militia will only act in the defensive, unless it shall become necessary to repel assaults upon those under their protection, in which case they will use such force as will be required to defeat the assailants, and to arrest and deliver them to the proper officers for trial and punishment.

It is not intended that this company of militia shall supersede the action of the civil authorities, but rather that it shall aid them in the preservation of peace and good order; and it is confidently expected, that all the good officers of the State, and all good citizens, will see their obligations to bring past offenders to justice, and give full protection to life and property hereafter.

San Antonio, Oct. 3. 1869.

Fort Gibson
3rd Oct. 1837.

To Governor G. W. Nelson
Sir:

Relying full confidence on your fairness and discretion, I hereby authorize and commission you to raise and take the command of a Company of Mounted Volunteer Militia to be stationed along the route from Fort Gibson to the coast by the way of Texas and Polaski Counties, for the purpose of giving protection to the lives and property of those engaged in the transportation of corn and merchandize. The company will be enrolled for eight days service unless sooner discharged, it will consist of sixty seven privates, four Corporals, four Sergeants, one first and one second Lieutenant and one Captain. They will provide their own horses and arms, and will receive the same pay and in lieu and as are allowed by the laws of the United States, to volunteer mounted Militia when employed in their service.

In enrolling men for the service, you will receive none but those you believe to be well disposed, and willing to use their efforts to preserve peace and good order.

You will designate the officers of the Company under you, and upon a report of their names to me, Commissions will be sent to you for them at such place as you may direct. It is intended that you shall require all the officers and privates to abstain from trespassing upon the persons or property of citizens, and act towards them in a conciliatory manner, and in order to secure this being done, you are authorized at any time to discharge any officer or private who shall be guilty of disobeying any of the rules and regulations you may adopt for their government.

You will establish three or more stations along the route from this place to the coast, where you will keep your supplies.

It is desired that you shall afford an escort to each train passing up and down, sufficient to protect it from attack, you will confine the operations of your Company simply to the defence of the persons and property composing the trains, unless it may become necessary to repel attacks upon them, in which case you will use such force as may be required to defeat the assailants and to arrest and deliver them to the civil authorities to be dealt with according to law. Should the civil authorities at any time, require your aid in the execution of process or the arrest of offenders, you will give it promptly, and in all such cases you will act under their directions.

In issuing rations of subsistence and forage, you will be governed by the rules and regulations of the United States service, a contract has been made to deliver them for your command at such places as you designate.

Should you deem it necessary to enroll any who are unable to supply themselves with arms, I gave you herewith a requisition upon the Commanding General of this Department, who has kindly consented to furnish such number of Rifles and Pistols as may be needed, in assuming these to the men you may enroll, you will take their receipts for them, and require them to be returned or accounted for when the men are discharged.

You will proceed to enroll the Company and place them on the roll as early as possible, it will perhaps be best to place detachments of the Company on duty at once, as they may be needed, without waiting for the whole company to be raised, but this is left to your discretion.

You will procure on the credit of the State, giving receipt therefor, such accommodation, tents and Camp equipage as may be needed for the use of your Command.

Should any other articles, allowed under the regulations of the United States be needed, you are authorized to procure them on the credit of the State, making a report to me in all cases of your proceedings.

You will make frequent reports to me of the operations of your command.

Eli Lee

Governor of the State of Maryland

Sir, I have not been able in the short time since I received this commission to procure a sufficient number of Rifles and Pistols to give you authority to enroll the number of men spoken of in your instructions.

Department of State
Austin, October 29th 1857.

To His Excellency
The Governor.

I respectfully submit the following report of the transactions of this Department of the Government since the 21st of December 1855, and of its present condition.

The most important duty devolving upon the Secretary of State, is the dissemination of the laws among the people. Considerable delay occurred in the discharge of this duty as to the laws of both sessions of the last Legislature and other books, notwithstanding prompt measures were adopted to get them out, and it is but just that the causes which induced it should be stated.

In the first place the Hon: Legislature did not, at its first session, make the necessary appropriation to pay for the distribution of the laws, journals &c,- and this proved a difficulty of no trivial character, as it is difficult to contract with persons for the performance of such labor when they have to await the action of a subsequent Legislature for compensation, and contracts made under such circumstances are generally less favorable to the State than when made entered into with the expectation of being paid immediately upon the execution of the work. This obstacle was in some degree removed however, by the early meeting of the Legislature. Contracts were prepared and awarded for the distribution of the laws, journals &c, at the close of each session of the Legislature, and the necessary bonds prepared and forwarded the parties with instructions as to their execution, and notice given as to the time the books would be ready for delivery. The persons undertaking the labor failed in both instances to appear when directed, and some time thereafter notified the Department of their abandonment of the contract. For some reason the parties did not execute and return to the Office the contracts and bonds. The first failure was perhaps but a small one, before the assembling of the Legislature, and it was thought, and so phrased that no general injury would result from the course, it was concluded to delay the distribution of the laws of the winter session until those of the summer session of the Legislature, and the Codes, which were expected to be printed and delivered in season, were ready to go out, and at one and the same time and under one contract, forward to the Counties, the whole number of laws, journals, Codes &c, due them. In the mean time a copy of the laws, general and special, were forwarded through the mail, to the Chief Justice of each County in the State and the cost charged to the postage fund of this Department. A contract was finally made with Shirman Carr of this County, for the sum of sixteen hundred dollars, and all the laws, journals and other books due each County, well secured in cloth wrappers, were delivered him on the 13 day of February last; the period to which the distribution was necessarily postponed to await the arrival of the Codes. For his labor performed the sum paid is not deemed excessive. There are some one hundred and eighty Counties in the State, and the average number of books to each was about one hundred. The contractor tho' some time performing his task, has brought in the receipts of the proper Officers of each County, for the books, and they are safely filed in this Office. It is proper to state here that as soon as a sufficient number of Codes were received, one copy was forthwith dispatched through the mail to each District Judge and District Attorney in the State, and to the Chief Justice of each County.

I would respectfully submit that, the law regulating the duties of the Secretary of State should be so changed as to allow him more time to furnish the Public Printer with copies of the laws. He is required within six days after the laws reach his Office, to furnish copies to the printer, and subject as he is to be called upon during a Session of the Legislature to perform other duties imposed upon him, this time, with only one clerk, is not sufficient. For the first month or six weeks of the session the labor may be performed, but after that, the laws come so rapidly to the Department, that it is impossible to copy and compare them and furnish the copy within the time given.

I deem this a proper occasion to state that the assistance of this office should, I think, be increased. The duties imposed upon it are responsible and arduous, and at times its business is so great, that, with the aid now given, it cannot be discharged as early as the public interests require. This was so particularly the case after the close of the summer session of the last Legislature, that I felt compelled to procure additional service. I engaged Mr. Philander Priestly of this City, allowing him, subject to the approval of the Hon: Legislature, the monthly compensation allowed other Clerks. There is now due him the sum of two hundred and thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents. His assistance was needed. He labored faithfully, and I respectfully ask that the Hon: Legislature will make the necessary appropriation to pay him.

It would not require the constant service of another Clerk to relieve the Office, and as it is contemplated, I believe, to establish a State Library, I would suggest that the Librarian, if such an Officer be made, might labor in the State Department when necessary.

It seems that this might be done, and in this way both Offices be accommodated with the increased expense to the State of one Officer only.

I respectfully suggest the following amendments of the law regulating the duties of Public Printer and prescribing the prices to be paid for printing the laws and journals.

It throws copies of the general laws should be added to the number now required to be printed, making the number five instead of four thousand. New Counties will probably be created by this and several subsequent Legislatures, all of which will have to be supplied with the laws, and the present number by the frequent additions made to the number of their officers, are constantly increasing their demand for them. Applications for them are often made by Counties that have had them, those heretofore furnished having been lost by fire or in some other way. These considerations induced the recommendation above made, and I think the number printed will not be greater than is needed at the other Legislatures. The expense of the printing of the prior edition, the five thousand copies would, I presume, cost but little more than paper.

Care should be taken that the Public Printer is sent and deliver the laws at this Office. Without intending any reflection upon the merits of the present Printer, I think such a change would be beneficial to the State by the better security it would afford for the good and decent printing and stitching of the laws and journals. The Printer should be required to deliver as well as fold and stitch the laws and journals, and for the better accommodation of the bench, I would recommend that they be bound in a cheap and substantial style. This expense might be done at a cost of about fifteen cents per copy.

I should have stated in my formal report, but it escaped my memory, that a difference of opinion had occurred with the printer as to the price to be paid for the public printing. The difference arose upon accounts for printing the appendix journals of the 27th Legislature which were made up in great part of what is called rule and figure work. It was contended that the prices specified in the law relate to what is denominated plain work and that for rule and figure work double those prices should be allowed, or that one page of rule and figure work is equal to two of plain, such is the rule among printers I am informed, and it may be very just, but I do not think the law fixing the price for the public printing intends to recognize this rule and I have not felt at liberty to depart from its directions in fixing upon bills for printing. Under these circumstances I felt it due the present printer, however, and wished to notify him of my opinion of the law, and that I should adhere to it unless differently instructed by the Legislature. If a distinction in the printing is intended to be recognized, I would for the future relief and convenience of this Department and of the Public Printer, suggest that the law be so changed as to state the prices to be paid for the different kinds of printing.

The amendment proposed to the constitution by the last Legislature and submitted to the voters of the state at the election in August last, was defeated. In presenting it before the people, your Excellency was particularly careful to recommend it to their attention, and to endeavor to provide against its failure, from misapprehension on the part of the electors, or mistake on the part of the managers of the election. Still it failed. The votes given for and against the amendment according to the returns of said election, amounts to twenty-nine thousand, eight hundred and fifty-eight votes; and of this number, eighteen thousand, seven hundred and fifty-six are for, and eleven thousand, one hundred and two against it, showing a majority in favor of the amendment, of seven thousand, six hundred and fifty-two votes. But the constitution requires that, to succeed, it should have received a majority of the votes of all those voting for Representatives in the Legislature, and as there appears to have been forty-eight thousand, seven hundred votes given in the state for Representatives in the Legislature, it is found that the amendment did not receive the vote required.

Bills for publishing the Proclamation of your Excellency submitting said amendment to the electors of the state have been received from thirty-nine papers, amounting together to the sum of $2024.85/100, and it is estimated that the accounts of the papers not yet heard from, will increase this sum at least, one thousand dollars, making the cost of the publication of said proposed amendment about $3024.85/100. No funds having heretofore been provided to meet this charge against the state, it will devolve upon the ensuing Legislature to make the necessary appropriation to pay it.

I feel it incumbent upon me to make known, through your Excellency, to the ensuing Legislature, the work on the part of this Department, of an efficient supply of the laws, Reports and other books, to answer the necessities of the state. The laws, including those of the regular session of the third Legislature are included in Twelfth Legislature; those enacted since that time are included in Fourteenth, and so on. Of Twelfth Legislature, there are now [illegible] office, about twenty-five copies, a number too small to meet the present demands of the [illegible] for them. It is [illegible] of the last Legislature [illegible] second and fifth volume.

Except the eighth volume, just received, the State is without an adequate supply of the Reports of the Supreme Court. It is true, it is said as to the first several volumes, that some of the Counties last created and organized are deficient of them.

It will thus be seen that there must be a complete re-printing of the laws now in force, or a repurchase of the Reports, and a reprint of those laws not contained therein and of which the State is without copies, or a repurchase of the Supreme Court Reports from the first to the present volume inclusive, a sum far exceeding two hundred copies of each volume, barely sufficient to meet the deficiency which the law directs of them.

In my former report to your Excellency, I invited the attention of the Gen. Legislature to the neglected and exposed condition of this Department, and asked that a better and secure building than the one then occupied might be provided for it. Though no deficiency was made for this better accommodation, it is still, in my understanding, to be understood that it should be remedied, and acting upon this impression, under the direction and sanction of your Excellency, the office was removed to the room in the Capitol now occupied and used for it. It is believed to be now safe and protected from the injury and danger attending and threatening them in our late times. I have endeavored to do so directly and as much in accordance as that anything pertaining to it may be readily ascertained.

It will be found, if the Constitution requires a full and complete record of all the official acts of your Excellency.

It has been my wish to administer it so as to protect and advance the interests of the State committed to its charge, and render it useful to my fellow citizens, and if I have failed to do so, it has not resulted from want of desire and effort.

I should be derelict, in justice to my bondsmen, who have been with me during the time I have had charge of the office, if I failed to acknowledge my indebtedness to them for the efficient aid rendered me in the discharge of my labors, and I trust I may be excused, for taking this occasion to extends to him my thanks, and the commendation due his business capacity and faithful and constant devotion to duty.

I have the honor to be
Very respectfully &c.

Message of the Governor to the Twenty Legislature.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives:

The pleasure experienced in speaking upon this occasion, is somewhat alloyed by the fact, that our usual prosperity has been interrupted, in some sections of the State, during the past two years, by a failure of crops caused by a drought, unprecedented in the annals of the country. We have, however, abundant cause for congratulation, in the bountiful supply with which our sections have been favored, the remarkable health that has distinguished the past season, the continued increase of our population and the rapid extension of our settlements. These blessings should fill our hearts with devout gratitude to that Omnipotent Being whose power and goodness have been so manifest unto us in our great history.

Many causes combined to render upon prudent business men of moderate interest. Yet I have recommended as a special cause a large portion of the burden in laboring under pecuniary embarrassments, that has so suddenly depreciated the value of every description of property, and rendered for a season, the operation of almost every branch of industry; the cause of this depreciation I cannot but trace to the rapid increase of paper, that has taken place in the last two years of [illegible] improvident issues of paper currency have led to rash speculation and an extension of credit beyond the reasonable demand of business.

Our state is but slightly affected by these calamities, and that we have in a great degree escaped them, is owing to the fact, that under our prohibitory legislation, no paper currency has ever been able to obtain a general circulation among us.

It is to be hoped that the present financial crisis and the causes that have produced it, will not be disregarded by those who are seeking to change our policy in regard to banking.

In giving you a statement of the condition of our finances, I am gratifying to be able to communicate, that there has been a very considerable increase in the value of our taxable property during the last two years, though not so great as in some former periods. The total valuation of the assessment for the year 1857 was $[illegible] and the sum produced are not materially different from 1856. The state tax for that year was $[illegible], and the tax upon occupations and sales of merchandise, $[illegible] 34, making the entire tax, for the year, amount to about $[illegible] 88, showing an increase of about eleven per cent over that for 1856.

The net revenue produced by this tax, after deducting the expenses for assessing and collecting and the ten per cent. appropriated by the Constitution for schools, was about $[illegible] 05.

The total valuation for the year 1857 was $183,594,205, and the produced an additional tax of $2,116,901 34. The poll tax for the year produced $24,225 00, and the tax upon occupations and sales of merchandise, $[illegible] 34, making the entire tax, for the year, amount to about $[illegible] 88, showing an increase of about eleven per cent over that for 1856.

The net revenue produced by this tax, after deducting the expenses for assessing and collecting and the ten per cent. appropriated by the Constitution for schools, was about $[illegible] 05.

Some of these figures may be slightly changed by the official reports, which are not yet completed.

It will be seen that the net revenue from taxation, for the two years of 1856 and 1857, was about $484,333 58, which is about the same as the appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the government for those years, including the amounts appropriated for the support of the Insane Asylum, the Institutions for the education of the Blind, the Deaf and Dumb, and for the Penitentiary.

On the first day of the present month, the funds in the State Treasury, exclusive of the School Fund, amounted to $1,230,000 00; but of this sum about $470,000 00 are subject to be drawn, for the payment of appropriations heretofore made, so that the actual balance in the Treasury, applicable to future appropriations, is only about $760,000 00.

The ordinary expenses of the government, during the next two years, will be considerably more than they were for the two past years. Several new judicial districts will have to be created for the accommodation of the newly established frontier counties; and certain costs in criminal prosecutions, which under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, are to be paid by the State, to clerks and sheriffs, will have to be provided for.

The probable amount that will be required to meet the ordinary expenses of the government, during the next two years, is about $540,000 00. The funds now in the Treasury will be sufficient to pay these expenses, and all extraordinary appropriations that should be made at the present session; but if we rely on these funds alone, and release to the counties the taxes of the ensuing two years, as we have done of the last six, we shall find ourselves with an exhausted Treasury, during the succeeding two years of 1858 and 1859; for most of the taxes of 1858 will be uncollected in the Treasury until near the middle of the year 1861.

It has, therefore become a question that we shall now abandon that practice.

Should we hereafter retain the taxes for the use of the State, the net revenue [illegible] be reduced, from the present rate of [illegible] cents on the $100, and [illegible] to twenty cents. [illegible] they will not [illegible] the ordinary expenses of the years 1858 and 1859, but whatever deficiency there may be, can be supplied from the funds now in the Treasury, and long before these funds will be exhausted in paying such deficiencies, and the extraordinary appropriations that will be required, the increased value of our taxable property will produce, at the reduced rates, an ample revenue to meet all our wants.

A thorough investigation of this subject has satisfied me that this reduction may be made and that we shall still have ample means to meet all appropriations here recommended and all others that justice and sound direction may dictate.

I cannot end in this occasion, calling upon attention to the fact, that justice has not been done to a portion of the creditors of the late Republic of Texas. Under the act of the Congress of the United States, providing for the payment of those creditors whose debts were recognized by a Bridge of the amount due of the late Republic, which was accepted by the last Legislature, all those debts have been paid at the rate of seventy six cents and nine-tenths of a cent on each dollar of their ostensible value, although they were classified and acknowledged by the State at different rates, ranging from twenty to one hundred cents on the dollar. Among the debts so classified and acknowledged, were $229,291 47 of ten per cent. bonds issued to Samuel Swartwout, and others, for a loan obtained from them during the first year of our revolution, $65,208 33 on the first issue of paper money made and by the Republic, which were paid out by the Government at par, and $198,000 five per cent. bonds issued to the United States Bank, for a loan obtained in the year 1837; the first two of which were classified and acknowledged at their ostensible value, and the last at eighty-seven cents and forty-five-hundredths of a cent on each dollar, of its ostensible value. The holders of these debts received under the act of Congress, before referred to, only seventy-six cents and nine-tenths of a cent, on each dollar of their ostensible value, and there is still justly due them the difference between what they received, and what the State acknowledged to be due them, which amounts to $153,217 56. These debts were among the most meritorious that were owing by the Republic, and they are the only ones that have not been paid at as high a rate as they were acknowledged. The holders of these debts were always willing to accede to the terms of payment proposed by Texas, but owing to the refusal of the other creditors to accede to these terms, they could not be paid. When our Legislature accepted the act of Congress, before referred to, the holders of these debts, acting on the principle that had previously governed them, of throwing no obstacles in the way to prevent us from settling the whole debt as we thought proper, readily acceded to it, received their pro rata, although much less than we had acknowledged to be due them, and signed releases.

When this matter was before Congress, it was objected to the bill, that these creditors would not receive as much under its provisions, as Texas had acknowledged to be due them, and to obviate this objection that provision was inserted, by which the United States were to refund to us the amount we had already paid on a portion of the debt, which it was supposed would be sufficient to enable us to make up to these creditors what they would lose by receiving the pro rata payment proposed.

We have received under that provision the sum of $298,065 55, which is more than double the amount due to these creditors.

This whole subject was fully canvassed by the last Legislature, when the act of Congress was accepted, and a bill for the payment of these debts passed the Senate and received a very considerable majority in the House of Representatives, but it failed to become a law, owing to a decision of the House, in opposition to the opinion of the Speaker, that it required a vote of two-thirds to pass such a law. This decision was based upon the mistaken ground that, as the holders of these debts had signed releases, when they received their pro rata payment under the act of Congress, their claims were extinguished, and any further payment to them was a gratuity which could only be made by a two-thirds vote.

Whatever may be said as regard to the cases argued by these parties, the facts are as stated, but we by our legislation have a sound position debts to be justly due, that they have never been paid, that the obtaining of these releases in order to obtain from the United States any portion of their debts, and that every other creditor of the Republic whose debt was secured by a pledge of the sinking funds, has been paid the full amount that the State acknowledged to be due him.

I have been thus minute in detailing the circumstances in relation to these claims, in order that the subject may be properly understood. For I feel that the honor and reputation of our State require that they should be paid.

The reports of the State Treasurer, as Ex-officio Superintendent of Common Schools, for the years 1856 and 1857, show that the principal of our school funds has been increased to about two millions and two hundred thousand dollars, under the provisions of two laws of the last session, by which the ten per cent. of our annual revenue was set apart by the Constitution for schools, and the proceeds of the sales of all public lands within the limits of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad reserve, are annually added to the fund.

Should these judicious provisions remain unbroken, and a similar law be enacted, for the sale of our public lands in other parts of the State, the proceeds will be added to the fund, as well here after by increased over a hundred thousand dollars each year.

The number of scholars reported for the year 1856, was 78,[illegible], and the amount distributed for schools, from the income of the fund, was $141,588 00, being about one dollar and thirty-eight cents for each scholar.

The number reported for 1857 was about 82,000, and the amount distributed from the income of the fund was $146,000, being about one dollar and twenty one cents for each scholar.

While the amended school law of the last session, has proved to be most secure satisfactory to the people, from the passage of the law, numerous instances have occurred in the districts, that will require amendment.

in these reports. They are the results of the experience of the Superintendent and others, in witnessing the practical operation of the present and former law, and are worthy of your serious consideration.

On former occasions, I have called the attention of the Legislature, to the importance of establishing a State University, where all the facilities can be furnished for obtaining a thorough education, that are to be found in other States; and I feel that I should be wanting in duty, did I fail to urge this measure upon your consideration. No country was ever better situated to commence such an undertaking. We have ample means in the Treasury, not needed for other objects, with which to erect the necessary buildings; and we have two hundred and twenty-one thousand and four hundred acres of land already set apart by your predecessors for a University, the proceeds of which, if properly managed, will be a liberal endowment, and will enable us to command the services of the ablest professors in every department of learning.

The necessity for such an institution is felt and acknowledged by every one; and I trust that you will not let this session pass, without adopting measures for its establishment at an early day.

The sixteen of the University lands, to make up the fifty leagues, have been selected and surveyed in accordance with the provisions of an act of the last Legislature.

But little progress has been made, under the act authorizing the University lands, heretofore located, to be divided into quarter sections, and alternate each thereof, to be sold. Only two District Surveyors have made returns of their work to the General Land Office; and one of these was so imperfect that it had to be sent back for correction. I have not thought it advisable to commence the sale of any of these lands, until all, that are situated in the same section of the State are ready for sale, under the law.

I transmit herewith, the reports of the Inspectors and Superintendents of the Penitentiary for the Education of the Blind; and of the Deaf and Dumb.

The annual expenses of the Penitentiary for the two last years amount to the sum [illegible] per year, [illegible] to push them into operation, and to support them during the year. Many difficulties have been encountered by the Trustees in commencing and putting these institutions into successful operation, and great credit is due to them for having so disinterestedly given their time and labor without compensation, to the accomplishment of these benevolent enterprises.

The education of these unfortunate classes of our population is no longer an experiment in this State. The two institutions have on the 1st of October last, each, upwards of 100 pupils, and the latter number all of whom, under the judicious management and instruction of the Superintendents and teachers, have made rapid progress, in the acquisition of knowledge, that has opened to their minds the divine light of religion, given them a capacity for the enjoyments of life, they could not otherwise have obtained, and will fit them hereafter to become useful members of society.

The institutions at this time have been as successful in the first year of their organization, and they it is to be trusted in the wisdom and well-directed labors of the Trustees, and their good fortune in having secured the services of Superintendents, who are true philanthropists and admirably adapted, from their education, dispositions and habits, to the duties they have to discharge.

Buildings have been raised in the vicinity of this City, for the temporary use of these institutions, and I recommend that provision be made for the purchase of sites, and the erection of permanent buildings. The suggestions and recommendations contained in these reports are commended to your consideration, with full confidence that your wisdom will not fail to foster and encourage what has been so well begun.

Some delay occurred in the selection of a site for a Lunatic Asylum, in accordance with the provisions of a law of the last legislature, owing to the fact, that one of the Commissioners first appointed, was unable to serve.

The Commission, as finally organized, consists of Dennis Hogan of Dallas County,

E. F. Branch of Liberty County, and C. A. Cotton of Wayne County. They selected a site in the vicinity of this City, containing fifty acres, which cost twenty-five hundred dollars, two hundred and fifty of which were paid by the State, and the residue by the citizens of this place. A doubt afterwards arose in regard to the title obtained by the Commissioners, owing to the existence of an adverse claim to the land. This has since been removed by a release from Thomas J. Chambers, voluntarily executed.

Immediately after the selection of the site, the Building Commissioners turned their attention to the preparation of a plan for such an institution. At the outset, they found themselves embarrassed for want of proper information on the subject. Their investigations soon satisfied them that without the assistance of some one familiar with the treatment of insanity and the interior arrangement of Insane Hospitals, they could not have a suitable plan prepared. It was therefore deemed best, that a competent superintendent of the institution, should be appointed at once, and that the necessary buildings should be planned and erected under his supervision and direction.

Dr. John C. Perry, a physician, whose previous education and experience in similar institutions, render him well qualified for the station, was accordingly appointed, and is now engaged in the preparation of a plan and specifications for a suitable building, which will shortly be completed, when the Commissioners will proceed to contract for its construction, in accordance with the provisions of the law under which they act.

The four hundred thousand acres of land, appropriated by the last Legislature for the Lunatic Asylum, the institutions for the education of the Blind and the Deaf and Dumb, and for an Orphans Asylum, were all located within the limits of the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nations, and entries of them were made in the proper land-districts, before the 1st day of December last. A part of these were made prior to that day and the residue have since been [illegible]

Application will be made to you, for relief, to those who settled upon public land, within the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad Innovation, between the 21st of December 1853 and the 26th of August 1856. It will be recollected, that under the provisions of the "Act to authorize the location, sale and settlement, of the Mississippi and Pacific Railroad Reserve", all those who were then settled within it, upon public land, were required to pay to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, on or before the 1st of January 1858, fifty cents per acre, for their settlement, not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres.

Efforts will doubtless be made, to obtain from the State, a release of these lands, without any fraud by the settlers. To understand the merits of these claims to this gratuity, reference should be made to the circumstances under which they entered the reservation. In December 1853, all the public lands within certain specified lines were reserved from settlement and location. Alternate sections thereof were set apart to encourage the construction of a railroad from the eastern line of the State to El Paso; and the revenue was reserved to the use of the State until otherwise directed by law, with a general understanding, it should contribute a fund for promotion of education and other improvements. Kind indulgence of government was then received for objects of the greatest interest: and while thousands of our citizens holding headrights, donations and bounty certificates, issued to the early colonists and soldiers of the Revolution, were deprived of the privilege of locating them within its limits, these settlers, many of whom had been but a short time in the State, entered the reservation and took possession of the choicest lands to be found, in direct opposition to our policy, and in violation of our positive law. Being then in its possession, when the reservation was opened, they were permitted to retain their lands at the positive price of fifty cents an acre, to be paid without interest at the expiration of eighteen months, although it is a matter of public notoriety, that they would then have brought from one to five dollars per acre, at public sale, exclusive of the improvements upon them.

The mere statement of these circumstances, would seem to be a sufficient answer to an application for such a gratuity.

Those of you, who were here at the last session, know how pertinaciously a donation of these lands was then insisted on, and how difficult it was to retain this provision; its retention was considered as the first step taken towards making our public lands available hereafter for objects of public utility. If we now refuse to retrace that step, our future course will be a plain one, and we may hope, in time, to realize from the sale of our public domain the means for supporting a general system of education, and aiding in the construction of railroads without which, we shall make but slow progress in developing the resources of the State.

Should these parties limit their application for relief, to an extension of the time within which, to pay for their lands, it should be granted; for it is well known that the disasters that have attended the cultivation of the soil in that section of the State, during the last two seasons, have prevented those engaged in this occupation, among whom are much of these settlers, from making anything beyond a subsistence.

A law permitting them to pay for their lands in two instalments, at one and two years with interest, will be cheerfully approved.

Some provision should be made for the sale of the alternate sections of lands reserved to the use of the State under the act, to encourage the construction of railroads by donation of lands, and the act granting lands to the Illinois and Chicago Navigation Company.

The State now has six hundred and fifty-seven sections, equal to 420,480 acres of lands that are occupied and improved, which are "not liable to location, entry or pre-emption privileges." She will in a few months have four hundred and ninety four additional sections, equal to 314,160 acres; and the grant to the Navigation Company as other sections of road are completed.

Some of these lands are situated on parts of the State where settlements are now being made and where [illegible] made before the [illegible] of another legislature, [illegible] to [illegible] have been [illegible] that they will be able to obtain them by donation, or be allowed to retain them for a mere nominal price. It is therefore desirable, that we should now, before any interest has been created to favor such a misapplication of them, establish a price at which parties may enter and purchase them. We shall thus take away all pretext for trespassing upon them, and indicate in the most positive manner our intention that they shall be applied in good faith, to education and internal improvements as was originally intended.

Under that provision of the "Act to authorize the location, sale and settlement of the Mississippi and Pacific railroad lands," which allows the Commissioner of the general land office, to issue land scrip, at fifty cents per acre to be located within that service, he has on the 1st day of March last issued 27,710 acres

If such scrip were authorized to be issued and located upon any part of our public domain, it would be there would be much demand for it, as land certificates are becoming exceedingly scarce, and their value has appreciated nearly to the price of scrip. Many would prefer purchasing such scrip, even if they pay more for it, as they thereby avoid all danger from the imposition and frauds so often practiced in the sale of certificates.

If such scrip be authorized, none should be sold for a less price than fifty cents per acre, and each piece of scrip ought to be located in a square form and in one place only, except in cases where pre-emption claims do not admit of it.

A law was passed by the fifth legislature, by which the Governor was authorized to appoint a commissioner and Surveyor to run and mark the boundary line between our state and the Territories of the United States, from the point at which it leaves the River to where it intersects the Rio Grande, or never the United States should appoint the necessary officers on her part to join in the work: Immediately after this law was passed, a correspondence was opened with our Senators and Representatives in Congress who were requested to procure the passage of a law for the appointment of the necessary officers on the part of the United States. Neither the subject brought before Congress, but I am not aware that any final action has been taken upon it. Our citizens are now making surveys of land along that line, and settlements will soon follow; it is therefore important that measures be taken to run the line, or at least to ascertain and mark on the ground, the point at which it leaves Red River, without, the co-operation of the United States, should that be much longer delayed.

During the early part of the present year, information was received that many of the County Courts, within the limits of what was known as Polk's Colony, were issuing land certificates upon illegal evidence, and to persons not entitled to them.

Commissioners were immediately appointed, under the authority vested in the Executive by the "Act to ascertain the legal claims to money and lands against the State," who were instructed to examine the records of the County Courts in all those counties, and to inquire into the manner in which they were kept, and make a full report, as early as convenient, in relation to all cases where these courts, or any of them, had violated the laws enacted for their government.

Some of the Commissioners first appointed, having declined to serve, the organization of the Board was greatly delayed.

The Commission as finally organized, consisted of H. J. Sandrik and James W. Head of Grayson County, and E. P. Nicholson of Dallas County.

Their report has not yet been received, but may be expected at an early period of your session.

When received, it will be transmitted to you with such recommendations, as the nature and extent of the frauds disclosed, may seem to require.

The first annual report of the Board of School Commissioners, organized under the "Act to provide for the investment of the Special School Fund in the Bonds of Railroad Companies incorporated by the State," is herewith submitted.

But few loans have yet been made by the Board. One of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the Houston and Texas Central Railroad Company on the 15th day of April last, constitutes the bonds that constitute said fund. [illegible] by the company at a [illegible] per cent [illegible] during the year, at which time [illegible] the United States Government. [illegible] of eighty thousand dollars to the same company, made on the 28th day of October 1867, under which it is assumed that no government will be obtained on the bonds, since it was understood here unofficially, on that day, that the United States had ceased redeeming them; a premium of five per cent was however offered, until advices can be received in regard to what government, if any, they have in New York; when the whole or such portion thereof, as may be right will be returned.

The Trinidad Bridge, Fragos and Colorado Company, applied some time since, for a loan of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and an Engineer was appointed to examine and report, whether the condition of the road was such as to entitle the company to the loan but no report has yet been received.

The operation of the law, authorizing these loans, has not proved as advantageous to our railroad interest, as was anticipated by its advocates. The amount loaned under its provisions is not sufficient to afford them much relief, and they cannot readily obtain a second loan, as their road has been mortgaged to this State.

The demand for paying premiums for subsidies and bounty, during the war, can be met, only in other State, by issuing our bonds that are now selling at a premium, but the same cannot be paid out without money, or such paper as can be readily converted into money; neither of these can be obtained from our citizens for any great extent of road; few of them have any money or cash paper beyond what they require for their ordinary business, and these only have, from more certain and more profitable modes of employing it, than investing it in railroad stock, or loaning it for a second mortgage on a railroad.

It is not believed that any aid, granted to our railroad companies, short of the means necessary to finish their road, will enable them to prosecute their roads with a rapidity that will not disappoint expectation.

Notwithstanding this belief, I am not disposed to recommend the authorization of any other mortgages for giving aid by the State, in the construction of railroads than that now proposed, which we believe is not consistent to French institutions upon the French or American plan, in regard to the subject of internal improvements.

The French systems are adopted after mature deliberation, and seem to be satisfactory to the great majority of our citizens; it is perhaps as good as any we can adopt without a change of our constitutions; it enables a few companies to struggle along and accomplish something, though it is much to be feared that the present embarrassed situation of the money market will prevent, even these companies, from making any progress during the much too years beyond the completion of such contracts as have already been entered into.

French complaint is made of that provision of this bill which requires a company to have twenty-five miles graded in advance of that which has been completed, before it is entitled to a loan upon any portion of our unfinished roads, though this provision is believed to be the best security the state has for the repayment of the loan, since no road can be completed and equipped, twenty-five miles at a time, and an additional twenty-five miles graded, at a cost of much less than three hundred and eighty thousand dollars in actual money; and such an undertaking cannot be raised and invested in an instant at any point in the state, where there is not a certain prospect of obtaining sufficient business to make the road an adequate security for a loan of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Still it is not thought advisable to change this provision, which would seem to be no good reason why a company [illegible] a loan upon twenty-five miles of completed, and twenty-five miles of graded road, should not receive a further loan upon each additional section of five or less miles that is so completed, without being required to wait any additional [illegible] or delay.

[illegible] any considerable amount on their roads [illegible] be possible with all the requirements of their [illegible] or of our laws, [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] in regard to these [illegible] [illegible] connected [illegible] all [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] granted only on condition that the company consents to such restrictions of its powers and privileges as experience has shown to be necessary for the protection of the rights and interests of the State or any of its citizens.

It is much to be regretted that we did not at first adopt the principle of granting to all such railroad companies, similar powers and privileges; if we had, there never would have been any inducement for heedless legislative haste with applications for extraordinary powers.

If we would now remove the inducement we ought, as early as possible, to bring all railroad charters to the same standard; this we can easily do, as companies apply for relief; for there are few, if any, that will not negative it.

Before dismissing the subject of railroads, I wish to call your attention specially to the 12th section of the "act to encourage the construction of railroads in Texas, by donations of land," by which those roads which have been or are on the gulf coast, the Sabine River, or on Galveston Bayou, are subjected to a provision that requires the construction of twenty-five miles of these roads, within two years after the passage of their charter, and twenty-five miles each year thereafter. No good reason can be assigned why these roads should be subject to such a provision, when all other roads in the State are exempted from it; it has hitherto caused them much inconvenience and embarrassment, and will continue greatly to retard their progress.

The reports of the Directors, Superintendent, Financial Agent and Treasurer of the State Penitentiary are herewith submitted for your consideration. Its affairs appear to have been well managed. For something over a year, a large portion of the convicts have been employed in the manufacture of cotton and woollen goods, which have found a ready sale; and the results are highly encouraging. It is confidently expected, by the officers, that the Penitentiary will hereafter be able, with the labor of the convicts, not only to support itself, but to yield some profit to the State, instead of requiring an annual appropriation of about twenty thousand dollars.

you will find in these reports much useful information in regard to its management, and many suggestions and recommendations worthy of your attention.

The Penal Code adopted by the last Legislature, has now been in force nearly a year; and its practical operation has shown many omissions that should be supplied, and some imperfections that should be amended. The general principles upon which it was framed are such as should commend themselves to public favor.

It contains within a small compass, and in intelligible language, suited to the comprehension of the most ordinary capacity, the whole criminal law of the State. I am apprized that it has not escaped severe censure; but it will be found that those who have condemned it the most, are often those who have not thoroughly studied its provisions, and that many parts of it, which are a subject of complaint, are but the re-enactment of provisions of the common law that were in force here when the Code was adopted.

The most salutary changes in the law often meet with opposition, until the community, for whom they are designed, become accustomed to their operation; and it is believed that if this Code had been tried for two years, instead of one, very few, if any, could be found who would wish it repealed.

The report of the Attorney General, which is submitted herewith, contains many valuable suggestions in relation to the Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, which are commended to your favorable consideration.

The reports of the present and former Commissioners of Claims, will be presented to you as soon as practicable, with a special message in regard to the operations of that office, and such changes as experience has shown to be necessary in the law governing its business.

At the close of your session, it will be your present duty to make provision for an enumeration of the inhabitants and electors of the State, according to the provisions of the 24th Section of the 3rd Article of the Constitution, preparatory to a new apportionment of Representatives and Senators, to be made at the succeeding session. If you move to organize this enumeration to be made, by the Assessors and Collectors of said Counties, at the same time, [illegible] census of our school population, it would add but little to his labor and could be done for a small additional compensation.

In making such of our report applicable to the number and electors of each County, from which no enumeration had been returned, I have estimated from the best data that could be obtained.

To prevent a recurrence of this inconvenience, such a penalty for a failure to perform the duty should be imposed upon those intrusted with it, as will insure a prompt return from every county in the State.

I would suggest the propriety of requiring the Treasurer and Collector, which is about this enumeration to obtain a separate enumeration of persons, in regard to the number of land in cultivation, and the value of our agricultural, horticultural and manufacturing productions, for the preceding year. In this way without much expense valuable information could be obtained, which would be highly useful not only to our own citizens but to those of other States and Territories who are desirous of collecting a fund among us.

It also has been a matter of much inquiry among the inhabitants of this State, whether a Governor can be elected by a plurality of votes. I think it should be so, I do not believe there is a majority of electors to make repeal.

You are aware that it adopts an amendment to the Constitution, it would become a matter of the votes of those who voted for representatives. The relative vote given for Representatives, at the last election, so far as it can be ascertained from the returns made to the Secretary of State, was 28,700, several counties having failed to make any return of the votes for Representatives; only 29,808 of that number voted on the amendment, of whom 18,756 voted for, and 11,102 against it. So that, including those who voted against it with those who failed to vote, 29,944 must be counted as against the amendment, while but 18,756 voted for it.

The result of the vote upon this salutary amendment, against which no reasonable objection could be offered, and against which no strong opposition was manifested, shows that, owing to the indifference with which a great number of our electors treat such questions, it will be exceedingly difficult, now to adopt an amendment to the Constitution, strictly in accordance with its provisions, however desirable it may be, and has deterred me from recommending for your consideration any of those amendments heretofore urged upon your predecessors.

This result also induces me to suggest the propriety of your causing the opinion of the electors of this State to be taken at the next August election, whether a convention should be called to amend the Constitution.

The situation of the State has changed so materially since our Constitution was framed, that in many important particulars, it requires radical amendments to adapt it to our present wants. Then we had but sixty-six counties, and only about one hundred and fifty thousand in habitants — now we have ninety-seven and eighteen counties, with a population of more than half a million, scattered over nearly three times the extent of country they then occupied. Greater changes have occurred here, in a period of twelve years, than usually happen during several generations in older commonwealths, where it is found necessary for each succeeding generation to modify their Constitutions.

I have with me herewith, a copy of the proceedings of the Governor, State Engineer and Surveyor, in discharge of the duty imposed upon them by an appropriation act of the Legislature for the improvement of the navigable waters of the State. [illegible] statements of the amount of the [illegible] made to each engineer [illegible] state enterprises [illegible] work [illegible] the end of [illegible]

State Engineer is expected in a few days, which will be laid before you with a report of the actual proceedings of the Executive in relation to the funds.

Your attention is invited to the propriety of making a change in the fiscal year, so as to have it end on the 30th day of August. It now ends on the 30th day of October, and it is impossible for the reports of the Comptroller, Treasurer and Commissioner of the Land Office to be made out and transmitted to the legislature until it has been in session a few days. As we approach it, they are not usually prepared to be for distribution before the adjournment of the session.

The business of the legislature might be greatly facilitated by the passage of a law requiring all public officers, boards and institutions whose duty it is to report, to the legislature or Governor, to include in such reports, all transactions for the year ending on the 30th day of August, and transmit them to the Secretary of State on or before the 1st day of October, which date it should be the duty of the Secretary of State to have them printed and laid before the legislature at the commencement of the session.

A similar practice is found to work well in many of the states.

The state ought to be able, at all times, to supply its officers with all its stationery. This, it has been notable to do for some years past, owing to the fact that none of the first and second legislatures and of several sessions of the Congress of the Republic are unlikely ever to finish. Provision should be made for a repository in which the property, both of the Republic and State, and the edition should be sufficiently large to supply our future wants.

Measures have been taken for the commencement of a Library for the State; a fund of the last legislature having appropriated five thousand dollars for that object, to be expended under the direction of the Governor. In the selection of books, care has been taken to order all such as might be useful to the legislature and those engaged in the other departments of the government. Some of the books have been received and others will probably arrive before the close of your session.

An appropriation will be required for fitting up the Library room, and provision should also be made for a Librarian.

Our frontier counties have not been entirely exempt from Indian depredations during the past two years, though such occurrences have not been as frequent as at former periods. Brt Maj Gen. Briggs, who is now in command of this Department, has done every thing in his power to give entire protection to our citizens; but the force under his command is altogether too limited. I am assured that he has already applied for such an increase of force as will be adequate to that object, and that if no troops from other Departments can be sent here, he is desirous that a regiment of mounted men from this State shall be called into service for one or two years, and will give his co-operation in obtaining the sanction of Congress to such a measure.

The recent outrages committed upon persons engaged in transporting Merchandise on the public highway, and some of our western counties, as well as the measures adopted by the Executive to prevent a recurrence of them, will be made the subject of a special Message, that will be sent in at an early day of the session.

Our relations with the Federal Government, and with the different States composing it, are a subject of deep anxiety to every patriot. The rapid strides made in the last few years, by a party in the Northern States, organized with the avowed object of endeavoring to effect the abolition of slavery as it now exists in fifteen States and some of the Territories, has very justly excited fears for the perpetuity of the Union. Such movements tend directly to destroy that harmony which should exist between different parts of this Union, and cast a cloud over the fairest prospects of prosperity and happiness that ever dawned upon a people. The people of Ohio are attached to their Constitution and Union, they seek nothing for themselves, save the Blessings secured by that sacred instrument, but those rights guaranteed by the Constitution, and every infringement of those rights will never be tolerated by them.

In discharging my last duty to you [illegible] have congratulated the people that during the continuance of the administration of our present Chief Magistrate, the rights of the South will receive that protection guaranteed by the Constitution, since his policy, thus far, as indicated by his official acts, conforms to the principles upon which he was elected.

We have been called, during the past year, to mourn the death of several citizens holding important official stations. In addition to Judge Pettit of the Little Rock District, Judge Lipscomb of the Supreme Court, Judge Rapier of the Chancery Court, and Judge Dickinson of the Circuit Court, we have lost by death the Treasurer of State.

It is gratifying that persons of high professional attainments have been selected to fill the vacancies thus occasioned. They have entered upon the duties of their respective offices with a laudable zeal to promote the interests and affairs of the State, and to discharge the duties of their respective offices with a zeal worthy of the best days of the Republic.

Some have, at times, been unfortunate in the selection of the proper men for the proper place, and a change of officers has been made. Some have failed to perform their duties, while others have been engaged in the discharge of their official duties. These, when called upon, have shown themselves equal to the occasion, and have kept the public good in view.

Some have, at times, been unfortunate in the selection of the proper men for the proper place, and a change of officers has been made. Some have failed to perform their duties, while others have been engaged in the discharge of their official duties. These, when called upon, have shown themselves equal to the occasion, and have kept the public good in view.

The record of the proceedings of the last session of the General Assembly, which will be laid before you, will show that the interests of our State have received the attention of the legislature, and that the laws passed have been in the interest of the people.

The record of our State is well calculated to repelle the worst slanders heaped upon it by its bitterest detractors, and to convince every one, that it compares to bright contrast when compared with some of the worst governments the direction of its public affairs. It is my ardent prayer that we may, under the favor of Providence, be able to acquit ourselves of that responsibility, in such a manner as will meet the approval of our mutual constituents.

I cannot close this communication, the last of the kind I shall have the honor to make, without tendering through you, to the people of Texas, my sincere gratitude for the many evidences I have received of of their confidence, and for the uniform indulgence they have extended to my official acts. In retiring from the responsible station with which they have twice honored me, the only regret I shall feel, will be, that I have not the power to serve them as well as my inclinations prompted.

Dear Sir

Under the provisions of a "Joint Resolution authorizing the Governor to institute "certain suits, if necessary, in relation to the erection "and furnishing of the new Capitol," passed September 5th 1856, it is made my duty to instruct you to commence suits in the District Court of Travis County in behalf of the State against Cummins & Deagan and James S. Executive Office
Austin, Texas, 26th Sep. 1857.

Sir:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 24th Ult. enclosing a sketch of a bill for raising and organizing a Regiment of Mounted Texas Volunteers.

It occurs to me, that the provision in the last section, declaring that "under no circumstances shall an mules be allowed for forage not drawn" had better be left out. No mules whatever should ever be allowed for forage etc. The government has enough to do, and, in fact, if the government finds it necessary to do so, justice would require that the soldier who provides his own horse, should receive the commutation as a compensation for the injury his horse suffers in not being supplied with proper forage.

I will call my copy of the bill to the different persons composing our delegation in Congress, and solicit their co-operation in endeavoring to obtain its passage into a law at the ensuing Session. I fear we shall be hurried in the present session, owing to the receipt of your letter, at an earlier day.

Very respectfully

Some correspondence has taken place between this Office and Brt. Maj. Gen. Twiggs commanding this Department, in regard to the inadequacy of the force he now has, to give protection to our extended frontier, against the depredations of the numerous bands of Indians who are scattered along our northern and Western borders.

I enclose herewith copies of the letters received from Genl. Twiggs, together with a copy of the draft of a bill for raising a Regiment of mounted Volunteers from this State.

You will perceive that Gen. Twiggs has asked for an increase of troops, and in case none can be sent here from other departments, he is desirous of having this Volunteer Regiment of our citizens for one or two years.

The only alterations I would suggest in the bill, are, that there should be two majors, as that number is allowed to each Regiment in the regular army. — That the term of service should be changed from one to two years, and that all after the word "Month" in the third line of the last section be stricken out.

Within the last few months, the mail train from San Antonio to El Paso was attacked and robbed of many of its animals, and I have now before me a communication just received from a large number of citizens residing on the rivers of the Concho and upper Colorado Rivers, stating that the Indians have recently made a second incursion into those settlements and stolen and carried off near three hundred horses: These aggressions show conclusively that the force now assigned to our frontier is inadequate to its protection and that there is a pressing necessity for this Regiment.

Allow me to be sure that our citizens have long been desirous of having such a Regiment, for our defence, and the present state of the frontier opportunity for securing it, since I am assured that Mr. Knapp & Briggs will co-operate with you, in urging the measure upon the attention of Congress.

Comptroller's Office
Boston, 6th Nov 1857.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I transmit herewith, the reports of James C. Wilson the former Commissioner of Claims and Joel H. Allingworth the present incumbent of that office.

Mr. Allingworth was appointed, during the recess of the legislature, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Wilson, and under the law organizing the office, his appointment will expire at the end of ten days from the commencement of your present session; so that after Friday next the 13th inst. the business of the office will be suspended, unless the legislature shall previously elect a Commissioner?

This office, if it is continued, will relieve the legislature of a class of business that has heretofore occupied at least one fourth of its time.

It is known to most of those who have served in the legislature at previous sessions, that much of its time has been occupied in the investigation of private land claims, and unauthorized money claims against the Republic, which since the Mandamus Office was abolished, have also devolved on the legislature; the evidence in regard to such claims has been taken by committees, at such hours as could be spared after attendance upon the daily sessions, and necessarily had to be done hastily; it has usually consisted of ex-parte evidence, prepared by interested persons, which has been often deceptive and generally very unsatisfactory.

This office, now receives all claims for land and money against the State, with the evidence offered in support of them, take down in writing the testimony of all witnesses that appear in person, and issue commissions, to take the evidence of such as do not appear in person, in answer to interrogatories, so framed as to elicit every fact, within the knowledge of the witness, that is deemed necessary to determine the merits of the claim. The evidence thus taken, is then carefully examined in connection with the laws that have any bearing upon the claim, and an opinion formed, which is reported to the Legislature for its action. In this way, every claim is more closely scrutinized than it could possibly be by a committee of the Legislature, in the limited time their other duties make them to give to such matters.

This has been the practice of the office in regard to all land claims presented, though the provisions of the law gave to the Commissioner the power to issue original headright certificates in all cases where the applicant appeared in person with his witnesses and made the same proof as was formerly required before the County Boards of Land Commissioners.

The first Commissioner declined to exercise this power, because, between five and six hundred applications for such certificates were presented, from persons, a large portion of whom he felt morally certain were not entitled to receive them, though none could decide under the proof the law required, and all would have done so, had he not announced his determination to refer the whole to the Legislature.

The reasons for his action are fully set forth in his report, and they have influenced his successor to pursue a similar practice. The reasons presented by both of these officers in regards to this description of claims, are accepted as, after a consultation with his Executive and with his full approbation.

It will be seen from the report of the first Commissioner, that he recommends a change in the law so as to take away the power to issue original headright certificates, in this recommendation I cordially concur.

For the most laborious duty that devolves on this office, is the registration of bounty and donation warrants and headright certificates of the second, third, fourth class, and their respective classes, [illegible] regular [illegible] apparent to any one at all conversant with the situation of these classes of land claims - upwards of 17,000 County and donation warrants have been issued, of which, less than seven thousand have been surveyed and returned to the General Land Office. The destruction of the Adjutant General's Office has left us without any record of the names of the persons to whom these warrants were issued, or the quantity of land they call for, and it is only by preserving this system of registration, that we can ever supply the loss of that record. Without such a record we have no means of detecting repeated applications for warrants in cases where they have already been issued.

It is equally necessary to continue the practice of requiring an examination and approval of these warrants and of headright certificates of the second, third and fourth class, before they are patented, if we intend to do anything to prevent our public domain from being absorbed by forged and pretended warrants and certificates, of which an immense number are now in circulation and others are being daily manufactured.

The large mass of honest claimants will be subjected to little, if any inconvenience, by the operation now proposed, while those claims which are forged or pretended will meet certainly the attempt.

Some modifications in the law governing this office, are suggested in these reports, whereby applicants will be greatly facilitated in making their proofs, without any detriment to the public interests; and it is believed that a conference with the Commissioner and a personal examination into the mode in which the business of the office is conducted, will enable a committee to suggest such other modifications in the law governing the office as will secure the reasonable objects that have been made to the system.

Upon such facts accompanying these reports, both as to such land claims as, in the opinion of these officers, ought to be granted; all the evidence in regard to them is on file in the office, subject to the inspection of the Legislature; you will also find lists of such claims for scrip as have been rejected, and respective applications for scrip fragments, together with lists of all claims docketed, which they were unwilling to pass or recommend to the favorable consideration of the Legislature.

These reports contain a large amount of information in regard to the operations of the office, and are worthy of a careful examination.

Executive Office
Austin, 9th Nov. 1857.

Gentlemen of the Senate, and House of Representatives:

I have received herewith, the report of two of the Commissioners appointed to investigate and report the facts, in relation to the illegal issue of certificates of land, by the County Courts, within the limits of Peters Colony.

These courts were authorized under the provisions of "An Act relating to lands in Peters Colony," approved 10th February 1852, to issue certificates of 640 acres to heads of families, and 320 acres to single men, who settled within the limits of said Colony, prior to the first day of July 1848, and resided therein for three years, provided they had not previously obtained a certificate from the Colony Commissioner, nor a headright from the Republic or State of Texas.

Before such a certificate could issue, each colonist was required to prove his settlement and residence, as above stated, before some County Court in said Colony, by his own oath, and the oath of two other reputable witnesses, and also by his own oath, that he had not received a certificate from the Colony Commissioner, nor a headright from the Republic or State.

The Commissioners report, that they have examined the records of the County Courts of Grayson, Cooke and Collin Counties, and they give the names of fifty persons who received certificates of 640 acres each, one hundred and twenty-one who received certificates of 320 acres in the County first named, thirty eight who received certificates of 640 acres, and three-hundred and [illegible] certificates of 320 acres in Cooke County, and twenty-one who received certificates of 640 acres, and twenty-seven who received certificates of 320 acres in Collin County, making together 189 certificates of 640 acres, and 191 of 320 acres, equal to 121,600 acres, the most of which they believe were illegally issued to persons not entitled to them.

They also state, "that a large majority of said certificates were issued to speculators who were

"under 17 years of age on the 1st day of July 1848, — That nearly all were issued on ex-parte affidavits of persons who were not before the Court, that in many cases, the facts sworn to, would not entitle the applicant to a certificate, — That some of the affidavits were so ingeniously drawn, the phraseology so studied, that the affiant really swears to no material fact, and that the County Courts were greatly imposed upon."

These Commissioners also state, that they were unable to visit Tarrant and Parker counties, but that they are credibly informed, that a large number of illegal certificates have been issued in both of said Counties. That only one of them could visit Wise County, but from his examination, they believe that upwards of 30.000 acres of certificates have been illegally issued in that County. — They make no report in regard to the other counties in said colony.

It will be seen from the report that all, but eight of these certificates, were issued since the 1st day of July 1855, and these eight were issued since 1st of February of the same year.

It is proper that you should be informed, that as soon as it was ascertained that certificates of this character were being issued, the Commissioner of the General Land Office was advised of it, and he has since declined to issue Patents upon any Colony certificates issued by County Courts, until some action is taken by the Legislature in regard to them.

Upon a review of the facts disclosed by this report, I would suggest, the immediate passage of an Act to repeal that section of the law, that authorizes County Courts to issue colony certificates, concurrently with another Act to prohibit the Commissioner of the General Land Office from issuing a Patent upon any Colony certificates issued by a County Court since the first of February 1855, until the Legislature shall otherwise direct.

Should these recommendations meet your approbation, a commission ought to be established, before which, the holders of these certificates, may prove up their claims anew, in the manner they should have proceeded thereto before the County Court, or they should be allowed to prove them up anew before the District Court, as it is probable that some of these certificates may have been issued in favor of persons who were entitled to receive them.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives

I send you herewith three memorials, recently received at this office, from citizens on the waters of the Sou Sutar and Upper Colorado Rivers, which state that the Indians have lately invaded their settlements and killed one herdsman, and driven away a large number of horses. The memorialists act for protection from the Executive, but it is not in his power to do any thing for their relief without the co-operation of the Legislature.

These memorials are respectfully referred to you, with a confident hope that you will recognize in the merits of their urgent case, and devise some measure to ameliorate the protection which they ought to have.
E M Pease

Executive Office
Austin, Nov. 11th 1857.

Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives.

In the month of September last authentic information was received at the Executive Office, that a train of carts transporting merchandize from the coast to the City of San Antonio were attacked while peacably passing along the public highway, a short distance above the Town of Gilmer in Upshur County, by a body of mounted men, disguised and armed, who fired upon those engaged in driving the carts, and killed one and severely wounded three others.

Information was also received at the same time of an attack made in Goliad County about the close of July last upon another party transporting merchandize along the same road, while they were encamped at night, in which one of the teamsters was severely and two others slightly wounded.

The person who was severely wounded in Goliad County was a native of the United States, all the others wounded in both attacks and the one killed were citizens of Mexican origin.

The communication of these facts was accompanied by assurances that combinations of men had been formed, extending through several Counties, who openly threatened to continue such attacks upon citizens of Mexican origin so long as they should continue to transport merchandize along that road.

Immediately upon the receipt of this information, Proclamations were issued offering a reward of five hundred dollars, for the arrest and delivery to the Sheriff of Upshur County, of those who had committed the above named offence in that County, and also calling upon the peace officers to be vigilant in arresting and bringing the offenders to justice, and in preventing a repetition of such offences.

A few days afterwards I repaired to

San Antonio to obtain a better knowledge of the facts in relation to these occurrences, and the extent of the alleged combinations, and also to ascertain whether any measures had been adopted to secure the arrest of the offenders or to prevent such occurrences for the future; while these conferences were had with a large number of citizens of Bexar and the adjacent counties in regard to these attacks, and the state of feeling that had led to them.

The result of these conferences satisfied me, that no measures had been, or would probably be taken, either to arrest the plunderers or to prevent similar attacks. That combinations of the kind above referred to, did actually exist, which had made repeated assaults upon the persons and property of citizens of Mexican origin travelling on that road, that a strong feeling of hostility prevailed in many of the surrounding counties against all citizens of Mexican origin, and that there was imminent danger of retaliatory attacks from them, which if once commenced must inevitably lead to a civil war of races. Under these circumstances I felt that it was my duty to take prompt measures, to preserve the peace until time could be given, for the excitement caused by these occurrences, to cool down, and until a more favorable opportunity to meet such bands as would prevent similar outrages. I therefore called such a company of Mexicans, consisting of seventy-eight men, officers and privates, and stationed them in different divisions along that road, with orders to give protection to all traders or merchandise passing up or down, and to aid the civil authorities in preserving the peace, if called on for that purpose.

It would be useless to repeat the causes assigned by these parties as their excuse for their attacks, because they are exaggerated, groundless, having no sufficient evidence of facts and grounds for their aforementioned belief, there never could be any justification for violence or forbearance to the peace upon the present made pretexts of a civil war of whites.

a few of our citizens, but the large mass of them are as orderly and law abiding as any in the state, they submit cheerfully to all the duties required of them, and are entitled to the protection of the laws in any lawful employment they may choose to pursue.

Such occurrences as these are calculated to injure our reputation abroad, and to destroy all confidence in the ability of our State to give protection to life and property if they are allowed to be repeated with impunity they will ultimately suspend all intercourse between this Country and Mexico and will inevitably lead to acts of retaliation upon Citizens of the United States in that Country, indeed they have already attracted the notice of the Government of Mexico, and have been made the subject of a remonstrance through her Minister at Washington City, which has been communicated to this office.

Our present laws are fully adequate for the protection of persons and property and for the prevention of such occurrences, in all cases where the officers and citizens of our Country are active in the enforcement of them but where they are indifferent such as the no effort to enforce them they are powerless.

These cases should be decided for their intrinsic merits, and the only one that comes to me, in which all the engage in the combination, or aid or assist in such assaults, by inciting or encouraging the attack. I refer here and hope a pardon for the proposed pardon of Wilson and Smith of Bear Creek the former of whom has been heretofore convicted and sentenced for the murder of a negro.

The conduct of Shields before mentioned, once was tried for eight days in Texas discharged, I have been asked opinions about the propriety of a pardon. They unfortunately with the expectation that they would receive the same pay as a corporal, as promised them in the service of the United States, be induced unauthorized by Commandant of the Texas to perform services with confidence and perseverance in behalf of the State.

The Treasurer is now authorized to pay certain vations, with a desire that you will give it a careful investigation, and with a full confidence that you will make provision for the payment of the company under the contractor who has supplied them.

You will keep the article in such portions as your Congressional District may consider necessary for protection against the Indians, of such family or family upon the frontier or the vicinity of Fronteras Cavalry, the line and the adjoining Counties, as will best enable them to give protection to the inhabitants against the incursions of hostile Indians.

The object in raising your Company being mainly for defensive operations, it is not expected that you will make any distant expeditions against Indians, and if it may become necessary to pursue any of the hostile parties of the who have committed depredations upon our citizens

You will, in no event, interfere with the Indians who are settled on the Government Reservation, nor with any of those belonging to the Reservation, that you may meet with off the Reservation, unless you find them actually committing depredations upon the settlers, or under such cir- cumstances as shall leave no doubt that they have been actually committing acts of hostility against our citizens.

You will exercise extreme caution so as not to give offence to any friendly tribes, as such a course of proceeding will be certain to increase the dangers to which our settlements are now exposed.

It is not intended that you shall keep the whole or any part of your company in active service, any longer at one time, than there shall be an actual necessity for them, but that you shall from time to time keep only such number actively employed, as will give security and confidence to the settlements you are designed to protect, so as to make the three months of service extend over as long a period of time as possible.

You will keep an accurate account of the number of days that each officer and private is actually employed, and make a return of the same to this Office, under oath, to serve as a guide in paying them for their services.

You will make regular reports of all the operations of the men under your Command, to this office, as often as once in two weeks, which reports you will transmit through the Post Office Department to you.

Should any of your company fail to furnish himself in accordance with the requisitions contained in the instructions to the enrolling officer, or pass in his duties under your Command, it will be deemed a sufficient cause for withholding his pay, and you will report all such cases without delay.

To John H. Conner Esq.
Sir,

You are hereby authorized to enroll a company of Thirty mounted men in the Counties of Brown and Callahan to serve for three months for the protection of the settlements in those Counties against the incursions of hostile Indians. The officers and men respectively will be paid by the State, while in actual service, at the same rate as mounted Volunteers were paid by the United States during the Mexican War.

They will provide themselves with subsistence and forage, and will be allowed therefor in accordance with the commutation fixed by the rules of the United States service.

When the company shall have been organized, you will deliver to the Lieutenant, the accompanying letter of instructions for his government, and also a copy of this letter to yourself. Each officer and private will also be allowed pay for all transportation necessarily used in service, on the certificate of the Lieutenant.

Sir:

You will keep the whole or such portion of your Company, as you may consider necessary, on active service, at such point or points upon the frontier, in the vicinity of Erath, Palo Pinto and the adjacent counties, as will best enable them to give protection to the inhabitants against the incursions of hostile Indians. The object in raising your Company, being mainly for defensive operations, it is not expected that you will make any distant expeditions against Indians, unless it may become necessary to follow up hostile parties of them, who have committed depredations upon our citizens.

You will in no event interfere with the Indians who are settled on the Government Reservations nor with any of those belonging to the Reservations, that you may meet with off the Reservations unless you find them actually committing depredations upon the settlers, or under such circumstances as shall leave no doubt, that they have been committing acts of hostility against our citizens.

You will exercise extreme caution so as not to give offence to any friendly tribes, as such a course of proceeding will be certain to overcome the dangers to which our settlements are now exposed.

It is not intended that you shall keep the whole or any part of your Company on active service, any longer at one time than there shall be an urgent necessity for them, but that you shall from time to time keep only such as may actually be employed, as will give a sufficient and competent force to the settlements, you have mentioned to protect, so as to avoid the expense of service and keep up a large force in time of peace.

You will keep an accurate account of the number of days that each officer and private is actually employed and make a return of the same under oath to this Office, to serve as a guide in paying them for their services.

You will make regular reports of the all operations of the men under your Command, to this Office, as often as once in two weeks, which reports you will transmit through the Post Office nearest to you.

Should any of your Company fail to furnish himself in accordance with the requirements contained in the instructions to the enrolling officers or fail in his duty under your Command, it will be deemed a sufficient cause for withholding his pay, and you will report all such cases without delay.

Gentlemen of the Senate

It is melancholy intelligence that I have received in this City, of the death of Lieut. James Hamilton, who was lost on the steamer Columbia on the Sixth, on her passage from Vancouver to Columbia.

The deceased was one of the first white men to make his home at the commencement of our territorial existence, and his earnest and manly efforts were ever found to be exerted, both before and after he became a citizen of the Republic. His high standing and influence in the Pacific, contributed much to the peaceful issue of our Revolution.

Twice elevated here as a citizen, and twice rejected as one of her greatest benefactors, he pronounced his unfavorable fate, and still carry cherished his memory with unmeasured.

C. H. Mason

The State of Texas

Whereas, it has been made known to me, that the United States have purchased from the City of San Antonio as a site for an Arsenal and Barracks, a certain tract or parcel of land situated in Bexar County in said State, described as follows, viz: Lot or survey number thirty-eight (38) in Range one (1) District two (2) in the plan and within the former limits of the City of San Antonio, at the head of the San Antonio river, beginning at the north west corner of survey number thirty-seven (37) on the northeast bank of the Olmos creek, thence east six hundred and fifty-two (652) varas to a spring, thence same course two hundred and eleven (211) varas to the northeast line of the City grant, thence north twenty-seven and one eighth (27⅛) degrees west four hundred and seventy (470) varas, thence north fifty-three and one eighth (53⅛) degrees west with the line of said City grant eleven hundred (1100) varas, thence south five hundred and seventy (570) varas to the Olmos creek, thence down the centre of the Olmos creek, with its meanders, to the place of beginning, containing one hundred and fourteen (114) acres more or less,

Now therefore, the United States by their agent J. McHatch have made application to me in writing accompanied by a certified copy under the hands and official seals of the Clerks of the County Court of Bexar County, of a deed from the City of San Antonio to the United States for said tract of land, which is hereinbefore described by metes and bounds as above set forth, for a cession to the United States of exclusive jurisdiction over said tract of land to be used as a site for an Arsenal and Barracks.

Now, therefore, I, Ashbel Smith, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me under the provisions of "An act for ceding to the United States jurisdiction over certain lands in this State for public purposes," approved February 12, 1856, do hereby in the name and on behalf of said State cede to the United States exclusive jurisdiction over the said tract of land [illegible] use, occupy, own, possess and exercise said jurisdiction over the same as a site for an Arsenal and Barracks. Provided always, that this cession is granted and made as aforesaid upon the express condition that this State shall retain a concurrent jurisdiction with the United States, in and over the limits so ceded and every portion thereof, so far, that all process, civil or criminal, issuing under the authority of this State, or any of the Courts or judicial Officers thereof, may be executed by the proper Officers, upon any person or persons amenable to the same within the limits and extent of the lands so ceded, in like manner and to like effect as if this Act had never been executed, saving however to the United States security for their property within said limits and exemption of the same and of said lands from any taxation, under the authority of this State, which the same shall continue to be owned held, used and occupied by the United States as a site for an Arsenal and Barracks and not otherwise.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the City of Austin, this the twenty-seventh day of November A.D. 1857 and in the year of the Independence of the United States, the 82nd and of Texas, the 22nd.

Executive Office

and House of Representatives

Information has been received at this Office, that a train of Carts, from San Antonio to the Coast, driven by Mexicans, and under the charge of Mr. Wm Pyron, an American, encamped on the night of the 20. inst. on a creek, the next morning while the Mexicans were getting up their team, they were assaulted and fired upon by a party of armed men, and two of them were killed.

No blame whatever attaches to Capt. Nelson or the Company under his command, as Mr Pyron did not apply to them for an escort, it is understood that he preferred to go without an escort, in consequence of assurances of safety that had been given him by parties in Karnes and Goliad Counties, he having previously made a trip without molestation.

After this misfortune Mr Pyron returned to the Colorado, where Capt Nelson's Company were encamped, and applied for and received an escort for his train.

It is painful to have to record such acts of violence, and a subject of deep mortification that the law-places no ready and easy power to prevent them. Such outrages cannot occur and go unpunished in a Country where the Officers and the most of the people entertain a proper respect for the laws, and it becomes a matter for graver consideration, whether the citizens of a Country that permits such acts to be done with comparative security, should not be compelled to pay a heavy pecuniary penalty, that would, without doubt, induce them to the necessity of preserving the public peace.

It is now very evident that there is no security for the lives of citizens of Mexican origin, engaged in the business of transporting along the road from Matamoras to the Rio Grande, they are considered by a Mexican party. [illegible] will expire on the 4th day of December, and unless some direction is received from the Legislature to continue their services, I shall feel it my duty to discharge them on that day.

It will require an appropriation of about fourteen thousand and five hundred dollars to pay the services of the Company, and for their subsistence and forage.

Engineer's Office

To His Excellency
R. C. Wickliffe
Governor of the State of California

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from your Secretary under date of the 24th April 1857, inclosing a copy of an act passed by the Legislature of your State making a conditional appropriation for the improvement of the Salmon River, and requesting to know whether this State has made a corresponding appropriation for the same object.

In reply, I have to inform you that an act was passed by our last Legislature, making appropriations for the improvement of the navigation of the Rivers of the State which will be found in pages 13 to 14 of the Volume of general laws passed at the adjourned session of the 6th Legislature, on pages 46 to 48 of the same volume will be found an act amending and supplementary to said act. I send you the volume by the same mail that takes this.

The examination of these acts will show that the State appropriation was to be applied to the Rivers, in proportion to the amount that might be subscribed by individuals, the State paying four dollars for each dollar subscribed by individuals.

Under the provisions of these acts, the Governor, State Engineer and Comptroller met on the 3d of Feby 1857, and made an apportionment of the State appropriation, by which the sum of $41.164.29/100 of the State appropriation was set a part to be expended for the improvement of the Sabine River.

I send you enclosed, a copy of the report of these Officers, showing their action under said act.

I am advised by the State Engineer that he will, in the course of a month, commence a survey of the Sabine River, and will determine how this fund shall be expended on the River, after which, he will receive proposals and make contracts, so that the improvements upon that River will be commenced in the course of two or three months, and will be prosecuted until the sum of $41.164.29/100 appropriated by the State, and $10.291.25/100 subscribed by individuals shall have been expended.

I respectfully, as communication from the Comptroller from which it will be seen that there is a necessity for constituting one of the United States bonds as the Treasury note could, at an earlier period than can be done under the laws now in force. This must be attended to immediately in a December with the interest coming to meet the current demands upon the Treasury for revenue. It is very important that in the present condition of the foreign market, we may have to suffer a slight rise on these bonds in converting them into specie at the place indicated of obtaining a purchaser as heretofore.

The suggestions are commended to your consideration with a recommendation that you immediately grant him authority to negotiate not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars of said bonds, for specie deliverable at the Treasury as it may be needed, on the most favorable terms he can obtain, and if necessary that he be authorized to send an agent to San Francisco for that purpose.

I also take this occasion, to make the report required from the Governor under the provisions of the first section of "An Act to encourage the improvement of the navigation of the Rivers and other navigable waters in Texas, by making appropriations for the same," passed 1st August 1856.

The following amounts have been drawn from the fund appropriated by said Act, in favor of the several contractors and for the objects named, viz:

Drafts in favor of F. J. Powell contractor for the improvement of the Colorado River - $10.800.
" Wm. J. Phillips contractor for the Colorado River, - - - - - - - - - - - 6.600
" Brown & French contractors for the Brazos River. - - - - - - - - - 7570
" David Bradbury contractor for the San Jacinto River, - - - - - 18.180
" J. J. Rogers contractor for the Guadalupe River. - - - - - - 15.000

In regards to all these drafts, except that in favor of David Bradbury, it appears by the report of the State Engineer, that they did not exceed three fourths of the work actually performed by the contractors under their contracts, and in regard to that in favor of Bradbury, it appears by said report that his contract had been completed, the work accepted, in all these cases no more was produced showing that corresponding vouchers had been paid to the contractors by the Comptroller and Treasurer of the Coal and Iron Fund.

The State of Texas.

To all, to whom these presents shall come, Greeting &c. That reposing special confidence in the integrity and discretion of A. H. Roads Esq. of Bexar County, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by "the act to provide for the payment of a company "of mounted volunteers called into service by the "Governor, for the protection of those engaged in "transporting goods and merchandize over the road "from San Antonio to the Gulf," Approved Dec. 14th 1857, do hereby appoint him, the said A. H. Roads, Paymaster, to pay off the said Company, commanded by Captain G. T. The said payment to be made in accordance with the muster roll of said Company, and the certificate of Captain Nelson as to the time of service of each officer and private, for which duty, the said Roads is to receive one hundred dollars, upon making a final settlement with the Comptroller of his acts under this appointment.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my signature and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the City of Austin, this the 19th day of December A.D. 1857, and of the year of the Independence of Texas the 22nd.

To All, Whereas, on the 28th day of August, 1857 before F. A. Acker, a Justice of the Peace in and for the County of Polk in said State, one Daniel Fanning and Mrs. A. Hickson and S. C. Hanley were tried for an assault and battery, the first mentioned being charged as Principal, and the five last mentioned as accomplices, when the said Fanning and Hickson were convicted, and each sentenced to pay a fine of Ninety dollars and the costs of the prosecution, and whereas, the affidavits of said Fanning and Hanley have been presented to me, which state that said Hickson was not a party to said assault and battery, in any way, and that he was not an accomplice as charged, and it has also been made known to me that said Hickson offered to prove, at the trial, by said Fanning & Hanley that he in no manner, advised, encouraged, commanded or aided in any manner whatever in the commission of said offence, but the court refused to admit their testimony, and whereas, I am satisfied from said affidavits, that said Hickson was improperly convicted and ought not to pay said fine.

Now, therefore, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do remit, release and discharge the said fine and judgment against said Hickson, leaving the same in full force against said Fanning and against said Hickson only so far as the same regards and condemns him to pay the costs.

In testimony thereof, I have hereunto signed my name, and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Austin, this the 18th day of December A.D. 1857, and of the Independence of Texas the 22nd year.

Whereas, it has been made known to me by William Fields, the State Engineer and Superintendent of the improvements upon the Rivers and other navigable waters in Texas, that he cannot perform all the duties required of him by law in superintending the works already contracted for, unless he defers making contracts for other improvements, until those contracted for are completed, which makes it necessary in my opinion, that some person should be appointed to superintend a portion of them.

Now, therefore, I, E. M. Pease, Governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the provisions of "An Act to encourage the improvement of the Navigable waters in Texas, by making appropriations for the same," Passed August 1st 1856, — do hereby appoint Ward Taylor Senior, of Cass County, to superintend the work to be done upon the Big Cypress Bayou, under the contract made by the State Engineer for said object; — Hereby giving and granting to the said Ward Taylor Senior, all the rights, privileges and emoluments, and subjecting him to all the duties given to or required of such an Officer, under the provisions of the said recited Act.

The State of Texas,

Whereas at the Fall Term of the District Court of Travis County in said State for the year 1857, the following judgments were rendered, viz: Case No. 812. The State vs Heffington and Randolph for a fine of seventy dollars against each defendant besides costs. Case No. 815. The State vs Heffington and Randolph for a fine of seventy-five dollars against each defendant, besides costs. Case No. 819 The State vs Heffington and Wallace for a fine of fifty eight dollars against each defendant besides costs. Case No. 820 The State vs Heffington and Wallace for a fine of one hundred dollars against each defendant besides costs, all of which fines were adjudged for retailing liquors without licenses, and whereas an opinion prevailed very extensively that the laws under which said fines were imposed, had been repealed by the Penal Code, until the recent decision of the Supreme Court on the subject; and whereas it has been made known to me that said Heffington and Wallace who are the successors of Heffington and Randolph have procured licenses to pursue their business since the said decision of the Supreme Court.

Now, therefore, upon a consideration of the premises I, Elisha Pease Governor of said State by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws thereof, do hereby remit and release the said two fines of seventy dollars in case No. 812 and of seventy-five dollars in case No. 815 upon condition that the said Heffington and Randolph shall within two days from the date hereof, pay into Court, or give security to the satisfaction of said Court for the payment of a single fine of fifty dollars in each of said cases, together with all costs and fees liable to be taxed in each of them, and I also hereby remit and release the said two fines of one hundred dollars in case No. 819 and of fifty eight dollars in case No. 820, and of one hundred dollars in case No. 821, upon condition that the said Heffington and Wallace shall within ten days from the date

I enclose you a copy of the law, under which you was appointed Pay Master, to pay off the Company of Captain J. A. Nelson for their services. By a reference to the 3rd section thereof, you will see that you are required to perform that duty at the City of San Antonio. You will be governed by the muster roll and the certificates of Captain Nelson, in ascertaining the time that each officer and private has served, and also in ascertaining the mileage; you will then pay them according to the rates allowed by the United States, to volunteer militia when called into their service. You will be accountable for your payments, as are accordingly taken by the Pay Masters of the United States, and return them to the Comptroller, which you may transmit or deliver with bond of your appointment your appointment.

Dear Sir:

I have just received your letter of the 17th inst, in which you state that you discharged all of your men, leaving at the ends of each stage, from the time they were received, with the exception of some one under the command of Doctor Blackburn, who and how did you know he was a traitor, and have you not rebounded in your action discharge the soldiers of the Campbell as soon as they returned to Sedalia?

Is it proper to have officers appointed by the commander for their services, you write directly to him or the certified copy of your proceedings together with a certificate of the loss of services by each officer and forward to Maj. Gen. Pope, Saint Louis?

Are such orders returned to their officers duly certified?

Your letter also contains a serious charge against Lt. Col. Jones, and if discovered by the witness such charge would cause the prosecution to shelve Lieutenant.

Although requesting a speedy answer, you will come to the company stored, leaving bodies and others to the Quartermaster in charge where it is.

Your order also refers to the officers, and the court martial, in attendance of all officers detached for such corps of cadets for service in the campaign.

Whereas, at the Spring Term of the District Court in and for Van Buren County in the year 1857, a final judgment was rendered in favor of the State of Iowa against Wm. B. Gage and Nathaniel Chandlis for the sum of two hundred dollars besides costs which a recognizance is in said Court for the appearance of said Gage to answer an indictment pending therein, for altering the mark and brand of a certain steer, the property of William Hodgens, and whereas it has been made known to me that after the rendition of said final judgment and before the final judgment upon said recognizance, a capias was issued thereon and sent for the arrest of said Gage, at the instance of said Chandlis, upon which said Gage was arrested, and brought before the Judge of the District Court on a writ of Habeas Corpus, upon his giving a bail bond with sureties for his appearance to answer said charge which said bail bond has been forfeited, and whereas, an application has been made to me for a suspension of said judgment against said Chandlis, on the grounds that he caused the said Gage to be arrested for his benefit, at his sole expense, said Court not desiring to arrest said final judgment, but only prevent further injury from there by reason of his having discharged said bail bond.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises I, Curtis Clark, governor of said State, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of Iowa, do hereby remit and release the said judgment so far as it relates to said Chandlis, upon the said Gage and his sureties, upon the payment of the costs of the prosecution, and I do hereby direct the Clerk of said Court to enter a satisfaction of said judgment upon the record thereof.

Sir:

Having learned that Col. A. S. Johnston has been ordered from this State to another section of the Union, I am led to believe that his Regiment or a portion of it will soon be also ordered away, in which case our frontier will be left without an adequate mounted force to give protection to our citizens, indeed with his entire regiment in service here, there have been frequent depredations committed by the Indians upon the lives and property of our citizens during the past year, previous to the recent attack upon the mail train to El Paso.

This state of affairs induces me to write you in regards to the situation of our frontier, and the mode of giving it protection.

Your high character and energy give assurance to our citizens that you will be the man to give them protection, but without a regiment of mounted force at your command [illegible] of a description that can be efficiently employed against wandering tribes of Indians, we cannot expect that you will be able to give us security.

We feel that no force but a mounted one, will be of any service against the enemies by which we are surrounded, and that even a mounted force, to be efficient, should be composed of men who are familiar with the situation of the Country and with the service in which they are to be employed. A Regiment of such men could easily be raised in this State, who know the habits and mode of warfare pursued by the Indians, and whose, from their interest in and identity with the Country would be stimulated to extraordinary efforts in the pursuit and chastisement of our savage foe.

Such a Regiment with the Company Officers elected by the soldiers, and the field officers appointed by the President would be more efficient than any other force that could be employed here, and I am well satisfied that under your skilful direction it would soon put a stop to the depredations of our savage enemy.

I trust you will excuse the liberty I have taken in addressing you on this subject for it has been from a strong desire to have a course adopted which the large mass of our citizens believe to be the only one that can give them an effectual relief from Indian hostilities.

I shall be pleased to have your views in regard to this matter, and should the raising of such force meet your approval, I doubt not but upon your recommendation aided by the efforts of our delegation in Congress would induce that body to give the measure a trial.

and House of Representatives.

I transmit herewith for your information, a communication from the Comptroller of Public Accounts, in relation to the bids that have been received for the five hundred thousand dollars of United States bonds, that were advertized for sale, under a notice by him on the 9th of Oct. last.

It will be seen from an examination of these bids, that under the most favorable one, the net amount that would probably be received on the bonds would be about ninety eight and three quarter cents of the dollar.

The Comptroller has thought it best to refer this matter to you, to decide what action he shall take in regard to the bids.

My own impression is, that authority might to be given to the Comptroller, to dispose of such amount of these bonds, for specie, as will be sufficient to meet all demands against the Treasury, on the best terms that can be done.

Valedictory Address

Fellow-Citizens:

My duties as Chief Magistrate of Texas have ceased, and I surrender the office to one whose conservative course during a long service in the Legislature, and as Lieutenant Governor, has recommended him to the confidence of his fellow-citizens. His administration commences under auspicious circumstances, and I trust that its progress and termination will be honorable to himself and acceptable to the people of the State.

During the time that I have had the honor to fill the office of Governor many difficult and vexed questions of public policy have been disposed of, among them, the settlement of our Revolutionary debt was the most important. It had for years, engaged the attention and occupied a large portion of the time of the Legislature, and yet seemed to be no nearer a final settlement, than at the period of Annexation. Delay only complicated the question still further, and left it to the actions of those who not having participated in the scenes out of which it grew, could not feel the same obligation to see it justly managed, as the generation by which it was contracted.

I was familiar with the nature and origin of that debt, and with all the difficulties in the way of its settlement. While there were many and strong objections to the act of Congress, by which the United States proposed to pay it, I felt that it would be a less evil to accept it, than to leave the question open, and thereby embarrass our Legislation and retard the progress of all plans for Internal Improvements; these considerations induced me to recommend its acceptance though apparently in violation of the public sentiment of the State, as expressed by the partial vote of the people in regard to it. Now, that the subject has been disposed of, and the effect of its payment upon the reputation and credit of the State abroad and its prosperity at home, has been seen and appreciated by our citizens, I am happy to believe, that few can be found who would recall the act.

It was my fortune frequently to differ with ~~your~~ your predecessors, in regard to the merits of laws, which they had passed. On such occasions, I did not hesitate to exercise the veto power, and with few exceptions, my action was sustained by them, when they came to re-consider the questions. My course in this regard subjected me to censure from those who seemed to think that the veto should only be used to arrest the progress of measures that are repugnant to the Constitution. That instrument however, imposes no such limitation upon its exercise, and an Executive who would avoid the responsibility of making use of it to arrest what he deemed improper and unwise acts of Legislation, would be as faithless to his trust, as the representative would be, who might shrink from recording his vote against them.

I do not propose to review all the measures of the government, in which I have borne a part. But there are some, whose influence will be as lasting as the government itself. I refer to the creation of the School fund, the establishment and endowment of a Lunatic Asylum, and institutions for the education of the Blind and the Deaf and Dumb. It will ever be a source of gratification, that I aided in the adoption of these measures, and if nothing else had been done during my official term, these alone would be sufficient to mark it as an era in the history of the State.

Although my official connection with the State has ceased, my interest in its prosperity and progress will remain undiminished. Having been identified with the country since the days of its colonial dependence, and having passed with it through all its vicissitudes and trials, and contributed to the formation of its institutions and its laws, I cherish for it no ordinary attachment and shall never cease ~~cease~~ to feel the most ardent desire for its welfare.

To you, Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives is entrusted the duty of legislating for the State, at a period of great importance in its history. It is a responsible duty, but I have no misgivings that you will discharge it in a manner satisfactory to the people and to the world. I remain
